Spatial Inequalities and Regional Development Regional Science Symposium$ (University of Groningen : 1977), 1977 Regional and Local Development in Times of Polarisation Thilo Lang, Franziska Görmann, 2019-01-23 Despite the emphasis of the European Regional Policy on territorial cohesion regional disparities have been increasing within Europe in the past years The metropolitan areas in almost all countries are considerably growing while regions outside of agglomerations are stagnating or even declining Against this background this book aims to provide an understanding of the underlying processes of polarisation and related regional and local policies This open access volume contributes to the debates about polarisation and regional development by focussing on questions of spatial justice power distribution and policy transfer Theoretical and empirically grounded contributions show that European policies are indeed reproducing socio spatial inequalities instead of challenging them The book shows further the existing potentials and limits of individuals economic political and civil society actors to respond to polarisation on the regional and local level In this book conceptual thoughts on polarisation regional policy and regional development are combined with empirical research and resulting implications for policymaking As such it is a valuable source for early career students and researchers as well as professionals in the field of regional and economic development policy consultants and policy makers Spatial

Inequalities and Regional Development/ Hendrik Folmer and Jan Oosterhaven, Eds Jan Oosterhaven,Hendrik Folmer,1979 Spatial Inequality and Development S. M. Ravi Kanbur,Anthony J. Venables,2005 This is an introduction to spatial and regional inequality Drawing on data from 25 countries from around the world it examines the questions What exactly is spatial inequality Why does it matter And what should be the policy response to it Provided by publisher Spatial Inequality of Growth in Morocco Regions Youness Sahibi,2016 The observation of spatial inequalities in the world today reveals that these are not just visible between countries Indeed they are also more pronounced between regions of the same country according to our level of development In Morocco although the significant progress to be made the inter regional inequalities in economic still persist Indicators show sharp inequalities in the development of different regions which differentiates the living environment of residents and creates spatial migration These inequalities lead us to wonder about the ways to reduce them Thus the regional studies help policy makers to formulate any regional development plan This study will first review the literature about regional inequalities and then spend the second part to growth regional analysis through an analysis of spatial interdependencies We will analyze the issue of reducing disparities through a convergence model

Regional and Local Development in Times of Polarisation Franziska Görmar,Thilo Lang,2020-10-08 Despite the emphasis of the European Regional Policy on territorial cohesion regional disparities have been increasing within Europe in the past years The metropolitan areas in almost all countries are considerably growing while regions outside of agglomerations are stagnating or even declining Against this background this book aims to provide an understanding of the underlying processes of polarisation and related regional and local policies This open access volume contributes to the debates about polarisation and regional development by focussing on questions of spatial justice power distribution and policy transfer Theoretical and empirically grounded contributions show that European policies are indeed reproducing socio spatial inequalities instead of challenging them The book shows further the existing potentials and limits of individuals economic political and civil society actors to respond to polarisation on the regional and local level In this book conceptual thoughts on polarisation regional policy and regional development are combined with empirical research and resulting implications for policymaking As such it is a valuable source for early career students and researchers as well as professionals in the field of regional and economic development policy consultants and policy makers This work was published by Saint Philip Street Press pursuant to a Creative Commons license permitting commercial use All rights not granted by the work s license are retained by the author or authors

Regional Inequality in Transitional China Felix Haifeng Liao,Yehua Dennis Wei,Li Huang,2020-09-17 This book investigates uneven regional development in China with particular focus on the cases of Guangdong and Zhejiang provinces which have been at the forefront of debate since Chinese economic reform Rapid economic growth since the opening up of China has been accompanied by significant disparities in the regional distribution of income this book represents one of the most recent studies to present a picture of this inequality Built upon a multi scale and multi mechanism framework it provides systematic examination of both the patterns and mechanisms of regional development and inequality in provincial China emphasizing the effects of economic transition Approaching from a geographical perspective its authors consider the interplay between the local the state and the global forces in shaping the landscape of regional inequality in China Extensive empirical findings will prove useful to those researching other developing countries within the frontier of globalization and economic transition Regional Inequality in Transitional China will appeal to scholars and students of geography economics and Chinese studies more broadly

Investigating Spatial Inequalities Peter Gladoić Håkansson, Helena Bohman, 2019-11-29 Offering in depth perspectives on factors such as local labour markets housing and mobility this book investigates centralization tendencies in Scandinavia and South East Europe that help shape regional development and act as a catalyst to creating regional inequalities

Economic Development and Inequality in China Hong Yu, 2017-09-29 The conventional belief that all regions have equally benefited from China's remarkable development over the last three decades is subjected to criticism in this book as Hong Yu systematically analyses the issue of regional inequality during the post 1978 period using the case of Guangdong Guangdong is one of the key industrial centres and economic powerhouses in China and as a pioneer province instigating economic reform as China opened up to the world it offers an ideal focus upon which to question and enrich the Western theories of economic geography and regional disparity Based on field research analysis of geographic characteristics and regression models this book illustrates how Guangdong's impressive development record has been marred by its rising regional disparity investigates the main causes of this disparity and draws conclusions regarding the lessons China can learn from it Economic Development and Inequality in China will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese economics Chinese regional studies economic geography and China Studies Hong Yu is a Visiting Research Fellow at the National University of Singapore His research interests lie in the field of regional economy He is the author of a chapter on China's two delta regions in the book China and The Global Economic Crisis

