Soldier G Desert Ranges:

Soldier G: The Desert Raiders Shaun Clarke, 2013-12-12 In the North African desert in 1941 the war is being won by the brilliant German commander General Rommel and the British are in retreat on all fronts A young British army lieutenant David Stirling believes that the only way to reverse this situation is to attack the enemy behind their own lines using small groups of men who can insert by land sea or air as required The first of these men are dropped by parachute to attack enemy airfields in the Gazala area but the raid is a disaster with many lives lost The following year the survivors of that operation now working hand in hand with the Long Range Desert Group mount a series of spectacular successful raids in heavily armed jeeps against airfields in the Benghazi region destroying nearly a hundred enemy aircraft leaving the German army reeling and reversing the course of the war In September 1942 having proved their worth that group of bold resourceful men is formed into a new British army regiment to be used for special and especially dangerous operations behind enemy lines They are listed officially as the 1st Special air Service Regiment the SAS Soldier G SAS The Desert Raiders is the colourful story of the birth of the most renowned regiment in the history of the British Army forged with fire and steel in the vast sun scorched plains of the North African desert pitting themselves against the might of the formerly invincible German Army and gaining a reputation that would make them a legend in their own time

The Eyes of the Desert Rats David Syrett, 2014-08-19 Made up of members of the Coldstream and Scots Guards British Yeomanry cavalry regiments New Zealanders South Africans and Indian Army men the Long Range Desert Group was perhaps the most effective of all the special forces established by the Allies during the Second World War It was able to go thousands of miles into enemy territory well armed and carrying its own supplies of petrol food and even water to last for weeks at a time something quite new in military history Using experience acquired in WWI and inter war exploration travels the LRDG thus developed the ability to appear almost anywhere in the desert to carry out almost every type of ground reconnaissance mission possible in desert warfare exploring and mapping the terrain transporting agents behind enemy lines or determining the strength and location of enemy forces with an extraordinary degree of accuracy and detail and thus able to verify or hide Ultra intelligence Equally important were their skills in the art of desert navigation demonstrated in the outflanking of the enemy during the Allied advance from El Alamein westward to Tunisia as led by the LRDG Once it had teamed up with the Special Air Service SAS made up of British Free French Commonwealth and Jewish Palestinian soldiers the LRDG perfected the art of irregular mechanized warfare conducted in the rear of the enemy's forces in the desert attacking enemy installations of all kinds mining roads raiding airfields destroying enemy aircraft on the ground and inflicting losses upon the enemy in inverse proportion to their own remarkably low rate of casualties Through meticulous research in original archival material this book thus tells the extraordinary story of how a relatively small number of dedicated men developed the methods and techniques for crossing by motor vehicle the depths of the then unmapped and seemingly impassable great deserts of Egypt and Libya the Western Desert during the British Army's North African Campaign of 1940-43. The Long Range Desert Group and the Special Air Service as a matter of course did extraordinary things the heroic was the commonplace. Their tactics, techniques and remarkable success in desert warfare continue to make them of great interest to the student of military affairs. Likewise, as it seeks to answer how the deep desert can best be used for military purposes, this study is pertinent to today's military operations perhaps more so than at any time since World War II. This study provides fresh insights into the nature of desert warfare past, present and future and reveals the peculiarities of this warfare often lost to modern armies, a virtual primer useful to commanders and soldiers alike. At long last, this book can find its rightful place in the classroom of military courses and colleges and in the hands of those interested in the intricacies, complexities and problems of military operations in desert regions. From the Foreword to the book by Colonel Retired David M. Glantz. Eyes Behind the Lines: US Army Long-Range Reconnaissance and Surveillance Units James F. Gebhardt, 2005. Eyes Behind the Lines: US Army Long Range Reconnaissance and Surveillance Units is the 10th study in the Combat Studies Institute (CSI) Global War on Terrorism (GWOT) Occasional Paper series. This work is an outgrowth of concerns identified by the authors of On Point. The United States Army in Operation IRAQI FREEDOM. Specifically, these authors called into question the use of long range surveillance (LRS) assets by commanders during that campaign and suggested an assessment ought to be made about their continuing utility and means of employment. This revision contains some important additional information the author received after this book was originally published. Major Retired James Gebhardt of CSI researched and wrote this Occasional Paper with that end in view. In this study, Gebhardt surveys the US Army's historical experience with LRRP and LRS units from the 1960s Cold War and Vietnam War through their resurgence in the 1980s and use in Operations JUST CAUSE and DESERT STORM to the advent of the GWOT. The paper's analytical framework examines each era of LRS units in terms of doctrine, organization, training, materiel, leadership and personnel. In doing so, the author makes a strong case for continuing the LRS capability in the Army's force structure. The variety of environments and enemies likely to be faced by the military in the GWOT continues to demand the unique human intelligence abilities of trained and organized LRS units. As the Army leads the Armed Forces of the United States in combating terrorists where they live, the lessons found in this survey remain timely and relevant. Last of the Horse Soldiers Uriah Orr, 2006-10. A young horse cavalry officer is rudely dismounted and transferred to the engineers. He then learns modern warfare in a hurry and is instrumental in preventing a catastrophe to American and British troops.

Vehicles of the Long Range Desert Group 1940-45 Gavin Mortimer, 2021-02-18. A fascinating study of the specialized vehicles, kit and techniques of the Long Range Desert Group who pioneered long range desert warfare in World War II and worked closely with the embryonic SAS. The Long Range Desert Group was one of the most famous special units of World War II, operating heavily modified vehicles deep behind enemy lines to gather intelligence and support the raids of David Stirling's new Special Air Service. When war broke out, a pre-war explorer and army officer, Ralph Bagnold, convinced Middle East Command of the need for a reconnaissance force to penetrate into Italian held desert Bagnold tested four types of vehicles over rocks and through soft sand to find the best one for his new unit He selected the Chevrolet WB 30 CWT as the signature vehicle of the Long Range Desert Group because it is fast simple and easy to handle With left hand steering horizontal grill and round fenders on the rear wheels these trucks proved themselves popular and effective The durability of the Chevrolets was demonstrated in January 1941 with an audacious raid on the Italian fort air strip at Murzuk hundreds of miles behind enemy lines This book explains the detail of all the vehicles of the LRDG as well as their modifications driving techniques and special kit for surviving behind enemy lines in one of the most hostile environments on earth Army Research and Development ,1973 Army RD & A. ,1972 Army RD & A Bulletin ,1973 Ayer Directory, Newspapers, Magazines and Trade Publications ,1909 Soldiers ,1992 Encyclopedia of World War II Alan Axelrod,2007 A reference to the ideological military political biographical and social topics surrounding World War II which is often considered the pivotal event of the twentieth century A Standard Dictionary of the English Language Isaac Kaufman Funk,1906 Long Range Desert Group W.
