The Old English Finding Of The True Cross:

The Old English Finding of the True Cross Mary-Catherine Bodden, 1987 An edition with translation and notes of the oldest surviving Old English homiletic version of the famous legend in Bodleian MS Auct F 4 32 The edition offers valuable historical linguistic textual and literary discussion of the homily The Old English Metrical Calendar (Menologium) Kazutomo Karasawa, 2015 First modern text and English translation of an important Anglo Saxon poem dealing with the liturgical year The Old English Soul and Body Douglas Moffat, 1990 The first critical edition of one of the earliest representations of the body and soul theme in the middle ages which unusually survives in more than one copy and is therefore of particular relevance to the study of the transmission of texts discussion of manuscripts language prosody and structure The Place of the Cross in Anglo-Saxon England Catherine E. Karkov, Sarah Larratt Keefer, Karen Louise Jolly, 2006 The cross pervaded the whole of Anglo Saxon culture in art in sculpture in religion in medicine These new essays explore its importance and significance The Complete Old English Poems, 2017-01-31 From the riddling song of a bawdy onion that moves between kitchen and bedroom to the thrilling account of Beowulf's battle with a treasure hoarding dragon from the heart rending lament of a lone castaway to the embodied speech of the cross upon which Christ was crucified from the anxiety of Eve who carries a sumptuous secret in her hands And a tempting truth hidden in her heart to the trust of Noah who builds a sea floater a wave walking Ocean home with rooms for all creatures the world of the Anglo Saxon poets is a place of harshness beauty and wonder Now for the first time the entire Old English poetic corpus including poems and fragments discovered only within the past fifty years is rendered into modern strong stress alliterative verse in a masterful translation by Craig Williamson Accompanied by an introduction by noted medievalist Tom Shippey on the literary scope and vision of these timeless poems and Williamson's own introductions to the individual works and his essay on translating Old English poetry the texts transport us back to the medieval scriptorium or ancient mead hall to share a herdsman's recounting of the story of the world's creation or a people's sorrow at the death of a beloved king to be present at the clash of battle or to puzzle over the sacred and profane answers to riddles posed over a thousand years ago This is poetry as stunning in its vitality as it is true to its sources Were Williamson's idiom not so modern we might think that the Anglo Saxon poets had taken up the lyre again and begun to sing once more Remains of the Past in Old English Literature Jan-Peer Hartmann, 2025-02-11 Argues for a new understanding of Old English responses to materiality and historical change Human communities have interacted with the material remains of earlier periods for millennia Such archaeological objects including bones coins weapons building materials and architectural landmarks were physically handled reused transformed and reinterpreted they were also depicted in literature This book examines how Old English texts imagine such human encounters with the remnants of the past It explores Elene's perspective on the discovery of the True Cross as a narrative of political spiritual and epistemic translatio and the multiple ways in which The Wanderer and The Ruin use images of ruins and the poetic formula work of giants to construct an unknown and unrecoverable past it also considers the engagements with untimely objects in Beowulf and the Anonymous Old English Legend of the Seven Sleepers and how the Ruthwell Cross Poem and The Dream of the Rood play off figural against literal history As this study demonstrates Old English texts combined and creatively adapted a broad variety of ways of conceptualizing not merely history but indeed the very processes by which historical thought operates Its careful readings show that these texts not only display a deep and conflicted understanding of the philosophical implications of viewing history and temporality through the prism of material objects but also exhibit a powerful capacity for expressing such an understanding through aesthetic strategies

New Readings in the Vercelli Book Samantha Zacher, Andy Orchard, 2009-12-15 The late tenth century Vercelli Book Vercelli Biblioteca Capitolare CXVII contains one of the earliest surviving collections of homilies and poetry in the English language The manuscript s combination of poetry and homiletic prose has generated intense scholarly debate and there is no consensus concerning the original purpose of the compiler New Readings in the Vercelli Book addresses central questions concerning the manuscript s intended use mode of compilation and purpose and offers a variety of approaches on such topics as orthography style genre theme and source study The contributors include some of the foremost Vercelli experts as well as the two most recent editors of the homilies The remarkable essays in this volume offer the first sustained literary analysis of both the poetry and prose texts of the Vercelli Book providing important new perspectives on a dynamic and valuable historical document

Helena of Britain in Medieval Legend Antonina Harbus, 2002 St Helena mother of Constantine the Great and legendary finder of the True Cross was appropriated in the middle ages as a British saint The rise and persistence of this legend harnessed Helena s imperial and sacred status to portray her as a romance heroine source of national pride and a legitimising link to imperial Rome This study is the first to examine the origins development political exploitation and decline of this legend tracing its momentum and adaptive power from Anglo Saxon England to the twentieth century Using Latin English and Welsh texts as well as church dedications and visual arts the author examines the positive effect of the British legend on the cult of St Helena and the reasons for its wide appeal and durability in both secular and religious contexts Two previously unpublished vitae of St Helena are included in the volume a Middle English verse vita from the South English Legendary and a Latin prose vita by the twelfth century hagiographer Jocelin of Furness Antonina Harbus is Professor in the Department of English at Macquarie University Sydney Australia

