The Time of Our Lives David Couzens Hoy, 2012-01-13 A study of the emergence in post Kantian continental philosophy of a focus on the lived experience of temporality The project of all philosophy may be to gain reconciliation with time even if not every philosopher has dealt with time expressly A confrontation with the passing of time and with human finitude runs through the history of philosophy as an ultimate concern In this genealogy of the concept of temporality David Hoy examines the emergence in a post Kantian continental philosophy of a focus on the lived experience of the time of our lives rather than on the time of the universe The purpose is to see how phenomenological and poststructuralist philosophers have tried to locate the source of temporality how they have analyzed time s passing and how they have depicted our relation to time once it has been in a Proustian sense regained Hoy engages with competing theoretical tactics for reconciling us to our fleeting temporality drawing on work by Kant Heidegger Hegel Husserl Merleau Ponty Nietzsche Gadamer Sartre Bourdieu Foucault Bergson Deleuze i ek and Derrida Hoy considers four existential strategies for coping with the apparent flow of temporality including Proust s passive and Walter Benjamin s active reconciliation through memory i ek s critique of poststructuralist politics Foucault s confrontation with the temporality of power and Deleuze s account of Aion and Chronos He concludes by exploring whether a dual temporalization could be what constitutes the singular time of our lives

Redeeming Words David Michael Kleinberg-Levin, 2013-10-21 In this probing look at Alfred D blin s 1929 novel Berlin Alexanderplatz and the stories of W G Sebald Redeeming Words offers a philosophical meditation on the power of language in literature David Kleinberg Levin draws on the critical theory of

Benjamin and Adorno the idealism and romanticism of Kant Hegel Herderlin Novalis and Schelling and the nineteenth and twentieth century thought of Nietzsche Heidegger and Derrida He shows how Doblin and Sebald writers with radically different styles working in different historical moments have in common a struggle against forces of negativity and an aim to bring about in response a certain redemption of language Kleinberg Levin considers the fast paced staccato and hard cut sentences of Doblin and the ghostly languorous and melancholy prose fiction of Sebald to articulate how both writers use language in an attempt to recover and convey this utopian promise of happiness for life in a time of mourning

Beckett's Words David Kleinberg-Levin, 2015-07-30 At stake in this book is a struggle with language in a time when our old faith in the redeeming of the word and the word's power to redeem has almost been destroyed Drawing on Benjamin's political theology his interpretation of the German Baroque mourning play and Adorno's critical aesthetic theory but also on the thought of poets and many other philosophers especially Hegel's phenomenology of spirit Nietzsche's analysis of nihilism and Derrida's writings on language Kleinberg Levin shows how because of its communicative and revelatory powers language bears the utopian promise of happiness the idea of a secular redemption of humanity at the very heart of which must be the achievement of universal justice In an original reading of Beckett's plays novels and short stories Kleinberg Levin shows how despite inheriting a language damaged corrupted and commodified Beckett redeems dead or dying words and wrests from this language new possibilities for the expression of meaning Without denying Beckett's nihilism his picture of a radically disenchanted world Kleinberg Levin calls attention to moments when his words suddenly ignite and break free of their despair and pain taking shape in the beauty of an austere yet joyous lyricism suggesting that after all meaning is still possible
