

The illustration is a stylized, folk-art style scene. On the left, a large red steam engine with a smiling face and large eyes is on a track. To its right, a young girl with blonde hair, wearing a red dress and black boots, stands with her hands on her hips, looking towards the engine. The background features a grey, textured landscape with a scalloped horizon line at the top. Several small black birds are scattered in the sky. The entire scene is set against a light grey background with a white rectangular area for the title.

The Thomas the Tank Engine Man Brian Sibley,2015-07-17 The stories of Thomas the Tank Engine and his friends have delighted generations of children and adults but what do we know of the man who created them A devoted pastor and family man the Reverend W Awdry first started telling the stories in order to amuse his own children with no idea that the characters would lead to a global phenomenon that now seventy years after their first appearance shows no signs of waning In this fascinating and warm biography prolific author Brian Sibley brings to life one of the most eminent children s writers of the twentieth century tracing his story from his Edwardian childhood through his time at University and into World War 2 A convinced pacifist Awdry was thrown out of one curacy and denied another because of his beliefs Never afraid to fight for what he thought was right he argued with his publishers and his illustrators demanding the best for his favourite creations the trains and their friends
