Capital and the Cosmos Peter Dickens, 2023-01-01. This book offers a new understanding of society's relations with the cosmos. Entrepreneurs such as Jeff Bezos and Elon Musk receive a great deal of publicity but offer unlikely and implausible visions of space tourism for the general public. Meanwhile, asteroids are seen as rare materials which will be extracted and used to produce untold riches for earthbound citizens. The reality is rather different. First, there is no evidence that owners of capital are attempting to extract rare materials in the cosmos. The costs would be out of this world. But capital, not governments, is determining how outer space should be used. Capital's investments in aerospace companies are actively determining forms of military interventions and the equipment used. And satellite television pumps out forms of culture aimed at a global audience. But these are being ignored and subverted by, for example, indigenous peoples. In short, this book sets out a new understanding of our relations with the cosmos The forces of capital are certainly powerful but at the same time they are being challenged subverted and even overturned

Spacewear Barbara Brownie, 2019-01-10 Today we are living in the New Space Age where mass commercial space travel is almost within our grasp This otherworldly possibility has opened up new cultural images of space both real and fictional and has caused fashion design and spacesuit engineering to intersect in new exciting ways Spacewear traverses this uncharted territory by exploring the changing imagination of space in fashion and fashion in space from the first Space Age to the 21st century Exploring how space travel has stylistically and technologically framed fashion design on earth and how we need to revisit established design practices for the weightless environment Spacewear connects the catwalk and the space station This book draws together speculative fantasies in sci fi films such as Star Trek and 2001 A Space Odyssey with the engineered spacesuits Biosuit and the NASA Z 2 and with catwalk interpretations by the likes of Alexander McQueen Hussein Chalayan Andr Courr ges and Iris van Herpen While the development of commercial space agencies has led to new concerns for style in garments for outer space that re think fundamental design principles such as drape high fashion has experimented with new possibilities for weightlessness that extend far beyond the 1960s vision of Space Age metallic fabrics and helmet style headwear Brownie takes the reader on a fascinating journey from fantasy to function and to form deepening our understanding of this new category of fashion that is prompting new approaches to garment design and construction both on earth and in outer space

Marketing the Moon David Meerman Scott, Richard Jurek, 2014-02-28 One of the most successful public relations campaigns in history featuring heroic astronauts press savvy rocket scientists enthusiastic reporters deep pocketed defense contractors and Tang In July 1969 ninety four percent of American televisions were tuned to coverage of Apollo 11 s mission to the moon How did space exploration once the purview of rocket scientists reach a larger audience than My Three Sons Why did a government program whose standard operating procedure had been secrecy turn its greatest achievement into a communal experience In Marketing the Moon David Meerman Scott and Richard Jurek tell the story of one of the most successful marketing and public relations campaigns in history the selling of the Apollo program Primed by science fiction magazine articles and appearances by Wernher von Braun on the Tomorrowland segments of the Disneyland prime time television show Americans were a receptive audience for NASA s pioneering brand journalism Scott and Jurek describe sophisticated efforts by NASA and its many contractors to market the facts about space travel through press releases bylined articles lavishly detailed background materials and fully produced radio and television features rather than push an agenda American astronauts who signed exclusive agreements with Life magazine became the heroic and patriotic faces of the program And there was some judicious product placement Hasselblad was the first camera on the moon Sony cassette recorders and supplies of Tang were on board the capsule and astronauts were equipped with the Exer Genie personal exerciser Everyone wanted a place on the bandwagon Generously illustrated with vintage photographs artwork and advertisements many never published before

The Films of Clint Eastwood Matt Wanat, Leonard Engel, 2018-05-15 The indefatigable Clint Eastwood the great old man of American film is still controversial after all these years Many of the critical essays in this collection focus on Eastwood's 2014 American Sniper a particularly controversial film and a devastating personal account of the horrors of war Additional essays within the collection address his films that deserve more recognition than they have received to date The chapters vary by topic and identify themes ranging from aging race and gender to uses of Western conventions and myth to the subtleties of quieter themes and stylistic choices in Eastwood's body of cinematic work As a collection these essays show that none of these themes account for Eastwood's entire vision which is multifaceted and often contradictory dramatizing complex issues in powerful character driven narratives

The Rhetoric of Project Apollo Kathy K. Previs, 2024-12-15 On July 20 1969 Americans not only landed on the Moon but the televised spectacle forever changed the ways in which news and commentary about historical events would be presented to audiences In The Rhetoric of Project Apollo Kathy Previs provides a comprehensive analysis of the rhetorical strategies that CBS News employed in covering the Apollo missions from 1968 1972 and documents the role that NASA's public relations office had in televising the exciting moonshots She illustrates how CBS's and NASA's symbolic representations followed a ritual view of communication enabling viewers to make sense of complex technological feats and scientific discoveries while garnering public support for the costly missions Based on four rhetorical categories nationalism romanticism pragmatism and technology Previs also provides an in depth analysis of which narratives have withstood the test of time in how Apollo is remembered on CBS News and across a variety of televised platforms including CNN the History Channel and PBS from 1973 2022 marking the 50th anniversary of Apollo's last mission From Cold War metaphors to now recognizing the role women had in Apollo's successes its story continues to resonate with and inspire audiences around the world
