Entrepreneurship as Experience Michael H. Morris, Christopher G. Pryor, Minet Schindehutte, 2012 Do entrepreneurs create ventures or do venture experiences create entrepreneurs The authors of Entrepreneurship as Experience propose that the answer is both This important volume examines how individuals experience the creation of a venture as it happens and how that experience determines the types of entrepreneur and venture that ultimately emerge In essence entrepreneurship is an experience consisting of large numbers of key events such as a first sale hiring a first employee losing a big account events that are processed and made sense of by the entrepreneur They produce cognitive emotional and physiological responses which impact decision making and behavior The result is an experience that is purposive diverse uncertain ambiguous and transformative and unique to each individual Here the authors argue that as experience unfolds both entrepreneur and venture are being constructed and emerge in unique forms This experiential view introduces an entirely new lens through which entrepreneurship can be examined Entrepreneurship as Experience comprises chapters dedicated to sociological anthropological and psychological research related to human experiencing the volume presents a new frame for understanding the role of emotions and feelings in venture creation and lays out a conceptual framework for understanding how real time experiencing informs the entrepreneurial process New insights are provided regarding how the entrepreneurial mindset and an entrepreneurial identity are formed and why entrepreneurs take on certain traits and develop certain competencies Further the authors put forth new approaches to conducting research on the entrepreneurial experience Students advanced as well as undergraduate and scholars of entrepreneurship innovation strategy and management will find themselves turning often to the ideas and research presented here Understanding the Entrepreneurial Mind Alan L. Carsrud, Malin Brännback, 2009-07-30 Interest in the functioning of the human mind can certainly be traced to Plato and Aristotle who often dealt with issues of perceptions and motivations While the Greeks may have contemplated the human condition the modern study of the human mind can be traced back to Sigmund Freud 1900 and the psychoanalytic movement He began the exploration of both conscious and unconscious factors that propelled humans to engage in a variety of behaviors While Freud's focus may have been on repressed sexuality our focus in this volume lies elsewhere We are concerned herein with the expression of the cognitions motivations passions intentions perceptions and emotions associated with entrepreneurial behaviors We are attempting in this volume to expand on the work of why entrepreneurs think differently from other people Baron 1998 2004 During the decade of the 1990s the field of entrepreneurship research seemingly abandoned the study of the entrepreneur This was the result of earlier research not being able to demonstrate some unique entrepreneurial personality trait or characteristic Brockhaus and Horwitz 1986 It was both a naive and simplistic search for the holy grail of what made entrepreneurs the way they are However many of the researchers in this volume have never gave up the belief that a better understanding of the mind of the entrepreneur would give us a better understanding of the processes that lead to the creation of new ventures The Fifth Annual Conference of the Economic Forum of Entrepreneurship & International Business Ghada Gomaa A.
