Technology School Design Creating Spaces For Learning:

Technology & School Design Richard W. Hardt,1998 Schools facing deteriorating conditions high costs and outdated building designs are tapping into the special capabilities of information technology to address the learning needs of their students This book guides school leaders through school facility planning and technology systems planning describing the importance of long range planning and revealing the decision making faced by some school leaders who have led successful facility design efforts It recommends a seven step process that distinguishes what facilities a school district needs and how to gain community support The book also examines how to select an architectural firm and how to work with it to create educational specifications and building designs that accommodate technology use including the design of technology rich spaces such as media centers Concluding chapters define the infrastructure options school leaders can choose from and examine the step by step approach of a bond issue campaign a school district may need to fund new and remodeled facilities A list of recommended resources glossaries of architectural and technology infrastructure terms and National School Boards Association s publications and ordering forms are provided GR   Resources in Education ,1999-04   Designing the Learning Environment Susan La Marca,2010 A part of the Learning in a Changing World Series Designing the Learning Environment discusses how we develop effective learning spaces with an emphasis on understanding the needs of the major stakeholders of these spaces students Designing learning spaces and in particular designing school libraries as learning spaces is presented as an approach to understanding learning needs Specifically planning must be learning driven human centred and flexible Designing a learning environment begins with the end in sight it looks at the research and learning theories and uses these as the foundation for planning Various aspects of school library design are considered and discussed types of spaces from large group to individual workroom spaces reading spaces ICT requirements the impact of factors such as lighting and acoustics and the aesthetics of the finished design The Learning in a Changing World Series looks at how the process of learning is evolving at a rapid pace from the array of resources available in the digital age changing curriculum and different teaching strategies needed in order to use new media and technologies school leaders in the 21st century need to adapt and learn in order to succeed Other titles in the series includes Curriculum Integration Virtual Worlds Resourcing for Curriculum Innovation Connect Communicate Collaborate   The Translational Design of Schools Kenn Fisher,2016-10-13 This book summarises the deep level of research carried out since 2008 within the emerging evidence based translational design EBD approach to learning environments research This programme has been carried out by the Learning Environments Applied Research Network of the University of Melbourne its partners and colleagues The chapters are based on ten 3 4 year full time doctoral research dissertations with each chapter outlining the key findings from these studies The book links the chapters through the lens of evidence based design which originates from the health planning sector The rigour of that sector is based on the well accepted methodology of translational research used in clinical medicine for many years In adapting that practice translational medicine is akin to translational development When applied to other sectors and disciplines this becomes EBD health planning translational engineering or in the case of evidence based architecture translational design Thus educational planning becomes the translational design of learning environments These doctoral dissertations are examples of this approach The chapters are organised into a narrative that examines evidence based design through three key themes The first explores key issues in learning environments with three chapters covering spatial literacy in pedagogical practice engaging students in learning spaces and re placing classrooms through flexibility The second theme focusses on the socio cultural implications of learning environments exploring student identity formation aligning learning environment affordances for effective professional development in an innovative senior secondary school and occupying curriculum as space in the arts The third theme investigates the design implications for learning environments with four chapters covering corridors nooks and crannies making space for learning the role of the primary school library in learning plans and pedagogies school design as socio spatial assemblage and evaluating the spatial changes in a technology enabled primary years setting Improving America's Schools Together Louis M. Gomez,Manuelito Biag,David G. Imig,Randy Hitz,Steve Tozer,2023-05-05 Improving America s Schools Together How District University Partnerships and Continuous Improvement Can Transform Education is the first definitive text on continuous improvement in school district university partnerships covering improvement methods theory research and real cases across the United States with practical improvement tools that can be adapted to any setting Through an array of in depth stories this book demonstrates how improvement science as a shared method can help universities districts and schools foster leaders and educators and enhance students learning and opportunities Re-Shaping Learning: A Critical Reader Anne Boddington,Jos Boys,2012-01-01 Learning Spaces is an emerging field fuelled by a growing interest in the relationships between learning and spaces in which it takes place whether conceptual personal social physical and or virtual It is concerned with making learning spaces that can better meet the needs of 21st century learners academics and other related publics In post compulsory education this has opened up many interesting and important issues There remains a lack of any theoretical understanding as to how such spaces should be conceived or designed and hardly any critical discussion about effective frameworks for either the development of contemporary learning spaces or for assessing their impact on learning teaching and research At the same time there is much debate about what the purposes of post compulsory education should be as well as concerns about where and by whom it should be provided We therefore need to urgently improve our understanding of the interactions between learning and space It is essential that we not only share perspectives theories and methodologies but also critically reflect on our own different assumptions and work together to build better models for post compulsory education in the future To help in this process