broadcast on evolution in 1925 through to the 150th anniversary of Charles Darwin's Origin of the Species in 2009. Going beyond science documentaries, the chapters deal with a broad range of broadcasting content to explore evolutionary themes in radio dramas, educational content, and science fiction shows like Doctor Who. The book makes the case that the dominant use in science broadcasting of the evolutionary epic, a narrative based on a progressive vision of scientific endeavour, is part of the wider development of a standardised way of speaking about science in society during the 20th century. In covering the diverse range of approaches to depicting evolution used in British productions, the book demonstrates how their success had a global influence on the genres and formats of science broadcasting used today.

Television Drama in Israel Itay Harlap, 2017-10-05. Israeli television, currently celebrating fifty years of broadcasting, has become one of the most important content sources on the international TV drama market when serials such as Homeland, Hostages, Fauda, Zagury Empire, and In Treatment were bought by international networks. HBO included. Offering both a textual reading and discourse analysis of contemporary Israeli television dramas, Itay Harlap adopts a case study approach in order to address production, reception, and technological developments in its accounts. His premise is that the meeting point between social trends within Israeli society, primarily the rise of opposition groups to the hegemony of the Zionist Jewish masculine Ashkenazi ideologies, and major changes in the medium in Israel, which are comparable to international changes that have been titled post-TV, led to the creation of television dramas characterized by controversial themes and complex narratives which present identities in ways never seen before on television or in other Israeli mediums.