Mulieres suadentes - Persuasive Women Martin Homza, 2017-03-06 In Mulieres suadentes Persuasive Women Martin Homza scrutinises the genesis of ruler ideology among the most prominent East Central and Eastern European dynasties from the early and later Middle Ages At the center of attention are the Premyslids the Piasts the Rurikids and the Ruriks but also the main dynasties of the Balkans namely the Trpimirovi and the Nemanji dynasties as well as the House of Bogdan and the Moldova dynasty of the Muatins Unlike previous work which has focused on narrative sources of male ruler hagiography Homza studies texts concerning female royal figures More broadly this book also attempts to bridge the artificial gap between West and East in Europe

The Saints' Lives of Jocelin of Furness Helen Birkett, 2010 First comprehensive study of four important medieval saints lives setting them in their political and ecclesiastical context Jocelin of Furness fl 1175x1214 the Cistercian hagiographer composed four substantial and significant saints lives varying widely in both subject and patron they offer a rich corpus of medieval hagiographical writing Jocelin's Vita S Patricii and Vita S Kentegerni provide updated versions of each saint's legend and are carefully adapted to reflect the interests of their respective patrons in Ireland and Scotland The Vita S Helenae was probably commissioned by a female community in England it represents an idealized narrative mirror of its early thirteenth century context In contrast the Vita S Waldevi was written to promote the formal canonization of a new saint Waltheof d 1159 abbot of the Cistercian house of Melrose in the Scottish borders This is the first full length study of the Lives It combines detailed analyses of the composition of the texts with study of their patronage audiences and contemporary contexts and it provides new insights into Jocelin's works and the writing of hagiography in the period Dr HELEN BIRKETT is Lecturer in Medieval History University of Exeter

Books and Libraries in Early England Helmut Gneuss, 2024-10-28 The essays in this second volume from Helmut Gneuss are devoted to the study of books their readers and libraries in medieval England especially in the Anglo Saxon period The selection opens with a survey of the history of the medieval English library followed by detailed studies of Anglo Saxon book production These also examine its relation in the 9th century to King Alfred's plan for educational reform and to the intellectual history of the 10th century Two articles deal with liturgical books and include the standard classified list of liturgical manuscripts To end there is an analysis of the earliest modern catalogue of books with Old English texts that by George Hickes and an investigation of the history of the Latin hymnal in Britain

Reversing Babel Bruce R. O'Brien, 2011-04-01 Reversing Babel Translation among the English during an Age of Conquests c 800 to c 1200 starts with a small puzzle Why did the Normans translate English law the law of the people they had conquered from Old English into Latin Solving this puzzle meant asking questions about what medieval writers thought about language and translation what created the need and desire to translate and how translators went about the work These are the questions Reversing Babel attempts to answer by providing evidence that comes from the world in which not just Norman translators of law but any translators of any texts regardless of languages did their translating Reversing Babel reaches back from 1066 to the translation work done in an earlier conquest a handful of important works translated in the ninth century in response to the alleged devastating effect of the Viking invasions and carries the analysis up to the wave of Anglo French translations created in the late twelfth century when England was a part of a large empire ruled by a king from Anjou who held power not only in western France from Normandy in the north to the Pyrenees in the south but also in Ireland Scotland and Wales In this longer and wider view the impact of political events on acts of translation is more easily weighed against the impact of other factors such as geography travel trade community trends in learning ideas about language and habits of translation These factors colored the contact situations created in England between speakers and readers of different languages during perhaps the most politically unstable period in English history The variety of medieval translation among the English and among those translators working in the greater empires of Cnut the Normans and the Angevins is remarkable Reversing Babel does not try to describe all of it rather it charts a course through the evidence and tries to answer the fundamental questions medieval historians should ask when their sources are

Late Anglo-Saxon Prayer in Practice Kate H. Thomas, 2020-01-20 This monograph examines Anglo Saxon prayer outside of the communal liturgy With a particular emphasis on its practical aspects it considers how small groups of prayers were elaborated into complex programs for personal devotion resulting in the forerunners of the Special Offices With examples being taken chiefly from major eleventh century collections of prayers liturgy and medical remedies the methodologies of Anglo Saxon compilers are examined followed by five chapters on specialist kinds of prayer to the Trinity and saints for liturgical feasts and the canonical hours to the Holy Cross for protection and healing and confessions Analyzing prayer in a wide range of different situations this book argues that Anglo Saxon manuscripts may have included far more private offices than have so far been recognized if we see them for what they were

