Rennie, 1996 Spatial Patterning Among Animal Bones in Settlement Archaeology Bob Wilson, 1996 A review and analysis of the state of animal bone research It includes a substantial inter site review comparing the sites on which Wilson has worked in and around Oxfordshire several Iron age settlements and a 15th century manor house There is also a section on more large scale sampling in the towns of Oxford and Abingdon In each case the concern is to differentiate between settlement areas and activities such as refuse butchering and ritual and the ways in which bone deposits change over time The book ends with discussion of models for analysing bone evidence Bronze Age, Iron Age, Roman and Saxon settlements along the route of the A43 Corby Link Road, Northamptonshire Stephen Morris, Simon Markus, Jim Brown, 2023-10-12 This volume reports the results of intermittent archaeological mitigation works for the A43 Corby Link Road Northamptonshire undertaken by MOLA Museum of London Archaeology between June 2012 to October 2013 Evidence was uncovered relating to Bronze Age Iron Age Roman and Saxon settlements Iron Age, Roman and Anglo-Saxon Settlement along the Empingham to Hannington Pipeline in Northamptonshire and Rutland Simon Carlyle, Jason Clarke, Andy Chapman, 2017-02-10 Reports on excavations by Northamptonshire Archaeology now MOLA in the south east Midlands region Nineteen sites were investigated dating primarily to the Iron Age Roman and Anglo Saxon periods Bones and Identity Nimrod Marom, Reuven Yeshuran, Lior Weissbrod, Guy Bar-Oz, 2016-07-31 Seventeen papers demonstrate how zooarchaeologists engage with questions of identity through culinary references livestock husbandry practices and land use Contributions combine hitherto unpublished zooarchaeological data from regions straddling a wide geographic expanse between Greece in the West and India in the East and spanning a time range from the latest part of the Palaeolithic to the Middle Ages The vitality of a hands on approach to data presentation and interpretation carried out primarily at the level of the individual site the arena of research providing the bread and butter of zooarchaeological work conducted in southwest Asia is demonstrated Among the themes explored are shifting identities of late hunter gatherers through interactions with settled agrarian societies the management of camp sites by early complex hunter gatherers processes of assimilation of Roman culinary practices among Egyptian elites and the propagation of medieval pilgrim identity through the use of seashell insignia A wealth of new data is discussed and a wide variety of applications of analytical approaches are applied to particular case studies within the framework of social and contextual zooarchaeology The volume constitutes the proceedings of the 11th meeting of the ICAZ Working Group Archaeozoology of Southwestern Asia and Adjacent Areas ASWA Ritual bones or common waste J. Thilderkvist, 2013-11-01 This book addresses the problems of identifying human actions behind finds of bones in settlement archaeology exemplified with the identification of ritual deposits In order to formulate a methodological framework for approaching the identification of ritual deposits different methods are tested on four Early

Medieval case study sites Dongjum and Leeuwarden two artificial dwelling mounds situated in the then undiked salt marches of the Northern Netherlands Midlaren an inland settlement in Drenthe also in the Northern Netherlands and finally Uppkra a central place in the South of Sweden The bone fragments from the four materials are studied in a five step process of definition description identification interpretation and explanation The deposits are discussed with the help of various archaeological ethnographic and historical sources The results of the analysis lead to a methodological framework for understanding individual deposits based on a holistic perspective where all information is regarded as potentially valuable various methods are taken into consideration and simplification is avoided

The Interpretation of Archaeological Spatial Patterning Ellen M. Kroll, T. Douglas Price, 2013-06-29 Investigations of archaeological intrasite spatial patterns have generally taken one of two directions studies that introduced and explored methods for the analysis of archaeological spatial patterns or those that described and analyzed the formation of spatial patterns in actualistic ethnographic experimental or natural contexts The archaeological studies were largely quantitative in nature concerned with the recognition and definition of patterns the actualistic efforts were often oriented more toward interpretation dealing with how patterns formed and what they meant Our research group on archaeological spatial analysis at the University of Wisconsin Madison has been working for several years on both quantitative and interpretive problems Both lines of investigation are closely related and are important complements In order to demonstrate the convergence of archaeological and actualistic studies for the understanding of intrasite spatial patterns we organized a symposium at the 52nd Annual Meeting of the Society of American Archaeology in Toronto Canada in May 1987 The symposium titled The Interpretation of Stone Age Archaeological Spatial Patterns was organized into two sessions The six papers presented in the morning session five of which comprise Part I of this volume focused on ethnoarchaeological and experimental research Michael Schiffer was the discussant for this half of the symposium Our intention for the ethnoarchaeological contributions to the symposium and volume was the delineation of some of the significant accomplishments achieved thus far by actualistic studies regarding the formation of spatial patterns
