Captain Matt Rodman

Skip Bombing In Rabaul Harbor:

Skip Bombing James T. Murphy, A. B. Feuer, 1993-05-24 Murphy was one of a very small number of volunteer pilots who with their flight crews started bombing at low altitudes in B 17 flying fortresses in the Southwest Pacific. The aircraft were flown at a 200 foot altitude and at 250 miles per hour at night. One thousand pound bombs equipped with four to five second fuses were dropped from the B 17s. On March 3 1943 the Japanese made a desperate move to resupply their forces on New Guinea. Twenty two cargo transport and war ships proceeded toward New Guinea using bad weather for cover. They were found in the Bismarck Sea. The Allied Air Forces using skip bombing sank all twenty two Japanese ships. Murphy was credited with sinking nine Japanese ships during his year of combat including one in the Bismarck Sea battle. Skip bombing became a tactic that helped the U S win the war in the South Pacific.

A War of Their Own: Bombers Over the Southwest Pacific [Illustrated Edition] Captain Matt Rodman, 2014-08-15 Illustrated with more than 45 diagrams, photos and tables. Captain Rodman, an instructor weapon systems officer at Dyess AFB Texas, examines the distinctive nature of Fifth Air Force's role in the air war over the Southwest Pacific Area during World War II. Especially notable is Gen George Kenney's innovative use of light attack aircraft as well as both medium and heavy bombardment aircraft characterized by theater specific tactics, ordnance and structural modifications. A War of Their Own also considers the free exchange of aircraft and missions in the Southwest Pacific, a hallmark of that theater in terms of the conflict between doctrine and tactics that underlay Fifth Air Force's relationship to the prewar Army Air Corps and the postwar Air Force. The author also notes the relevance of the Fifth's experiences to airpower.

Air Force Magazine, 1990 Fortress Rabaul Bruce Gamble, 2013-09-09 For most of World War II the mention of Japan's island stronghold sent shudders through thousands of Allied airmen. Some called it Fortress Rabaul, an apt name for the headquarters of the Imperial Japanese forces in the Southwest Pacific. Author Bruce Gamble chronicles Rabaul's crucial role in Japanese operations in the Southwest Pacific. Millions of square feet of housing and storage facilities supported a hundred thousand soldiers and naval personnel. Simpson Harbor and the airfields were the focus of hundreds of missions by American air forces. Winner of the Gold Medal Military Writers Society of America and Editor's Choice Award. Stone, Second World War Books. Fortress Rabaul details a critical and until now little understood chapter in the history of World War II.

Fortress Against The Sun Gene E. Salecker, E. Salecker, 2007-10-09 Most often remembered for its role in the air war against Germany, no book has ever before been devoted to the B 17's Pacific operations. The author combines technical and operational detail with eyewitness accounts by crews and commanders to present a fascinating account of a famous aircraft at war.

Reports of General MacArthur: sup. MacArthur in Japan : The occupation : Military phase Douglas MacArthur, 1966 Reports of General MacArthur are the official after action reports of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. Long out of print, this facsimile edition contains not only MacArthur's own perspective of his operations against the Japanese in the Southwest Pacific Area during World War

II but also the enemy's unique account of Imperial Army campaigns against MacArthur's forces. Collectively the reports have substantial and enduring value for military historians and students of military affairs providing an illuminating record of momentous events influenced in large measure by a distinguished Soldier and towering figure in American historiography <https://history.army.mil>

Air War in the Pacific: The Journal of General George Kenney, Commander of the Fifth U.S. Air Force George C. Kenney, 2018-09-18 Air War in the Pacific details the development and ultimate supremacy of the US Air Force during World War 2. Written from the perspective of General George C. Kenney, the man in charge, the book is a candid insider's account of how America turned the tables on the Japanese in the Pacific through a combination of strategy, tactics, and superior air technology.

Piercing the Fog John F. Kreis, 1996 John F. Kreis, general editor. Focuses on how airmen built intelligence organizations during World War 2 to collect and process information about the enemy and how they produced and disseminated this intelligence to decisionmakers and warfighters.

Operation PLUM Adrian R. Martin, Larry W. Stephenson, 2010-07-15 They went in as confident young warriors. They came out as battle-scarred veterans, POW camp survivors, or worse. The Army Air Corps 27th Bombardment Group arrived in the Philippines in November 1941 with 1,209 men; one year later, only 20 returned to the United States. The Japanese attacked the Philippines on the same morning as Pearl Harbor, and invaded soon after. Allied air routes back to the Philippines were soon cut, forcing pilots to fight their air war from bases in Java, Australia, and New Guinea. The men on Bataan were eventually taken prisoner and forced into the infamous Death March. The 27th and other such units were pivotal in delaying the Japanese timetable for conquest. If not for these units, some have suggested the Allied offensive in the Pacific might have started in Hawaii or even California instead of New Guinea and the surrounding islands. Based largely on primary materials, including a fifty-nine page report written by the surviving unit members in September 1942, Operation PLUM—the code name for the U.S. Army in the Philippines—gives an account of the 27th Bombardment Group and through it, the opening months of the Pacific theater. Military historians and readers interested in World War II will appreciate the rich perspective presented in Operation PLUM.

Reports of General MacArthur: suppl. MacArthur in Japan: the occupation, military phase. v.2. Japanese operations in the southwest Pacific area. 2 pts Supreme Commander for the Allied Powers, 1966
