side of its path My mother had warning in time and set her house in order Our work stock consisted of two yoke of oxen while our cattle numbered three cows and for saving them from the foragers credit must be given to my mother s generalship There was a wild canebrake in which the cattle fed several hundred acres in extent about a mile from our little farm and it was necessary to bell them in order to locate them when wanted But the cows were in the habit of coming up to be milked and a soldier can hear a bell as well as any one I was a lad of eight at the time and while my two older brothers worked our few fields I was sent into the canebrake to herd the cattle We had removed the bells from the oxen and cows but one ox was belled after darkness each evening to be unbelled again at daybreak I always carried the bell with me stuffed with grass in order to have it at hand when wanted During the first few days of the raid a number of mounted foraging parties passed our house but its poverty was all too apparent and nothing was molested Several of these parties were driving herds of cattle and work stock of every description while by day and by night gins and plantation houses were being given to the flames Our one roomed log cabin was spared due to the ingenious tale told by my mother as to the whereabouts of my father and yet she taught her children to fear God and tell the truth My vigil was trying to one of my years for the days seemed like weeks but the importance of hiding our cattle was thoroughly impressed upon my mind Food was secretly brought to me and under cover of darkness my mother and eldest brother would come and milk the cows when we would all return home together Then before daybreak we would be in the cane listening for the first tinkle to find the cattle and remove the bell And my day s work commenced anew advancing column warding off range cattle and seeing that none of the herd wandered away or dropped out There was no driving to do the cattle moved of their own free will as in ordinary travel Flood seldom gave orders but as a number of us had never worked on the trail before at breakfast on the morning of our start he gave in substance these general directions
