Technological Change, Economic Development and Space Cristoforo S. Bertuglia, Manfred M. Fischer, Giorgio Preto, 2012-12-06 The pressures of global competition are affecting regions throughout the world and making it increasingly necessary to understand the complex underlying mechanisms and the potential for innovation offered by new technology Success in economic restructuring depends not only on the technology itself but the professional and entrepreneurial skills available and the support of provided by institutions and information networks The very local nature these phenomena which are critical to the innovative propensity of firms operating within the region introduces an inevitable spatial dimension The time therefore seems ripe to bring together contributions from scholars working in different but related disciplines with the aim of investigating the triangular relationship between technological change economic development and space The present volume offers a compact review of current theoretical developments and valuable insights deriving from recent empirical studies carried out both within Europe and elsewhere All those contributing to this volume are actively involved in research in the field Without their intellectual contribution and willingness to participate in this joint project the book would not have been possible We should like in addition to thank Angela Spence for her capable assistance in coordinating the various stages of preparation of the book as well as her translation work and careful linguistic editing Thanks also go to Paola Stasi for her meticulous copy editing and help in preparing the indices Their work has been invaluable in moulding together in a single volume contributions from so many different sources

Economic Systems of Innovation in the Arab Region Samia Mohamed Nour, 2016-04-30 The Arab region has become a hotbed of economic growth in recent decades While this growth has indisputably brought in wealth there are still countless questions about the characteristics constraints and implications of the region s systems of innovation Do these systems even exist in the Arab region How does the current economic structure affect regional innovation Is the presence of natural resources a help or a hindrance Economic Systems of Innovation in the Arab Region discusses the causes consequences and implications of poor systems of innovation in the Middle East and North Africa By examining the Strategic Delegation in Firms and in the Trade Union Guido S. Merzoni, 2012-12-06 Strategic delegation is a widespread phenomenon in economic and social systems In many situations the main interested party benefits from appointing a delegate to take action that the principal were he playing could not credibly take This book contributes to the literature studying such a phenomenon by extending the analysis of its implications for firms strategy in product markets by investigating how it may affect the trade union's activity by studying its dynamic influence on the evolution of strategic interactions that the delegating party is involved in The welfare effects of strategic delegation turn out to be uncertain and crucially depend on the features of the situation considered both in static and in dynamic frameworks

Regional Development Agencies in Europe Charlotte Damborg, Mike Danson, Henrik Halkier, 2017-09-29 In the past decade Europe has seen much change and at the same time the importance of the regional perspectives has significantly increased Regional Development Agencies in Europe brings together experiences of Regional and Development Agencies throughout Europe to provide material for the first major comparative study of bottom up regional policy across the continent Using an analytical framework developed by editors the contributors evaluate the long term potential and limitations of the RDAs in terms of promoting regional and economic development Institutional and other preconditions for successful regional policies are identified and combined with a broad analytical and geographical coverage that includes Eastern Europe a clearer picture of the relevance of the RDAs emerges

Territorial Patterns of Innovation Roberta Capello, Camilla Lenzi, 2013-07-18 This edited volume describes the spatial diffusion of knowledge and innovation using a large dataset at the regional level and presents scientific evidence on the role of knowledge and innovation on regional development The empirical results support a new design for innovation policies at the regional level which could help the European Union to achieve the targets set up in its 2020 Agenda Today financial capital general information consolidated technologies and codified knowledge are readily available virtually everywhere However the ability to organize these pervasive factors into continuously innovative production processes and products is by no means pervasive and generalized rather it exists selectively only in some places where tacit knowledge is continuously created exchanged and utilized and business ideas find their way to real markets Territorial Patterns of Innovation provides evidence that contrary to popular belief local knowledge intensity does not necessarily guarantee higher innovation performance Moreover the book shows that the growth benefits deriving from innovation do not necessarily match the strength of the formal local knowledge base and that regions innovating in the absence of a strong local knowledge base can be as successful as more knowledge intensive regions in turning innovation into a higher growth rate Together the contributions in this book offer a new understanding of the relationship between knowledge innovation and regional performance by delving beyond generally held beliefs It will be of value to regional scientists industrial economists and policymakers

Innovative Behaviour in Space and Time

Cristoforo S. Bertuglia, Silvana Lombardo, Peter Nijkamp, 2012-12-06 In the past decade there has been growing recognition that economic development is not mainly exogenously determined but to a large extent is a transformation process induced and governed by economic actors who respond to competitive institutional and political challenge This challenge and response model is increasingly accepted as a valid analytical framework in modern growth theory and also explains the popularity of endogenous growth approaches to technological innovation issues However a major and as yet largely under researched topic is the question of the diffusion and adoption of new technological changes in the context of space time dynamics This diffusion and adoption pattern has obviously clear spatial and temporal variations connected with behavioural responses which may vary over time and different locations This means that a closer analysis of spatio temporal opportunities and impediments is necessary in order to fully map the complex interactions of technology and economy in space and time This volume sets out to bring together a collection of original contributions commissioned by the editors to highlight the spatio temporal patterns and backgrounds of the diffusion and adoption of new technologies Some are in the nature of a survey others have a modelling background and again others are case studies The contributions originate from different countries and different disciplines This book is complementary to a previously published volume on technological innovation Technological Change Economic Development and Space edited by C S Bertuglia M M Fischer and G Preto and also published by Springer Verlag 1995

Money Demand in Europe

Christian Müller, 2012-12-06 The first of January 1999 marked the beginning of a macroeconomic experiment without precedent in modern history For the first time eleven European countries agreed to abolish their local currencies in favour of a single one the Euro Not surprisingly the necessary preparatory process has been accompanied by an intensive discussion about the best way to manage the new Euro currency properly To spur on that discourse was the principal motivation for this thesis The introductory chapter attempts to bridge economic and econometric views on money demand analysis It should help to motivate estimation procedures and to standardize interpretation techniques hopefully initiating further discussion in that direction It intends to make the following chapters more accessible In this thesis I approach the general subject in two principle ways In chapter 3 I consider technical issues dealing with time series with shifts in the mean Two years ago Helmut Liitkepohl and Pentti Saikkonen asked me to join in on a related project which became the cornerstone of this chapter I have very much appreciated the highly instructive collaboration with both these scholars
