Hooper, 2005-01-01 This history considers the establishment subsequent evolution of the Army Space Support Team created to provide space products expertise to field units thereby enhancing their intelligence operational planning capabilities Focuses on the period from 1986 to 1998 when a handful of soldiers civilians experimenting with new technologies concepts sought to leverage the ultimate high ground on behalf of the land force Discusses the hard won lessons learned through repeated deployments exercises Seeks to explain how those early visionaries established a foundation for the progress that the Army has achieved over the past 5 years as illustrated by the importance of space in today's land combat operations Illus Reconceptualising Arms Control Neil Cooper, David Mutimer, 2014-01-02 The theory and practice of arms control seemed to have its heyday during the height of the Cold War with its focus on the East West conflict and nuclear arms In the past twenty years both arms technologies and various practices aimed at their control have continued to develop but scholarly thinking has not kept up This volume seeks to redress this scholarly neglect of the range of issues associated with the control of the means of violence by asking the question what does arms control mean in the 21st Century In asking this question the volume examines issues surrounding sovereignty geopolitics nuclear disarmament securitization of space technological developments human rights the clearance of landmines the regulation of small arms and the control of the black market for arms and nuclear secrets The book discusses terrorism with reference to the case of the suicide attacks in Beirut in 1983 and how the Obama administration is orientating its posture on nuclear arms This book was published as a special issue of Contemporary Security Policy Twilight War Mike Moore, 2008-03-03 Considering the historical background of space militarization and providing an overview of the United States efforts to militarily dominate space since the dawn of the space age this book argues that America must either ensure that space related weapons are verifiably banned for all nations through an international treaty or definitively choose a policy of unilateral space dominance that may lead to an arms race in space and possibly to another cold war The 1967 Outer Space Treaty designated space as the province of all mankind It expressly prohibited nuclear and non nuclear weapons of mass destruction in orbital space and exclusively limited the use of the Moon and other celestial bodies for peaceful purposes But changes in the post Cold War world as well as unforeseeable advances in satellite and weapons technologies have compelled every space faring nation save the U S and Israel to go on record as favoring a new treaty for the Prevention of an Arms Race in Outer Space In Twilight War The Folly of U S Space Dominance Mike Moore former editor of The Bulletin of the Atomic

Scientists argues that the U S merely provokes conflict when it presumes to be the exception to the rule Rejecting treaty negotiations while further militarizing space renders America unable to lead by example Moore concludes that instead of trying to stop an arms race in space by starting one the U S must radically rethink its strategy
