The New Public Health Alan Petersen, Deborah Lupton, 1996-12-30 Petersen and Lupton focus critically on the new public health assessing its implications for the concepts of self embodiment and citizenship They argue that the new public health is used as a source of moral regulation and for distinguishing between self and other They also explore the implications of modernist belief in the power of science and the ability of experts to solve problems through rational administrative means that underpin the strategies and rhetoric of the new public health

The Social Worlds of the Unborn D. Lupton, 2013-06-19 Human embryos and fetuses are highly public and contested figures Their visual images appear across a wide range of forums They have become commercial commodities as part of the IVF industry and are the focus of intense debates regarding concepts of personhood This book discusses these issues drawing on social and cultural theory and research The Construction of Truth in Contemporary Media Narratives about Risk John Gaffey, 2021-04-22 The Construction of Truth in Contemporary Media Narratives about Risk provides a theoretical framework for how in a post truth era media audiences are able to understand and navigate everyday risk The book examines media risk narratives and explores forms of truth experiential knowledge and authority Using the concept of parrhesia to show how we invest trust in various types of knowledge in a changing media environment the book demonstrates how we choose between expert and non expert information when navigating a seemingly risky world It considers how news media formats have previously engaged audiences through risk narratives and examines how experiential knowledge has come to hold a valuable place for individuals navigating what we are often told is an increasingly risky and uncertain world The book also examines the increasingly precarious position of expert knowledge and examines how contemporary truth games play out between experts and non experts and considers how this extends into the world of online and social media This book will be of interest to those researching or teaching in the areas of criminology sociology media and cultural studies and of interest to readers in professional areas such as journalism and politics Routledge Handbook of Risk Studies Adam Burgess, Alberto Alemanno, Jens Zinn, 2016-03-31 It is over 40 years since we began to reflect upon risk in a more social than technological and economic fashion firstly making sense of the gap between expert and public assessment of risks such as to our health and environment With fixed certainties of the past eroded and the technological leaps of big data ours is truly an age of risk uncertainty and probability from Google s algorithms to the daily management of personal lifestyle risks Academic reflection and research has kept pace with these dizzying developments but remains an intellectually fragmented field shaped by professional imperatives and disciplinary boundaries from risk analysis to regulation and social research This is the first attempt to draw together and define risk studies through a definitive collection written by the leading scholars in the field It will be an indispensable resource for the many scholars students and professionals engaging with risk but lacking a resource to draw it all together Pandemic Communication and Resilience David M. Berube, 2021-08-07 This book examines how we design and deliver health communication messages relating to outbreaks epidemics and pandemics We have experienced major changes to how the public receives and searches for information about health crises over the last twelve decades with the ongoing shift from text broadcast based to digital messaging and social media Both health theories and practices are examined as it applies to testing tracking hoarding therapeutics and vaccines with case studies Challenges to communicate about health to diverse audiences including the science illiterate and across both Western and developing economies have been complicated by politics norms and mores personal heuristics and biases such as mortality salience news avoidance and quarantine fatigue Issues of economic development and land use trade and transportation and even climate change have increased the exposure of human populations to infectious diseases making risk and resilience more pressing The book has been designed to support health
