Space Time And Medicine:

Space, Time, and Medicine Larry Dossey, 1982-04-12 What we call modern physics says something entirely new about the world and how it behaves For many years these theories have been accepted as the most accurate descriptions we have ever had about our world Nevertheless medicine has been reluctant to incorporate these ideas into itself continuing to view the body as a clockwork mechanism in which illness is caused by a breakdown of parts Drawing on his long experience in the practice of internal medicine and his knowledge of modern science Dr Dossey shows how medicine can and must be updated Discussing the new theories of Bell Godel and others he opens up startling questions for medicine Could the brain be a hologram in which every part contains the whole Why have ordinary people been able to raise and lower blood pressure at will control heart rate body temperature even one minute blood vessel in a way no one can explain What is the role of consciousness in health and illness Perhaps the most startling of Dr Dossey's discussions concerns nonlinear time There is evidence that our obsession with time and our belief that time flows a belief refuted by the new physics may profoundly affect our health Time sickness is becoming an accepted medical concept a possible cause of the greatest killer of all heart disease Dr Dossey presents remarkable clinical data showing that by changing their view of time people have been able to positively affect the course of disease Just as the clockwork picture of the universe was abandoned in the onslaught of new data our mechanistic view of health and illness will give way to new models which too will be more consistent with the true face of the universe Space, Time, & Medicine Larry Dossey, 1982 Space, Time and Medicine Larry Dossey, 1982-04-01

Space, time & medicine Fritjof Capra, 1982 GIS And Health Anthony Gattrell, M Loytonen, 2003-09-02 The potential users of GIS for health related analysis and applications are legion In this edited collection there are extensive examinations of appropriate methodologies for spatial analysis and spatial statistics in analyzing health data Chapters explore the links with GIS and consider some of the assumptions and problems associated with such analyses A range of chapters explore the associations between for example air pollution and ill health and between pesticide exposure and disease risk The book also covers statistical and cartographic methods for analyzing data for small areas and methods for health assessment needs

Whitehead's Radically Different Postmodern Philosophy David Ray Griffin, 2012-02-01 Postmodern philosophy is often dismissed as unintelligible self contradictory and as a passing fad with no contribution to make to the problems faced by philosophers in our time While this characterization may be true of the type of philosophy labeled postmodern in the 1980s and 1990s David Ray Griffin argues that Alfred North Whitehead had formulated a radically different type of postmodern philosophy to which these criticisms do not apply Griffin shows the power of Whitehead's philosophy in dealing with a range of contemporary issues the mind body relation ecological ethics truth as correspondence the relation of time in physics to the irreversible time of our lives and the reality of moral norms He also defends a distinctive dimension of Whitehead's postmodernism his theism against various criticisms including the charge that it is incompatible with relativity
