Resources in Education, 1993 Extensive Reading in the Second Language Classroom Richard R. Day, Julian Bamford, 1998-01-13 This comprehensive examination of extensive reading shows how reading large quantities of books and other materials can provide students with essential practice in learning to read and help them develop a positive attitude towards reading which is sometimes missed in second language classes The authors first examine the cognitive and affective nature of reading and then offer a wealth of practical advice for implementing extensive reading with second language learners Suggestions are provided for integrating extensive reading into the curriculum establishing a library selecting reading materials and keeping records for purposes of evaluation The text also describes a wide variety of classroom activities to supplement individualized silent reading The information will be useful both for pre service teachers and for teachers and administrators who want to improve the teaching of reading in their second language programs Beliefs About Text and Instruction With Text Ruth Garner, Patricia A. Alexander, 2019-06-06 Every day in classrooms teachers and students think about and with text Their beliefs about what text is who created it and how to evaluate it are an influence often a profoundly important one on how they use text This book brings together research on epistemology belief systems teacher beliefs and text research that is usually presented separately and in different disciplines The editors illustrate what a cross disciplinary body of work looks like what varied insights are possible and when the central concerns are beliefs and text Written by respected researchers in the fields of psychology and education the chapters are clustered thematically into three sections childrens and adults beliefs about text beliefs about what should be taught and how particular content should be taught and assessed in classrooms commentary on knowing versus believing on the literatures that inform this body of work and on belief systems The first to address this important topic in a single volume this book provides an essential synthesis of current research in an active area of inquiry The chapters are pieces framed in a time and place with particular intentions one of those intentions is that they separately and as a whole stimulate discussion about beliefs and text Teens' Favorite Books International Reading Association, 1992-01-01 Designed to make the job of encouraging adolescents to read less of a challenge this book provides descriptions of all of the approximately 150 examples of young adult literature that were selected Young Adults Choices in the yearly voting by teenagers conducted from 1987 to 1992 Each entry in the book includes bibliographic information an annotation and the year in which the book was chosen Entries in the book are grouped by type or genre adventure family life fantasy friendship health history mystery and crime nature personal growth romance science fiction and sports An author and a title index are attached RS Practical Strategies for Improving Instruction Karen D. Wood, 1994 Middle level teachers are unique not just by virtue of the level of students they teach but also by the ways in which they teach This monograph emphasizes strategies that actively engage students of all ability levels promote collaboration provide for various levels of concrete and abstract thought and foster student inquiry The monograph presents approaches to assessing reading and writing cooperative learning vocabulary development reading comprehension and critical thinking and to other topics that are directly reflective of current research It provides step by step procedures along with classroom examples in a convenient and serviceable format and its research based teaching strategies are applicable to all subject areas The introduction offers an overview of the research on prevailing versus preferred instructional practices in middle schools and discusses what can be done to improve instruction in five basic areas 1 approaches to teaching 2 lesson planning and implementation 3 classroom instructional resources 4 instructional activities and arrangements and 5 promotion of higher order thinking The monograph emphasizes the following groups of strategies 1 and 2 are concerned with assessing reading and writing performance 3 through 9 center around cooperative learning as it relates to various topics 10 through 13 show practical ways to develop students vocabulary with example spanning curricular areas The remaining strategies deal with improving students comprehension and appreciation of what they read NKA Young Adult