The Geography of the Third World Michael Pacione, 2012-08-06 First published in 1988 this reissue presents a comprehensive overview of contemporary developments and research into the geography of the Third World at a time when economies and societies there were changing at a much more rapid rate than their counterparts in the developing world It covers the topic both systematically and by region showing how the unique background of each region affects developments there

Contemporary South Africa and the Political Economy of Regional Development Methembe Mdhlalose, Isaac Khambule, Nene Ernest Khalema, 2025-02-21 South Africa's struggle in balancing its domestic needs while playing a dynamic developmental role in the African region and global context exposes a complex web of relations shaped by its geostrategic location on the continent and the world and the staggering legacies of colonialism and apartheid As such understanding the complexities of the global economy and of South Africa's place in it is of great importance This book builds upon an existing body of literature which has demonstrated that while the post apartheid South African state has recast its nation building goals with advances having been made notably in the area of a stellar post apartheid constitution policy directives and democratic political integration economic integration and policy implementation presents a projection of captured interests where big business concerns are entrenched in the post apartheid state's apparent neo liberal turn The main focus of the book is to contextualise issues relating to three main trends in global discourses on development which are significant for South Africa and indeed for the study of the political economy of regional development in the country from the prism of South Africa as a global capitalist state These trends include the impact of globalisation regionalisation and the marginalisation of South Africa and indeed the African continent in the global economy thus unpacking the possible role that South Africa might play in regional development This volume will be a valuable resource to academics researchers and students in the fields of regional studies economics and political theory as well as policymakers planners and local economic development practitioners Regional Development in China Yehua Dennis Wei,2013-04-15 This study systematically examines uneven regional development in China focusing on three central agents the foreign investor the state and the region Wei s findings have important implications for theories of and policy towards Chinese regional development This book is a vital resource for those with an interest in transition economies

Handbook of Local and Regional Development Andy Pike,Andres Rodriguez-Pose,John Tomaney,2010-11-17 The Handbook of Local and Regional Development provides a comprehensive statement and reference point for local and regional development The scope of this Handbook s coverage and contributions engages with and reflects upon the politics and policy of how we think about and practise local and regional development encouraging dialogue across the disciplinary barriers between notions of local and regional development in the Global North and development studies in the Global South This Handbook is organized into seven inter related sections with an introductory chapter setting out the rationale aims and structure of the Handbook Section one situates local and regional development in its global context Section two establishes the key issues in understanding the principles and values that help us define what is meant by local and regional development Section three critically reviews the current diversity and variety of conceptual and theoretical approaches to local and regional development Section four address questions of government and governance Section five connects critically with the array of contemporary approaches to local and regional development policy Section six is an explicitly global review of perspectives on local and regional development from Africa Asia Pacific Europe Latin America and North America Section seven provides reflection and discussion of the futures for local and regional development in an international and multidisciplinary context With over forty contributions from leading international scholars in the field this Handbook provides critical reviews and appraisals of current state of the art conceptual and theoretical approaches and future developments in local and regional development

State of the World's Cities 2008/9 Un-Habitat,2012-05-04 Cities are perhaps one of humanity s most complex creations never finished never definitive They are like a journey that never ends Their evolution is determined by their ascent into greatness or their descent into decline They are the past the present and the future Cities contain both order and chaos In them reside beauty and ugliness virtue and vice They can bring out the best or the worst in humankind They are the physical manifestation of history and culture and incubators of innovation industry technology entrepreneurship and creativity Cities are the materialization of humanity s noblest ideas ambitions and aspirations but when not planned or governed properly can be the repository of society s ills Cities drive national economies by creating wealth enhancing social development and providing employment but they can also be the breeding grounds for poverty exclusion and environmental degradation The 21st Century is the Century of the City Half of humanity now lives in cities and within the next two decades 60 per cent of the world s people will reside in urban areas How can city planners and policymakers harmonize the various interests diversity and inherent contradictions within cities What ingredients are needed to create harmony between the physical social environmental and cultural aspects of a city and the human beings that inhabit it This report adopts the concept of Harmonious Cities as a theoretical framework in order to understand today s urban world and also as an operational tool to confront the most important challenges facing urban areas and their development processes It recognizes that tolerance diversity social justice and good governance all of which are inter related are as important to sustainable urban development as physical planning It addresses national concerns by searching for solutions at the city level For that purpose it focuses on three key areas spatial or regional harmony which examines the main drivers of urban growth in the developing world and explores the spatial nuances of economic and social policies social harmony which presents and analyzes new data on urban inequalities worldwide and describes the types of shelter deprivations experienced by slum dwellers in developing world regions and environmental harmony which examines the role of cities in the climate change debate and the impact of global warming on the most vulnerable cities The report also assesses the various intangible assets within cities that contribute to harmony such as cultural heritage sense of place and memory and the complex set of social and symbolic relationships that give cities meaning It argues that these intangible assets represent the soul of the city and are as important for harmonious urban development as tangible assets Harmony within cities argues the report is both a journey and a destination Published with UN HABITAT Renewable Resources for Regional Development Moonis Raza,1989 OECD Regional Development Studies Promoting Growth in All Regions OECD,2012-12-06 This book examines the main sources responsible for bringing growth in some OECD lagging regions
