Media Perspectives for the 21st Century brings together key international scholars to explore concepts topics and issues concerning the communication environment in contemporary democratic societies It combines qualitative and quantitative approaches to provide an interdisciplinary and truly global perspective that reflects the trends theories and issues in current media and communication research The collection raises significant questions about the study of the media by challenging approaches to major media and societal issues and analyses in more depth the range of concerns that shape both the present and the future media landscape and the issues these can create for communication. It also investigates the main effects of technological developments on the domain of the news media and journalism. Divided into two main sections, Part I provides accounts of the role of the media in society and deals with agendas that affect the field of communications studies. Part II goes on to examine the world of new media and offers analyses on the developments of the 21st century. Chapters deal with various dimensions of media from a number of different perspectives and socio-political contexts covering a wide range of topics including Social Networking, Political Communication, Public Journalism, Global Infotainment and Consumer Culture. Media Perspectives for the 21st Century will be highly useful to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as researchers and academics in the fields of media and communication studies, mass communication, journalism and new media.

The Psychology of Negotiations in the 21st Century Workplace Barry M. Goldman, Debra L. Shapiro, 2012-05-04 The litigation explosion in the 21st century workplace means increasing costs and risks of lawsuits. Negotiation appears the attractive alternative to litigation. This new volume with contributions from experts in psychology, management and other disciplines bridges the gap between management and negotiation research. Managers, students and researchers interested in the field of negotiation will find this new book in SIOP's Organizational Frontiers series of interest.

Adolescence in the 21st Century Frances R. Spielhagen, Paul D. Schwartz, 2013-12-01 What is wrong with young people today? This question has captured the concerns of the older generation about the habits and attitudes of the adolescents in their midst. The assumption is that there is indeed something wrong with young people. Even Plato must have rolled his eyes as he relates his diatribe about the adolescents of Greece. Is the current generation of adolescents less motivated or less focused than their parents? How will they respond to the challenges facing them as they progress to adulthood? When in fact do they become adults? Although every generation draws upon their own unique and varied experiences, the speed of our current societal changes has created a very different adolescent passage for contemporary youth than ever before. The world as we know it has changed significantly and because of it, much of today's youth is decidedly different from their parents. Adolescence itself has shifted dramatically. Young children are displaying adolescent behaviors well before they are ready to act on or understand their meaning and older adolescents are staying perpetual children. As one writer put it, the conveyor belt that transported adolescents into adulthood has broken down. This book provides an interdisciplinary collection of research on the constants and challenges faced by young people today. Failure to launch, Social media, Economic stagnation. For the generation that is coming of age in a post-terrorist world and in the midst of economic upheaval, the challenges might seem insurmountable. However, in this book, scholars from across the academy from sociology, psychology, education, philosophy, science and business explain how the young people today are responding to the constants of growth and change in adolescence and the unique challenges of life in the 21st century.

Marketing in the 21st Century Bruce D. Keillor, 2007-07-30 Marketing is the crucial connection

Written by leading academic thinkers and business practitioners the four volumes highlight emerging and innovative practices illustrated through examples from around the world. Volume 1 New World Marketing provides insights and tools for conducting business internationally with emphasis on market research market entry and distribution strategies and coverage of emerging markets including China India and Eastern Europe. Volume 2 Interactive and Multi Channel Marketing explores the impact of new technologies on acquiring and retaining customers including discussion of direct and interactive marketing techniques customer data analysis and ethics in marketing. Volume 3 Company and Customer Relations deals with such issues as reputation and trust building relationship marketing sales management and customer privacy. Volume 4 Integrated Marketing Communication covers consumer demographics multi media communication strategies and micromarketing. Collectively these volumes represent the state of the art in the field. They are an essential resource for anyone studying teaching researching or practicing the art and science of marketing.

Meos of Mewat in the 21st Century Abhay Chawla, 2023-02-28. While most of the earlier scholarship of the Meo community has focused on the community's troubled histories their backwardness and unusual social and religious configuration this research conducted over a span of five years shines a light upon modern Meos in the twenty first century and their embracing of mobile technology to leapfrog into the future. With special attention given to Meo youth and women this work engages with the lived experience of these actors delving into their aspirations challenges and self devised solutions as they negotiate the structures of tradition and patriarchy. The Meo community saddled with high levels of illiteracy and marginalization inhabits the Mewat area of North West India nestled between Delhi Agra and Jaipur. Their spoken language is Mewati and there are multiple conjectures put forth about their origin and continual migrations throughout history before finally settling in Mewat. Practitioners of Islam the Meos at the same time observe Hindu social practices such as division into Pals and Gotras with clearly laid down exogamous rules. Historically this has rendered the Meos as an enigma to outsiders and as a problem for the reigning political state from the Delhi Sultanate to the British colonizers contributing to their marginalized status. As an oral society the traditional Meo medium was that of the mirasi folklore tellers and bards who would sing about Meo valor in the face of state authority. So deeply entrenched in tradition and alterity how do Meos then tread and engage with modern technocentric new media. The answer to such an inquiry is not simple or straightforward. While over 90% of Meos owned a mobile phone as of 2016 different audience segments provide different narratives and leverage the technology in different ways College students use their mobile phones to access different social media platforms and opportunities for employment and higher education truck drivers on the other hand use their mobiles to remain in touch with their families when out on long distance driving assignments Meanwhile married women and young girls while not allowed to own a phone nonetheless find ways of gaining access to the technology With the use of new media Bollywood consumption is on the rise and one sees changes in sartorial choices ideas on grooming and marriage and social life in general So much so the traditional profession of the mirasi has now become defunct Present day Meo society is experiencing a change at multiple levels which is a complex negotiation between traditional and modern And in this twenty first century story empowered by technology rather than being a victim the Meo emerges as a hero

Metatheory and Interviewing Emily J. Haas, Marifran Mattson, 2014-12-11

Metatheory and Interviewing Harm Reduction and Motorcycle Safety in Practice describes and applies a unique approach for advancing harm reduction theory Emily J Haas and Marifran Mattson argue that using harm reduction as a metatheory to guide qualitative interviews strengthens the use and acceptance of harm reduction and the application of constructs within health theories Through analysis of in depth interviews with respective participants at risk motorcyclists which are informed by harm reduction metatheory the authors examine how this unique approach to interviewing can be used to link metatheory theory methodology and ultimately application and translation of research results Metatheory and Interviewing culminates with a discussion of how the way we conduct and analyze interviews facilitates a deeper more intimate conversation with research participants by encouraging them to incorporate the same overarching harm reduction framework to provide feedback about changing specific health behaviors Scholars of health communication and research will understand the critical role of a humanistic attitude and pragmatic communication with participants as well as the importance of further extrapolating these strategies to their broader target audience
