Sanchez, 2014-04-01 Every year from April to October the Sanchez family traveled crowded in the back of trucks camping in converted barns tending and harvesting crops across the breadth of the United States Although hoeing sugar beets with a short hoe was their specialty they also picked oranges in California apples in Washington cucumbers in Michigan onions and potatoes in Wisconsin and tomatoes in Iowa Winters they returned home to the Winter Garden region of South Texas In 1951 Saul Sanchez began to contribute to his family's survival by helping to weed onions in Wind Lake Wisconsin He was eight years old Rows of Memory tells his story and the story of his family and other migrant farm laborers like them people who endured dangerous dirty conditions and low pay surviving because they took care of each other Facing racism both on the road and at home they lived a largely segregated life only occasionally breached by friendly employers Despite starting school late and leaving early every year and having to learn English on the fly young Saul succeeded academically At the same time that Mexican Americans in South Texas upended the Anglo dominated social order by voting their own leaders into local government he upended his family's order by deciding to go to college Like many migrant children he knew that his decision to pursue an education meant he would no longer be able to help feed and clothe the rest of his family Nevertheless with his parents support he went to college graduating in 1967 and after a final display of his skill with a short hoe for his new friends abandoned migrant labor for teaching In looking back at his youth Sanchez invites us to appreciate the largely unrecognized and poorly rewarded strength and skill of the laborers who harvest the fruits and vegetables we eat A first person portrait of life on the bottom rung of the food system this coming of age tale illuminates both the history of Latinos in the United States and the human consequences of industrial agriculture

Autofiction, Emotions, and Humour Alexandra Effe, Arnaud Schmitt, 2022-12-26 Autofiction is often associated with humour irony and play Moreover authors of autofictional texts are frequently criticised for a lack of seriousness or for failing to straightforwardly and in their own voice engage with a given topic Yet very few autofictional texts are exclusively or even primarily playful Many employ humour and irony to address very serious subject matter This volume explores how these seemingly opposed characteristics of autofictional texts in fact work together The contributions in this volume show that autofictional texts often make use of humour and play in a productive and meaningful way tackling issues such as human rights violations historical and collective as well as personal trauma and struggle with psychological or physical illness and abuse On the basis of geographically wide ranging case studies including texts from South America South Africa the United States and Europe this book explores how in which contexts and to which effects autofictional texts reveal their authors complex and often painful psychological experiences and engage the emotions of their readers This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Life Writing Memory's Harkback Through Half-a-century, 1808 to 1858 Frederick Edward Gretton,1889 Memory and Dream Charles de Lint,2007-02-20 A tale of love courage and the transforming power of imagination Contemporary Poetry and Postmodernism I. Gregson,1996-11-01 Contemporary Poetry and Postmodernism explores the fraught relationship between the poetry of the mainstream and kinds of modernist poetry that have had to make their way outside it Mainstream poets like Paul Muldoon James Fenton and Carol Ann Duffy multiply voices and so draw on resources from the novel Bakhtin's concept of the dialogic is therefore used to explain their techniques By contrast Shklovsky's concept of estrangement is shown to be more useful in accounting for the radical experimentation of poets like Edwin Morgan Christopher Middleton and Denise Riley However the book concludes by suggesting that partly because of the influence of surrealism in women poets like Selima Hill and Jo Shapcott the mainstream has recently been infiltrated by modernist and postmodernist estrangement effects GCSE English for OCR John Reynolds,Ron Norman,2002 This book is tailored to the OCR English GCSE specification so you can be sure all aspects are covered Advances in Databases and Information Systems Tadeusz Morzy,2009-08-28 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 13th East European Conference on Advances in Databases and Information Systems ADBIS 2009 held in Riga Latvia on September 7 10 2009 The 25 revised papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 93 submissions Typically the papers span a wide spectrum of the database and information system Topics are ranging from query processing and optimization via query languages design methods data integration indexing and caching to business processes data mining and application oriented topics like XML and data on the Web Narrative as Counter-Memory Reiko Tachibana,1998-07-30 CHOICE 1999 Outstanding Academic Books The wartime and postwar cultural histories of Germany and Japan show similar experiences of defeat occupation and then the reconstruction of powerful societies Little previous research has examined the literary works that reflect these contacts and parallelisms For the first time this book offers an extensive comparative study of German and Japanese narratives that serve as a form of counter memory in Foucault's phrase for the two cultures Rather than attempting to present objective or comprehensive views of history these narratives draw upon personal memories to offer subjective selective and individualistic reports They provide an alternative or counter memory to more official versions of World War II and its aftermath Major writers such as Mishima Yukio Ibuse Masuji Oba Minako Gunter Grass Uwe Johnson Christa Wolf and the Nobel Prize winners Oe Kenzaburo and Heinrich Boll are set in the context of lesser known writers including a nine year old child a medical doctor a woman who served as a journalist and a former prisoner to provide a broad cultural basis for understanding responses to the war from within the two societies This book combines a broad historical scope with detailed examinations of important individual texts with both aspects securely set on a firm foundation of historical and literary scholarship The rhythm of alternation between synthetic generalizations and close textual explication yielding interpretive insights while providing lucid and economical exposition and summary allows for carefully balanced and integrated comparisons