this book is designed as a critical reader that can enable researchers academics students and managers involved in Learning Spaces to share and engage with some key ideas issues and texts A central aim is to bring together some of the best research from across the many different disciplines concerned with learning spaces including education architecture anthropology human computer interaction estate planning and museum studies Reshaping Learning is thus intended for anyone interested in and wanting to think more about learning spaces whether as users clients or managers or who are want to better understand interactions between the social and the spatial Digital Fabrication in Interior Design Jonathon Anderson,Lois Weinthal,2021-11-04 Digital Fabrication in Interior Design Body Object Enclosure draws together emerging topics of making that span primary forms of craftsmanship to digital fabrication in order to theoretically and practically analyze the innovative and interdisciplinary relationship between digital fabrication technology and interior design The history of making in interior design is aligned with traditional crafts but a parallel discourse with digital fabrication has yet to be made evident This book repositions the praxis of experimental prototyping and integrated technology to show how the use of digital fabrication is inherent to the interior scales of body objects and enclosure These three scales act as a central theme to frame contributions that reinforce the interdisciplinary nature of interior design and reinterpret traditional crafts by integrating new methods of making into conventional workflows Featuring significant international practitioners and researchers the selected contributions represent the ever increasing interdisciplinary nature of design demonstrating a breadth of disciplines A foundational text for interiors students and practitioners Digital Fabrication in Interior Design expands the necessary dialogue about digital fabrication at the scale of interiors to inform design theory and practice Library Space Planning and Design Alexander H. Cohen,2025-03-19 Library Space Planning and Design discusses library planning methods to improve academic libraries learning commons undergraduate and graduate studies special collections and archives Often these projects required difficult challenges For example how to integrate student success centers or create new learning commons into a library The book shows how a library plan can be both sustainable and attractive to the users and how to integrate library functions furniture and equipment to enhance the learning environment Case studies from the author s interactions with library staff stakeholders and community leadership in the planning process are also included for additional clarity Takes a multidisciplinary approach to library services and space planning Includes case studies to act as unique learning opportunities and offers a customized methodology to support libraries of every kind Covers comprehensive planning methods that will help improve libraries Architectural Education Everett Sinclair,AI,2025-03-04 Architectural Education explores the comprehensive journey of becoming an architect from academic foundations to professional practice It spotlights how pedagogical methods practical application and continuous development shape future architects The book uniquely addresses the evolving challenges within architectural training emphasizing the balance between theoretical knowledge hands on experience and critical reflection One intriguing fact is the integration of sustainable design principles into modern curricula reflecting architecture s growing role in addressing global challenges The book s structure offers a comprehensive overview starting with fundamental principles and historical context before delving into specific aspects like design studios and technology integration including BIM Building Information Modeling It argues that effective architectural education must produce technically skilled socially conscious and ethically grounded architects The book investigates how institutions can foster holistic development moving from conventional approaches to forward thinking training The progression across chapters provides practical recommendations for educators and institutions to enhance their programs Quarterly Review of Distance Education Michael Simonson,Anymir Orellana,2019-10-01 The Quarterly Review of Distance Education is a rigorously refereed journal publishing articles research briefs reviews and editorials dealing with the theories research and practices of distance education The Quarterly Review publishes articles that utilize various methodologies that permit generalizable results which help guide the practice of the field of distance education in the public and private sectors The Quarterly Review publishes full length manuscripts as well as research briefs editorials reviews of programs and scholarly works and columns The Quarterly Review defines distance education as institutionally based formal education in which the learning group is separated and interactive technologies are used to unite the learning group Architectural Factors for Infection and Disease Control AnnaMarie Bliss,Dak Kopec,2022-09-05 This edited collection explores disease transmission and the ways that the designed environment has promoted or limited its spread It discusses the many design factors that can be used for infection and disease control through lenses of history public health building technology design and education This book calls on designers to consider the role of the built environment as the primary source of bacterial viral and fungal transfers through fomites ventilation systems and overcrowding and spatial organization Through 19 original contributions it provides an array of perspectives to understand how the designed environment may offer a reprieve from disease The authors build a historical foundation of infection and disease using examples ranging from lazarettos to leprosy centers to show how the ability to control infection and disease has long been a concern for humanity The book goes on to discuss disease propagation putting forth a variety of ideas to control the transmission of pathogens including environmental design strategies pedestrian dynamics and open space Its final chapters serve as a prospective way forward focusing on COVID 19 and the built environment in a post pandemic world Written for students and academics of architecture design and urban planning this book ignites creative action on the ways to design our built environment differently and more holistically Please note that research on COVID 19 has exponentially grown since this volume was written in October 2020 References cited reflect the evolving nature of research studies at that time NSTA Guide to Planning School Science Facilities LaMoine L.
