Library and Information Services Division, 1977 The Dimming of Starlight Gonzalo Munévar, 2023 Galileo and Kepler dreamed of the possibility of space exploration although its reality was later underappreciated and even challenged by social ideological and scientific critics as a diversion from our problems on Earth The Dimming of Starlight tells the fascinating stories of how space exploration places us in unusual situations that force us to come up with new ideas about nature This strong connection between scientific exploration and scientific change makes us aware of a new panorama of problems dangers and opportunities that leads to new solutions and technologies that would have been unimaginable under old perspectives Thus the exploration of Venus led to the discovery of the destruction of Earth s Ozone layer This discovery will save hundreds of millions of lives in the coming centuries As we explore space we learn to protect our planet from catastrophe and all the while we change drastically our ideas about the nature of the universe With its account of serendipity and splendor the book invites readers on an exciting journey in which step by step we are shown the crucial importance of space exploration for humanity Special Bibliography Series United States Air Force Academy. Library, 1976 Militarizing Outer Space Alexander C.T. Geppert, Daniel Brandau, Tilmann Siebeneichner, 2020-12-02

Militarizing Outer Space explores the dystopian and destructive dimensions of the Space Age and challenges conventional narratives of a bipolar Cold War rivalry Concentrating on weapons warfare and vio lence this provocative volume examines real and imagined endeavors of arming the skies and conquering the heavens The third and final volume in the groundbreaking European Astroculture trilogy Militarizing Outer Space zooms in on the interplay between security technopolitics and knowledge from the 1920s through the 1980s Often hailed as the site of heavenly utopias and otherworldly salvation outer space transformed from a promised sanctuary to a present threat where the battles of the future were to be waged Astroculture proved instrumental in fathoming forms and functions of warfare's futures past both on earth and in space The allure of dominating outer space the book shows was neither limited to the early twenty first century nor to current American space force rhetorics Literature 1974, Part 2 S. The Pursuit of Power William H. McNeill,2024-05-31 Remind's us that all humankind has a shared past and particularly with regard to its choice of weapons and warfare a shared stake in the future Stuart Rochester The Washington Post Book World In this magnificent synthesis of military technological and social history William H McNeill explores a whole millennium of human upheaval and traces the path by which we have arrived at the frightening dilemmas that now confront us McNeill moves with equal mastery from the crossbow banned by the Church in 1139 as too lethal for Christians to use against one another to the nuclear missile from the sociological consequences of drill in the seventeenth century to the emergence of the military industrial complex in the twentieth His central argument is that a commercial transformation of world society in the eleventh century caused military activity to respond increasingly to market forces as well as to the commands of rulers Only in our own time suggests McNeill are command economies replacing the market control of large scale human effort The Pursuit of Power does not solve the problems of the present but its discoveries hypotheses and sheer breadth of learning do offer a perspective on our current fears and as McNeill hopes a ground for wiser action Mr McNeill's comprehensiveness and sensitivity do for the reader what Henry James said that Turgenev's conversation did for him they suggest all sorts of valuable things This narrative of rationality applied to irrational purposes and of ingenuity cannibalizing itself is a work of clarity which delineates mysteries. The greatest of them to my mind is why human beings have never learned to cherish their own species Naomi Bliven The New Yorker Bibliography of Space Books and Articles from Non-aerospace Journals, 1957-1977 John J. Looney, 1980 The Arms Trade, Security and Conflict Paul Levine, Ron Smith, 2003-05-15 An area of huge concern to many people around the world the economics of the Arms Industry are a vital strand that needs to be understood This volume brings together contributors from all over the globe and focuses on this Is War Necessary for Economic Growth? Vernon W. Ruttan, 2006-01-05 Military and defense related important area procurement has been an important source of technology development across a broad spectrum of industries that account for an important share of United States industrial production In this book the author focuses on six general purpose technologies interchangeable parts and mass production military and commercial aircraft nuclear energy and electric power computers and semiconductors the INTERNET and the space industries In each of these industries technology development would have occurred more slowly and in some case much more slowly or not at all in the absence of military and defense related procurement The book addresses three questions that have significant implications for the future growth of the United States economy One is whether changes in the structure of the United States economy and of the defense industrial base preclude military and defense related procurement from playing the role in the development of advanced technology in the future comparable to the role it has played in the past A second question is whether public support for commercially oriented research and development will become an important source of new general purpose technologies A third and more disturbing question is whether a major war or the threat of major war will be necessary to mobilize the scientific technical and financial resources necessary to induce the development of new general purpose technologies When the history of United States technology development in the next half century is written it will focus on incremental rather than revolutionary changes in both military and commercial technology It will also be written within the context of slower productivity growth than of the relatively high rates that prevailed in the United States in the 1950s and 1960s or during the information technology bubble that began in the early 1990s These will impose severe constraints on the capacity of the United States to sustain a global class military posture and a position of leadership in the global economy
