The Oracle Of The Bones Set:

The Oracle Bone Inscriptions from Huayuanzhuang East Adam C. Schwartz, 2019-11-18 Since 1899 more than 73 000 pieces of inscribed divination shell and bone have been found inside the moated enclosure of the Anyang core at the former capital of the late Shang state. Nearly all of these divinations were done on behalf of the Shang kings and has led to the apt characterization that oracle bone inscriptions describe their motivations, experiences and priorities. There are however much smaller sets of divination accounts that were done on behalf of members of the Shang elite other than the king. First noticed in the early 1930s, grouped and periodized shortly thereafter, oracle bone inscriptions produced explicitly by or on behalf of royal family groups reveal information about key aspects of daily life in Shang society that are barely even mentioned in Western scholarship. The newly published Huayuanzhuang East Oracle Bone inscriptions are a spectacular addition to the corpus of texts from Anyang: hundreds of intact or largely intact turtle shells and bovine scapulae densely inscribed with records of the divinations in which they were used. They were produced on the behalf of a mature prince of the royal family whose parents both alive and still very much active almost certainly were the twenty-first Shang king Wu Ding (c. 1200 B.C.) and his consort Lady Hao. The Huayuanzhuang East corpus is an unusually homogeneous set of more than two thousand five hundred divination records produced over a short period of time on behalf of a prince of the royal family. There are typically multiple records of divinations regarding the same or similar topics that can be synchronized together, which not only allows for remarkable access into the esoteric world of divination practice but also produce micro-reconstructions of what is essentially East Asia's earliest and most complete day and month planner. Because these texts are unusually linguistically transparent and well preserved, homogeneous in orthography and content and published to an unprecedentedly high standard, they are also ideal material for learning to read and interpret early epigraphic texts. The Huayuanzhuang East oracle bone inscriptions are a tremendously important Shang archive of material documents that were produced by a previously unknown divination and scribal organization. They expose us to an entirely fresh set of perspectives and preoccupations centering on a member of the royal family at the commencement of China's historical period. The completely annotated English translation of the inscriptions is the first of its kind and is a vibrant new source of Shang history that can be accessed to rewrite and supplement what we know about early Chinese civilization and life in the ancient world. Before the discerning reader are the motives, preoccupations and experiences of a late Shang prince working simultaneously in service both for his Majesty, his parents and his own family.

A Legacy of Elegance Li Zongkun, 2017-10-15 This publication is the product of several auspicious occasions. United College celebrated its sixtieth anniversary in 2016, 2017 and the Chinese University of Hong Kong Library marked this occasion by carrying out preservation work and cataloguing the collection of forty-four oracle bones which comprised the majority of this study. These Bones Shall Rise Again David N. Keightley, 2014-08-12 These Bones Shall Rise Again brings together in one volume many of David N Keightley s seminal essays on the origins of early Chinese civilization Written over a period of three decades and accessible to the non specialist these essays provide a wealth of information and insights on the Shang dynasty traditionally dated 1766 1122 or 1056 BCE Of all the eras of Chinese history the Shang has been a particularly elusive one long considered more myth than reality A historian with a keen appreciation for anthropology and archaeology Keightley has given us many descriptions of Shang life Best known for his analysis of oracle bones he has looked beyond the bones themselves and expanded his historical vision to ponder the lives of those who used them What did the Shang diviner think he was doing The temerity to ask such questions and the insights they have provided have been provocative and at times controversial Equally intriguing have been Keightley s assertions that many of the distinctive features of Chinese civilization were already in evidence during the Shang 3000 years ago In this collection readers will find not only an essential reference but also the best kind of thought provoking scholarship A Perpetual Fire Lara Jaishree Netting, 2013-09-01 After serving as a missionary and then foreign advisor to Qing officials from 1887 to 1911 John Ferguson became a leading dealer of Chinese art providing the Metropolitan Museum of Art the Cleveland Museum of Art and other museums with their inaugural collections of paintings and bronzes In multiple publications dating to the 1920s and 1930s Ferguson made the controversial claim that China s autochthonous culture was the basis of Chinese art His two Chinese language reference works still in use today were produced with essential help from Chinese scholars Emulating these men of culture with whom he lived and worked in Peking Ferguson gathered paintings bronzes rubbings and other artifacts In 1934 he donated this group of over one thousand objects to Nanjing University the school he had helped to found as a young missionary This work offers a significant contribution to the history of Chinese art collection John Ferguson learned from and worked with Qing dynasty collectors and scholars and then Republican era dealers and archeologists while simultaneously supplying the objects he had come to know as Chinese art to American museums and individuals He is an ideal subject to help us see the interconnections between increased Western interest in Chinese art and archeology in the modern era and cultural change taking place in China

Ritual and Economy in East Asia Rowan Flad, Anke Hein, Bryan K. Miller, 2023-06-01 In commemoration of Lothar von Falkenhausen's 60th birthday this volume assembles eighteen scholarly essays that explore the intersection between art economy and ritual in ancient East Asia The contributions are clustered into four themes Ritual Economy Ritual and Sacrifice Technology Community Interaction and Objects and Meaning which collectively reflect the theoretical methodological and historical questions that Falkenhausen has been examining via his scholarship research and teaching throughout his career Most of the chapters work with archaeological and textual data from China but there are also studies of materials from Mongolia Korea Southeast Asia and even Egypt showing the global impact of Falkenhausens work The chronological range of studies extends from the Neolithic through the Bronze Age in China into the early imperial medieval and early modern periods The authors discuss art economy ritual interaction and technology in the broad context of East Asian archaeology and its connection to the world beyond

Anyang Chi Li,2021-03-05 This book presents an anthology of English language archaeological and anthropological writings by Li Chi the founding father of modern archaeology in China It is divided into 15 chapters in the first two Dr Li sets the stage by introducing the principal characters involved in the first act of this modern archaeological drama in the third and fourth chapters he describes the status of Chinese archaeology during the early years of the twentieth century and highlights the contributions of prominent foreigners Starting with the fifth chapter

Dr Li begins detailing the excavations and describes the principle finds of the Anyang expedition. In turn the book's closing chapters present a summary of the findings and descriptions of some of the major publications that this monumental project has yielded. For readers who are interested in Chinese civilization what will appeal to them most are the details of the excavations of Yin Hs, the ruins of the Yin Dynasty including building foundations, bronzes, chariots, pottery, stone and jade and thousands of oracle bones which are vividly shown in historical pictures. These findings transformed the Yin Shang culture from legend into history and thus moved China's history forward by hundreds of years, shocking the world. The anthology also includes Li Chi's reflections on central problems in Chinese anthropology which are both enlightening and thought provoking.
