The Of The Shadow:

Short History of the Shadow Victor I. Stoichita, 1997-08 Looks at the depiction and meaning of shadows in the history of Western art In the Shadow of the Sun EM Castellan, 2020-02-11 EM Castellan's In the Shadow of the Sun is a sumptuous YA romantasy set in 17th century Versailles. It's 1661 in Paris and magicians thrill nobles with enchanting illusions. Exiled in France, 17-year-old Henriette of England wishes she could use her magic to gain entry at court. Instead, her plan is to hide her magical talents and accept an arranged marriage to the French king's younger brother. Henriette soon realizes her fiancé prefers the company of young men to hers, and court magicians turn up killed by a mysterious sorcerer who uses forbidden magic. When an accident forces Henriette to reveal her uniquely powerful gift for enchantments to Louis, he asks for her help: she alone can defeat the dark magician threatening his authority and aid his own plans to build the new enchanted seat of his power, the Palace of Versailles.

In the Shadow of the Red Banner Yitzhak Arad, 2010 Over 500,000 Jews fought under the Soviet banner in World War Two, of which an approximate 40 percent gave their lives, the highest percentage of all the nations of the Soviet Union and among all the other nations that fought in the Second World War. Dr. Arad now sets the record straight on the immense contribution of Soviet Jewry in the battle against Nazi Germany, a part of history long concealed by the Soviet government. After outlining the military progress of the war, the book documents the contributions of Soviet Jewry on the battlefronts and in the weapons development industry, in the ghetto undergrounds and in partisan warfare. In addition, the book records the Soviet government's deliberate attempts to downplay the Jewish effort and the anti-Semitism that Jewish soldiers and partisan groups suffered at the hands of the Soviet establishment even while giving their lives for their country. Replete with the stories of individual heroes of all ranks, the book pays a debt of gratitude to those who paid the ultimate price to achieve our victory.

The Politics of Culture in the Shadow of Capital Lisa Lowe, David Lloyd, 1997-11-17 Coming from a broad cross section of academic disciplines and theoretical positions, this collection of essays questions and reworks Marxist critiques of capitalism that center on the West and which posit a uniform model of development. More specifically, The Shadow and Its Shadow Paul Hammond, 2000-11 The Shadow and Its Shadow is a classic collection of writings by the Surrealists on their mad love of moviegoing. The forty odd theoretical, polemical, and poetical re-visions of the seventh art in this anthology document Surrealism's scandalous and nonreductive take on film. Writing between 1918 and 1977, the essayists include such names as André Breton, Louis Aragon, Robert Desnos, Salvador Dalí, Luis Buñuel, and Man Ray, as well as many of the less famous though equally fascinating figures of the movement. Paul Hammond's introduction limns the history of Surrealist cinemania, highlighting how these revolutionary poets, artists, and philosophers sifted the silt of commercial, often Hollywood, cinema for the odd fleck of gold, the windfall movie that somehow slipping past the censor questioned the dominant order. Such prospecting pivoted around the notion of lyrical behavior as depicted on the screen and as lived in the movie house. The representation of such behavior led the

Surrealists to valorize the manifest content of such denigrated genres as silent and sound comedy romantic melodrama film noir horror movies As to lived experience moviegoing Surrealists looked to the spectacle s latent meaning reading films as the unwitting providers of redemptive sequences that could be mentally clipped out of their narrative context and inserted into daily life there to provoke new adventures Hammond s book is a reminder of the wealth and range of surrealist writings on the cinema T he work represented here is still challenging and genuinely eccentric locating itself in an ethic of love reverie and revolt Sight Breton which was published by City Lights

Kugel, 2011-02-01

TEN YEARS AGO Harvard professor James Kugel was diagnosed with an aggressive likely fatal form of cancer I was of course disturbed and worried But the main change in my state of mind was that the background music had suddenly stopped the music of daily life that s constantly going the music of infinite time and possibilities Now

suddenly it was gone replaced by nothing just silence There you are one little person sitting in the late summer sun with only a few things left to do Despite his illness Kugel was intrigued by this new state of mind and especially the uncanny feeling of human smallness that came with it There seemed to be something overwhelmingly true about it and its starkness reminded him of certain themes and motifs he had encountered in his years of studying ancient religions This I remember thinking was something I should really look into further if ever I got the chance In the Valley of the Shadow is the result of that search In this wide ranging exploration of different aspects of religion interspersed with his personal reflections on the course of his own illness Kugel seeks to uncover what he calls the starting point of religious consciousness an ancient sense of self and a way of fitting into the world that is quite at odds with the usual one He tracks these down in accounts written long ago of human meetings with gods and angels anthropologists descriptions of the lives of hunter gatherers the role of witchcraft in African societies first person narratives of religious conversions as well as the experimental data assembled by contemporary neuroscientists and evolutionary biologists Though this different sense of how we fit into the world has largely disappeared from our own societies it can still come back to us as a fleeting state of mind when you are just sitting on some park bench somewhere or at a wedding while everyone else is dancing and jumping around or else one day standing in your backyard as the sun streams down through the trees Experienced in its fullness this different way of seeing opens onto a stark new landscape ordinarily hidden from human eyes Kugel s look at the whole phenomenon of religious beliefs is a rigorously honest sometimes skeptical but ultimately deeply moving affirmation of faith in God One of our generation s leading biblical scholars has created a powerful meditation on humanity s place in the world and all that matters most in our lives Believers and doubters alike will be struck by its combination of objective scholarship and poetic insight which makes for a single beautifully crafted consideration of life s greatest mystery
