Thai Economy Uneven Development And Internationalization

Richard F. Doner

Thai Economy Uneven Development And Internationalization:

The Thai Economy Chris Dixon, 1998-12-03 This volume looks at the origins and consequences of the accelerated growth of the Thai economy since the mid 1980s and explores the factors that set Thailand apart from other Asian African and Latin American countries

The Thai Economy , 1999 The Politics of Uneven Development Richard F. Doner, 2009-02-09

Why do some middle income countries diversify their economies but fail to upgrade to produce world class products based on local inputs and technological capacities Why have the little tigers of Southeast Asia such as Thailand continued to lag behind the Newly Industrializing Countries of East Asia Richard Doner goes beyond political will by emphasizing institutional capacities and political pressures development challenges vary upgrading poses tough challenges that require robust institutional capacities Such strengths are political in origin They reflect pressures such as security threats and resource constraints which motivate political leaders to focus on efficiency more than clientelist payoffs Such pressures help to explain the political institutions veto players through which leaders operate Doner assesses this argument by analyzing Thai development historically in three sectors sugar textiles and autos and in comparison with both weaker and stronger competitors Philippines Indonesia Taiwan Brazil and South Korea

Thailand at the Margins Jim Glassman, 2004-03-04

Jim Glassman addresses the role of the state in the industrial transformation of what was before the economic crisis of 1997 98 one of Southeast Asia's fastest growing economies Approaching this issue from a different angle to those dominating 1980s and 1990s debates about the role of states in East Asian growth Glassman argues that the Thai state has been both proactive and interventionist in encouraging industrial transformation contrary to what neo liberals have asserted but at the same time has not been a developmental state of the sort championed by neo Weberian analysts of East Asia Analyzing the Cold War period the period of the economic boom as well as the economic crisis and its political aftershock Thailand at the Margins recasts the story of the Thai state's post World War II development performance by focusing on uneven industrialization and the interaction between internationalization and the transformation of Thai labour

Education in Thailand Gerald W. Fry, 2018-11-01 This interdisciplinary book offers a critical analysis of Thai education and its evolution providing diverse perspectives and theoretical frameworks In the past five decades Thailand has seen impressive economic success and it is now a middle income country that provides development assistance to poorer countries However educational and social development have lagged considerably behind its globally recognized economic success This comprehensive book covers each level of education such as higher and vocational technical education and such topics as internationalization inequalities and disparities alternative education non formal and informal education multilingual education educational policy and planning and educational assessment The 25 Thai and 8 international contributors to the volume include well known academics and practitioners Thai education involves numerous paradoxes which are identified and explained While Thailand has impressively expanded its educational system quantitatively with much massification quality problems persist at all levels As such the final policy oriented summary chapter suggests strategies to enable Thailand to escape the middle income trap and enhance the quality of its education to ensure its long term developmental success

Capitalist Restructuring and the Pacific Rim Ravi Palat, 2004-07-31 This book situates the evolution of capitalist economies along Asia's Pacific Rim after the Second World War within broader global political and economic changes Specifically it charts their growth at the interface of periodic crises and successive waves of restructuring and links changes in the world economy to shifts in regional dynamics in east and southeast Asia It suggests that while the expansion of Japanese corporate networks was crucial to the emergence of the region as a low cost exporter to the world the reintegration of China into the world market will free the region from its dependence on the US as a market of last resort
