Uplifting the Race Kevin K. Gaines, 2012-12-01 Amidst the violent racism prevalent at the turn of the twentieth century African American cultural elites struggling to articulate a positive black identity developed a middle class ideology of racial uplift Insisting that they were truly representative of the race's potential black elites espoused an ethos of self help and service to the black masses and distinguished themselves from the black majority as agents of civilization hence the phrase uplifting the race A central assumption of racial uplift ideology was that African Americans material and moral progress would diminish white racism But Kevin Gaines argues that in its emphasis on class distinctions and patriarchal authority racial uplift ideology was tied to pejorative notions of racial pathology and thus was limited as a force against white prejudice Drawing on the work of W E B Du Bois Anna Julia Cooper Alice Dunbar Nelson Hubert H Harrison and others Gaines focuses on the intersections between race and gender in both racial uplift ideology and black nationalist thought showing that the meaning of uplift was intensely contested even among those who shared its aims Ultimately elite conceptions of the ideology retreated from more democratic visions of uplift as social advancement leaving a legacy that narrows our conceptions of rights citizenship and social justice

Pauline Hopkins and the American Dream Alisha Knight, 2011-04-15 Pauline Elizabeth Hopkins was perhaps the most prolific black female writer of her time Between 1900 and 1904 writing mainly for Colored American Magazine she published four novels at least seven short stories and numerous articles that often addressed the injustices and challenges facing African Americans in post Civil War America In Pauline Hopkins and the American Dream Alisha Knight provides the first full length critical analysis of Hopkins's work Scholars have frequently situated Hopkins within the domestic sentimental tradition of nineteenth century women's writing with some critics observing that aspects of her writing particularly its emphasis on the self made man seem out of place within the domestic tradition Knight argues that Hopkins used this often dismissed theme to critique American society's ingrained racism and sexism In her Famous Men and Famous Women series for Colored American Magazine she constructed her own version of the success narrative by offering models of African American self made men and women Meanwhile in her fiction

she depicted heroes who fail to achieve success or must leave the United States to do so Hopkins risked and eventually lost her position at Colored American Magazine by challenging black male leaders liberal white philanthropists and white racists and by conceiving a revolutionary treatment of the American Dream that placed her far ahead of her time Hopkins is finally getting her due and this clear eyed analysis of her work will be a revelation to literary scholars historians of African American history and students of women s studies Alisha Knight is an associate professor of English and American Studies at Washington College Her published articles include Furnace Blasts for the Tuskegee Wizard Revisiting Pauline E Hopkins Booker T Washington and the Colored American Magazine which appeared in American Periodicals
