Space In Between Us:

The Space between Us Ryan D. Enos, 2017-10-02 The Space between Us brings the connection between geography psychology and politics to life By going into the neighborhoods of real cities Enos shows how our perceptions of racial ethnic and religious groups are intuitively shaped by where these groups live and interact daily Through the lens of numerous examples across the globe and drawing on a compelling combination of research techniques including field and laboratory experiments big data analysis and small scale interactions this timely book provides a new understanding of how geography shapes politics and how members of groups think about each other Enos analysis is punctuated with personal accounts from the field His rigorous research unfolds in accessible writing that will appeal to specialists and non specialists alike illuminating the profound effects of social geography on how we relate to think about and politically interact across groups in the fabric of our daily lives

Sacred Space for the Missional Church William R. McAlpine, 2011-02-14 Sacred Space for the Missional Church examines the strong link between the theology and mission of the Church and the spaces in which and from which that theology and mission are lived out The author demonstrates that the built environment is not incidental or even subservient to mission Rather it is a key player in the fulfillment and the communication of that mission The book begins with a working definition of the missional church underscoring the connection between God's mission missio Dei and the Church's mission The reader is presented with historical and theological frameworks for sacred space and reminded of the pivotal role of the built environment in the fulfillment of the mission of the Church The design and construction of sacred spaces are shown to be fundamentally a theological exercise and not solely a matter of function pragmatics and fiscal astuteness The author questions the uncritical application of blanket statements such form must follow function and challenges the conviction that it does not matter where worship occurs only that it occurs The book addresses genuine concerns such as legitimizing the cost of church buildings and concludes with practical suggestions and essential questions that must be considered in posturing the built environment within the missional praxis of the Church
