Soviet Freedom:

Soviet Freedom Anthony Barnett, Nella Bielski, 1988 Lithuanian Freedom Fighters' Tactics: Resisting The Soviet Occupation 1944-1953 Darius Bernotas, 2014-08-15 Although the end of World War II enabled devastated countries to rebuild and enjoy a time of peace another bloody war had just started in Lithuania Lithuanian Freedom Fighters LFF fought for almost a decade 1944 1953 against the Soviets who occupied their country after World War II This research focuses on LFF tactics that enabled them to oppose greatly superior Soviet forces for an extended period of time and on the factors that resulted in eventual defeat of LFF armed resistance The research utilized the elements of combat power as the measurement criteria to describe the LFF tactics The author concludes that the LFF tactics were to some extent effective LFF managed to adapt tactics in accordance with a changing situation in terms of shifting Soviet tactics and wrong initial assumptions regarding international support The other factor that contributed to the LFF success fighting the superior enemy for almost a decade was related to LFF ability to mitigate LFF combat power elements weaknesses while exploiting their strengths Nevertheless the absence of both political and material international support along with Soviet success in cutting off population support to the LFF were two main reasons that resulted in the gradual defeat of the armed resistance As asymmetric warfare is likely to continue playing an important role in future conflicts members of the military profession should find it useful to familiarize themselves with this research A thorough analysis of LFF tactics employing a combination of regular and irregular warfare to counter superior forces should assist military professionals in further deepening their understanding of asymmetric warfare phenomena thus contributing to their awareness of contemporary operational environment Freedom, Repression, and Private Property in Russia Vladimir Shlapentokh, Anna Arutunyan, 2013-09-02 This study demonstrates how the emergence of private property and a market economy after the Soviet Union's collapse enabled a degree of freedom while simultaneously supporting authoritarianism Based on case studies Vladimir Shlapentokh and Anna Arutunyan analyze how private property and free markets spawn feudal elements in society These elements are so strong in post Communist Russia that they prevent the formation of a true democratic society while making it impossible to return to totalitarianism The authors describe the resulting Russian society as having three types of social organization authoritarian feudal and liberal The authors examine the adaptation of Soviet era institutions like security forces the police and the army to free market conditions and how they generated corruption the belief that the KGB was relatively free from corruption how large property holdings merge with power and necessitate repression and how property relations affect government management and suppression Sojourning for Freedom Erik S. McDuffie, 2011-06-27 Illuminates a pathbreaking black radical feminist politics forged by black women leftists active in the U S Communist Party between its founding in 1919 and its demise in the 1950s Voices from the Soviet Edge Jeff Sahadeo, 2019-06-15 Jeff Sahadeo reveals the complex and fascinating stories of migrant populations in Leningrad and Moscow Voices from the Soviet Edge focuses on the hundreds of thousands of Uzbeks Tajiks Georgians Azerbaijanis and others who arrived toward the end of the Soviet era seeking opportunity at the privileged heart of the USSR Through the extensive oral histories Sahadeo has collected he shows how the energy of these migrants denigrated as Blacks by some Russians transformed their families lives and created inter republican networks altering society and community in both the center and the periphery of life in the two capitals Voices from the Soviet Edge connects Leningrad and Moscow to transnational trends of core periphery movement and marks them as global cities In examining Soviet concepts such as friendship of peoples alongside ethnic and national differences Sahadeo shows how those ideas became racialized but could also be deployed to advance migrant aspirations He exposes the Brezhnev era as a time of dynamism and opportunity and Leningrad and Moscow not as isolated outposts of privilege but at the heart of any number of systems that linked the disparate regions of the USSR into a whole In the 1980s as the Soviet Union crumbled migration increased These later migrants were the forbears of contemporary Muslims from former Soviet spaces who now confront significant discrimination in European Russia As Sahadeo demonstrates the two cities benefited from 1980s migration but also became communities where racism and exclusion coexisted with citizenship and Soviet identity

Globalisation, Freedom and the Media after Communism Birgit Beumers,Stephen Hutchings,Natalia Rulyova,2013-10-18

This book examines the fate of post Soviet press freedom and media culture in the context of the growing impact of globalisation To understand the complicated situation that has arisen with respect to these issues in post Soviet space is impossible without collaboration between political scientists sociologists cultural analysts media studies researchers and media practitioners The book is one of the first attempts to bridge the gaps between political and cultural studies approaches between textual analysis and audience research as well as between practitioner led and scholarly approaches to the post Soviet media The cumulative impact of the essays contained in this section is to reinforce the intuition which inspired it that the post Soviet media remain a highly heterogeneous complex and dynamic field for investigation With contributions from scholars and journalists across Europe including the former Soviet Union the collection addresses such issues as censorship and elections the legacy of the Soviet past terrorism and the media the post Soviet business press advertising and nation building official press discourse and entrepreneurship and global formats on Russian television This book was originally published as a special issue of Europe Asia Studies