Old English Poetry in Medieval Christian Perspective Judith N. Garde, 1991 Dr Garde questions modern interpretations of the nature and purpose of Old English religious poetry In this doctrinal appraisal Dr Garde contends that English religious poetry in the early medieval age of faith was intended to convey conventional Christian teaching to unlearned audiences In this reading Old English religious verse is dominated by the Christus Victor tradition the exegetical perceptions often assumed in modern criticism are not justified The tradition of Christ's triumphant Descent into hell regarded as apocryphal by many critics is discussed in the context of the Resurrection and Christian expectations of eternal life in the Advent lyrics the Descent poems Christ II and Phoenix The Dream of the Rood Elene and Christ III are seen as describing Christ's Incarnation death Descent Resurrection and Ascension the Pentecostal phenomenon and the Church in the world Expectations of judgment the future resurrection of flesh and the prospect of eternal bliss for righteous Christians complete the credal sequence The author suggests that unstated wholly familiar perceptions of salvation in Christ underlie all Old English religious verse and that interpreters ignore these traditions at their peril JUDITH GARDE's published work includes contributions to the Journal of Literature and Theology and Neophilologus

Anglo-Saxon Perceptions of the Islamic World Katharine Scarfe Beckett, 2003-10-16 In this book Scarfe Beckett is concerned with representations of the Islamic world prevalent in Anglo Saxon England Using a wide variety of literary historical and archaeological evidence she argues that the first perceptions of Arabs Ismaelites and Saracens which derived from Christian exegesis preconditioned western expressions of hostility and superiority towards peoples of the Islamic world and that these received ideas prevailed even as material contacts increased between England and Muslim territory Medieval texts invariably represented Muslim Arabs as Saracens and Ismaelites or Hagarenes described by Jerome as biblical enemies of the Christian world three centuries before Muhammad's lifetime Two early ideas in particular that Saracens worshipped Venus and dissembled their own identity continued into the early modern period This finding has interesting implications for earlier theses by Edward Said and Norman Daniel concerning the history of English perceptions of Islam The Rood in Medieval Britain and Ireland, C.800-c.1500 Philippa Turner, Jane Hawkes, 2020 New readings demonstrate the centrality of the rood to the visual material and devotional cultures of the Middle Ages its richness and complexity The rood was central to medieval Christianity and its visual culture Christ's death on the cross was understood as the means by which humankind was able to gain salvation and depictions of the cross and Christ's death upon it were ubiquitous This volume brings together contributions offering a new perspective on the medieval rood understood in its widest sense as any kind of cross within the context of Britain and Ireland over a wide period of time which saw significant political and cultural change In doing so it crosses geographical chronological material and functional boundaries which have traditionally characterised many previous discussions of the medieval rood Acknowledging and exploring the capacity of the rood to be both universal and specific to particular locations and audiences these contributions also tease out the ways in which roods related to one another as well as how they related to their physical and cultural surroundings often functioning in dialogue with other images and the wider devotional topography both material and mental in which they were set The chapters consider roods in a variety of media and contexts the monumental stone crosses of early medieval England twelfth century Ireland and spreading further afield late medieval Galicia the three dimensional monumental wooden roods in English monasteries Irish friaries and East Anglian parish churches roods that fit in the palm of a hand encased in precious metals those that were painted on walls drawn on the pages of manuscripts and those that appeared in visions dreams and gesture related to one another as well as how they related to their physical and cultural surroundings often functioning in dialogue with other images and the wider devotional topography both material and mental in which they were set The chapters consider roods in a variety of media and contexts the monumental stone crosses of early medieval England twelfth century Ireland and spreading further afield late medieval Galicia the three dimensional monumental wooden roods in English monasteries Irish friaries and East Anglian parish churches roods that fit in the palm of a hand encased in precious metals those that were painted on walls drawn on the pages

The Southern Version of Cursor Mundi, Vol. V Laurence M. Eldredge, Anne L. Klinck, 2000-05-03 The medieval poem Cursor Mundi is a biblical verse account of the history of the world offering a chronological overview of salvation history from Creation to Doomsday Originating in northern England around the year 1300 the poem was frequently copied in the north before appearing in a southern version in substantially altered form Although it is a storehouse of popular medieval biblical lore and a fascinating study in the eclectic use of more than a dozen sources the poem has until now attracted little scholarly attention This five part collaborative edition presents the Arundel version of the poem with variants from three others In addition it provides a discussion of sources and analogues detailed explanatory notes and a bibliography Published in English
