Organizational Learning at NASA Julianne G. Mahler,2009-03-27 Just after 9 00 a m on February 1 2003 the space shuttle Columbia broke apart and was lost over Texas This tragic event led as the Challenger accident had 17 years earlier to an intensive government investigation of the technological and organizational causes of the accident The investigation found chilling similarities between the two accidents leading the Columbia Accident Investigation Board to conclude that NASA failed to learn from its earlier tragedy Despite the frequency with which organizations are encouraged to adopt learning practices organizational learning especially in public organizations is not well understood and deserves to be studied in more detail This book fills that gap with a thorough examination of NASA s loss of the two shuttles After offering an account of the processes that constitute organizational learning Julianne G Mahler focuses on what NASA did to address problems revealed by Challenger and its uneven efforts to institutionalize its own findings She also suggests factors overlooked by both accident commissions and proposes broadly applicable hypotheses about learning in public organizations FY 1997 NASA Posture Hearing United States.
