Rusch, 2011-12-01 The story of this military powerhouse of ancient Greece and its nearly two centuries of battlefield triumphs During the eighth century BC Sparta became one of the leading cities of ancient Greece conquering the southern Peloponnese and from the mid sixth century BC until the mid fourth Sparta became a military power of recognized importance For almost two centuries the massed Spartan army remained unbeaten in the field Spartan officers also commanded with great success armies of mercenaries or coalition allies as well as fleets of war galleys Although it is the stand of the Three Hundred at Thermopylae that has earned Sparta undying fame it was her victories over both Persian invaders and the armies and navies of Greek rivals that upheld her position of leadership in Greece Even a steady decline in Spartiate numbers aggravated by a terrible earthquake in 464 BC failed to end Spartan dominance Only when the Thebans learned how to defeat the massed Spartan army in pitched battle was Sparta toppled from her position of primacy In this volume Scott Rusch examines what is known of the history of Sparta from the settlement of the city to her defeat at Theban hands focusing upon military campaigns and the strategic circumstances that drove them Rusch offers fresh perspectives on important questions of Spartan history and illuminates some of antiquity's most notable campaigns Hunting and the Ivory Tower Douglas Higbee, David Bruzina, 2018-05-11 Seventeen hunter scholars explore the hunting experience and question common negative stereotypes Despite the academy having a reputation for supporting broad and open inquiry in scholarship some academics have not extended this open minded support to colleagues personal pursuits A variety of scholars enjoy hunting which has been stereotyped by some as an activity of the unsophisticated In Hunting and the Ivory Tower Douglas Higbee and David Bruzina present essays by seventeen hunter scholars who explore the hunting experience and question negative assumptions about hunting made by intellectuals and academics who do not hunt Higbee and Bruzina suspect most academics understanding of hunting is based on brief television news reports of hunter politicians and commercials for reality TV shows such as Duck Dynasty The editors contend that few scholars appreciate the complexities of hunting or give much thought to its ethical ecological and cultural ramifications Through this anthology they hope to start a conversation about both hunting and academia and how they relate The contributors to this anthology are academics from a variety of disciplines each with firsthand hunting experience Their essays vary in style and tone from the scholarly to the personal and represent the different ways in which scholars engage with their avocation The essays are grouped into three sections the first focuses on the often fraught relation between hunters and academic culture the second section offers personal accounts of hunting by academics and the third portrays hunting from an explicitly academic point of view whether in terms of value theory metaphysics or history Combined these essays render hunting as a culturally rich deeply personal and intellectually satisfying experience worthy of further discussion A foreword is provided by Robert DeMott the Edwin and Ruth Kennedy Distinguished Professor at Ohio University in Athens Ohio He is a teacher writer critic and internationally respected expert on novelist John Steinbeck
