Bergen, 2000-01-01 This highly original book is the first to explore the political and philosophical consequences of Hannah Arendt s concept of the banality of evil a term she used to describe Adolph Eichmann architect of the Nazi final solution According to Bernard J Bergen the questions that preoccupied Arendt were the meaning and significance of the Nazi genocide to our modern times As Bergen describes Arendt's struggle to understand the banality of evil he shows how Arendt redefined the meaning of our most treasured political concepts and principles freedom society identity truth equality and reason in light of the horrific events of the Holocaust Arendt concluded that the banality of evil results from the failure of human beings to fully experience our common human characteristics thought will and judgment and that the exercise and expression of these attributes is the only chance we have to prevent a recurrence of the kind of terrible evil perpetrated by Making Sense of Tyranny Simon Tormey, 1995 Totalitarianism remains a central concept in political theory the Nazis as relevant today as it was in the time of Hitler and Stalin This book tries to resolve the long running debates about what totalitarianism is or was how the term can be applied and what the future of the concept might be Cultivating Perception through Artworks Helen A. Madura.Sabeen Ahmed, 2019-04-03 This important new book examines the status of refugees from a philosophical perspective The contributors explore the conditions faced by refugees and clarify the conceptual practical and ethical issues confronting the contemporary global community with respect to refugees The book takes up topics ranging from practical matters such as the social and political production of refugees refugee status and the tension between citizen rights and human rights and the handling of detention and deportation to more conceptual and theoretical concerns such as the ideology rhetoric and propaganda that sustain systems of exclusion and expulsion to the ethical dimensions that invoke hospitality and transnational responsibility Ideal for students and scholars in Political and Social Philosophy and Migration Studies more broadly the book provides a critical commentary on material responses to contemporary refugee crises as a means of opening pathways to more pointed assessments of both the political and ideological underpinnings of statelessness Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination Michal Aharony, 2015-03-05 Responding to the increasingly influential role of

Hannah Arendt s political philosophy in recent years Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination The Holocaust Plurality and Resistance critically engages with Arendt's understanding of totalitarianism According to Arendt the main goal of totalitarianism was total domination namely the virtual eradication of human legality morality individuality and plurality This attempt in her view was most fully realized in the concentration camps which served as the major laboratories for the regime While Arendt focused on the perpetrators logic and drive Michal Aharony examines the perspectives and experiences of the victims and their ability to resist such an experiment The first book length study to juxtapose Arendt s concept of total domination with actual testimonies of Holocaust survivors this book calls for methodological pluralism and the integration of the voices and narratives of the actors in the construction of political concepts and theoretical systems To achieve this Aharony engages with both well known and non canonical intellectuals and writers who survived Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps Additionally she analyzes the oral testimonies of survivors who are largely unknown drawing from interviews conducted in Israel and in the U S as well as from videotaped interviews from archives around the world Revealing various manifestations of unarmed resistance in the camps this study demonstrates the persistence of morality and free agency even under the most extreme and de humanizing conditions while cautiously suggesting that absolute domination is never as absolute as it claims or wishes to be Scholars of political philosophy political science history and Holocaust studies will find this an original and compelling book Politics and Truth Theresa Man Ling Lee, 1997-01-01 Considers the contested concept of truth in contemporary politics in light of the postmodernist challenge to Enlightenment ideals and examines the treatment of truth in an unusual lineup of thinkers ranging from Plato and Hobbes to Weber Foucault and Arendt Concentrationary Memories Griselda Pollock, Max Silverman, 2015-08-25 Concentrationary Memories has as its premise the idea at the heart of Alain Resnais's film Night and Fog 1955 that the concentrationary plague unleashed on the world by the Nazis in the 1930s and 1940s is not simply confined to one place and one time but is now a permanent presence shadowing modern life It further suggests that memory and indeed art in general must be invoked to show this haunting of the present by this menacing past so that we can read for the signs of terror and counter its deformation of the human Through working with political and cultural theory on readings of film art photographic and literary practices Concentrationary Memories analyses different cultural responses to concentrationary terror in different sites in the post war period ranging from Auschwitz to Argentina These readings show how those involved in the cultural production of memories of the horror of totalitarianism sought to find forms languages and image systems which could make sense of and resist the post war condition in which as Hannah Arendt famously stated everything is possible and human beings as human beings become superfluous Authors include Nicholas Chare Isabelle de le Court Thomas Elsaesser Benjamin Hannavy Cousen Matthew John Claire Launchbury Sylvie Lindeperg Laura Malosetti Costa Griselda Pollock Max Silverman Glenn Sujo Annette Wieviorka and John Wolfe Ackerman
