Telepathy Literature:

The Uncanny Nicholas Royle, 2003 This is the first book length study of the uncanny an important concept for contemporary thinking and debate across a range of disciplines and discourses including literature film architecture cultural studies philosophy psychoanalysis and queer theory Much of this importance can be traced back to Freud's essay of 1919 The uncanny where he was perhaps the first to foreground the distinctive nature of the uncanny as a feeling of something not simply weird or mysterious but more specifically as something strangely familiar As a concept and a feeling however the uncanny has a complex history going back to at least the Enlightenment Nicholas Royle offers a detailed historical account of the emergence of the uncanny together with a series of close readings of different aspects of the topic Following a major introductory historical and critical overview there are chapters on the death drive d j vu silence solitude and darkness the fear of being buried alive doubles ghosts cannibalism telepathy and madness as well as more applied readings concerned for example with teaching politics film and religion This is a major critical study that will be welcomed by students and academics but will also be of interest to the general reader

The Invention of Telepathy, 1870-1901 Roger Luckhurst, 2002 The Invention of Telepathy explores one of the enduring concepts to emerge from the late nineteenth century Telepathy was coined by Frederic Myers in 1882 He defined it as the communication of any kind from one mind to another independently of the recognised channels of sense By 1901 it had become a disputed phenomenon amongst physical scientists yet was the royal road to the unconscious mind Telepathy was discussed by eminent men and women of the day including Sigmund Freud Thomas Huxley Henry and William James Mary Kingsley Andrew Lang Vernon Lee W T Stead and Oscar Wilde Did telepathy signal evolutionary advance or possible decline Could it be a means of binding the Empire closer together or was it used by natives to subvert imperial communications Were women more sensitive than men and if so why Roger Luckhurst investigates these questions in an exciting and accessible study that mixes history of science with cultural history and literary analysis

Afterlife and Narrative in Contemporary Fiction Alice Bennett, 2012-07-06 Afterlife and Narrative explores why life after death is such a potent cultural concept today and why it is such an attractive prospect for modern fiction The book mines a rich vein of imagined afterlives from the temporal experiments of Martin Amis's Time's Arrow to narration from heaven in Alice Sebold's The Lovely Bones

Acts of Narrative Carol Jacobs, Henry Sussman, 2003 This outstanding collection brings together essays that reflect on the nature of narrative literary criticism and history from a variety of theoretical and disciplinary perspectives ranging from deconstruction psychoanalysis and trauma theory to narratology technology economics and aesthetics Acts of Narrative includes responses from renowned scholars across a wide range of disciplines philosopher Jacques Derrida the literary critic J Hillis Miller W J T Mitchell well known for his reflections on the visual world and Cathy Caruth one of the founders of the field of trauma theory These essays are brilliant in their readings of other texts but are also striking in the manner in which each becomes itself a narrative performance Moreover

Ballengee,David Kelman,2021-01-28 While globalization is often associated with economic and social progress it has also brought new forms of terrorism permanent states of emergency demographic displacement climate change and other natural disasters Given these contemporary concerns one might also view the current time as an age of traumatism Yet what or how does the traumatic event mean in an age of global catastrophe This volume explores trauma theory in an age of globalization by means of the practice of comparative literature The essays and interviews in this volume ask how literary studies and the literary anticipate imagine or theorize the current global climate especially in an age when the links between violence amorphous traumatic events and economic concerns are felt increasingly in everyday experience Trauma and Literature in an Age of Globalization turns a literary perspective upon the most urgent issues of globalization problems of borders language inequality and institutionalized violence and considers from a variety of perspectives how such events impact our lived experience and its representation in language and literature Psychoanalysis,Psychiatry and Modernist Literature K.

Valentine,2003-01-22 Two developments during the modernist period the consolidation of psychiatry as a medical speciality and the emergence of psychoanalysis affected the representation of madness in literature They also influenced the ways psychic distress was experienced narrated and understood Literature and criticism in turn affected the formation of the modern psychological self Presenting detailed readings of both canonical and non canonical modernists like Virginia Woolf and Emily Holmes Coleman this book argues that modernist madness can be understood as experience clinical discourse and cultural representation The Rise of Telepaths Pasquale De Marco,2025-08-11 Delve into the extraordinary world of

Megan Faragher, 2021-08-19 Whereas modernist writers lauded the consecrated realm of subjective interiority mid century writers were engrossed by the materialization of the collective mind An obsession with group thinking was fuelled by the establishment of academic sociology and the ubiquitous infiltration of public opinion research into a bevy of cultural and governmental institutions As authors witnessed the materialization of the once opaque realm of public consciousness for the first time their writings imagined the potentialities of such technologies for the body politic Polling opened new horizons for mass politics Public Opinion Polling in Mid Century British Literature traces this most crucial period of group psychology's evolution the mid century when psychography a term originating in Victorian spiritualism transformed into a scientific praxis The imbrication of British writers within a growing institutionalized public opinion infrastructure bolstered an aesthetic turn towards collectivity and an interest in the political ramifications of meta psychological discourse Examining works by H G Wells Evelyn Waugh Val Gielgud Olaf Stapledon Virginia Woolf Naomi Mitchison Celia Fremlin Cecil Day Lewis and Elizabeth Bowen this book utilizes extensive archival research to trace the embeddedness of writers within public opinion institutions providing a fresh explanation for the new material turn so often associated with interwar writing
