1 & 2 Samuel (Understanding the Bible Commentary Series) Mary J. Evans,2012-07-01 Identifying three streams of concern in the books of Samuel politics people and preaching Mary Evans demonstrates how each of these manifests itself in the underlying and unifying theme of power and powerlessness She then uses this concept of power as a fascinating matrix for interpreting the events God ordains and the characters God uses in biblical history Evans defends her case for the unity of the books that we divide into 1 and 2 Samuel with a sensitivity to the composition of the text and the intentionality of the various writers who had a hand in bringing the different accounts together The discussion interacts with the parallel material in Chronicles and Kings and recognizes the importance of the themes of covenant and law especially from the Deuteronomic perspective The commentary with its additional notes also includes a good breadth of references to scholarly debate and discussion on various issues Evans brings the often theologically difficult text of Samuel and the complex characters of Samuel Saul David and others into sharp focus for the contemporary reader while offering fresh insights and perspectives on the ancient text

Progressive Creation and the Struggles of Humanity in the Bible Zoltan Dornyei, 2018-03-22 Why does the Christian walk often feel like an ongoing struggle and why does God's creation include imperfection let alone forces that are intent on thwarting God's creative work In seeking a response to these questions this book argues that the biblical accounts describe creation in terms of a progressive transformation process whereby the initially incomplete created order will reach perfection only in the fulfillment of new creation The following discussion then outlines a comprehensive framework for the biblical theology of humanity's struggles centered on three key themes corporeal temptation deficient social structures and the much debated notion of spiritual warfare The book presents an overarching canonical narrative that threads together a series of diverse biblical topics from Job's temptation to the Atonement. The final part surveys biblical teaching on how human conduct can be aligned with God's creative purpose and discusses three assignments from Jesus to believers: to celebrate the Eucharist, to pray the Lord's Prayer, and to fulfill the Great Commission.

Appealing to God or Man Nicholas J. Campbell, 2025-03-31. Appealing to God or Man: Contrasting Barrenness and Family Death Narratives in the Hebrew Bible and Ancient Near East argues for a reevaluation of barrenness type scenes in the Hebrew Bible and ancient Near East. More specifically, the argument is for a distinction: women in family death narratives appeal to men, while women in barrenness narratives appeal to God. Even the male-centric epics of the ancient Near East show that women interact with the divine more during barrenness crises (e.g., the wife's prophetic dream in the Etana myth) than during family death crises (e.g., male divine narratives in Kirta and Aqhat). This distinction not only clarifies the narrative tropes but emphasizes the role of women in these crises and intersects with discussions of household roles in the ancient Near East. Male and female roles in marriage and fertility drive the responses of characters in these idealized narrative worlds, especially in family death and barrenness narratives.

Evil and a Selection of its Theological Problems Benjamin Arbour, John R. Gilhooly, 2017-01-06. Recent formulations of the inductive continual problem of evil require us to consider new responses to the charge that there is something irrational about believing in God given the type and amount of evil in the world. Furthermore, fresh approaches to the problem of evil offer suggestive ways to enter a new line of inquiry in regards to both theistic defences against various articulations of the problem of evil and also theodicy. Finally, developments in contemporary theology, especially analytic philosophical theology, likewise require new treatments of the problem of evil. This volume on the problem of evil presents a series of essays that incorporate responses to these developments. The articles fall into three broad sections. The first critiques and examines the analytic inductive problem of evil on the basis of its modal underpinnings, the discourse of possible worlds, and issues related to hiddenness and vagueness. The second part presents a narrative response to the problem of evil. Its approaches attempt to show the way in which peculiar features of narrative, such as dramatic irony, verisimilitude, and distinctions between person-type propositions, offer fresh ways to encapsulate our feelings about evil and our response to the theological problems raised by encounters with evil. Such existential concerns are valuable for our thinking about these matters. The third section relates the problem of evil to developments in contemporary analytic theology, such as open theism, idealism, and the felix culpa theodicy.
