Surveying The Interior Literary Cartographers And The Sense Of Place:

Surveying the Interior Rick Van Noy, 2003 In this work Rick Van Noy explores the ways that four American literary cartographers Henry David Thoreau Clarence King John Wesley Powell and Wallace Stegner concerned themselves with what it means to map or survey a place and what it means to write about it The Routledge Handbook of Literature and

Space Robert Tally Jr., 2017-01-06 The spatial turn in literary studies is transforming the way we think of the field The Routledge Handbook of Literature and Space maps the key areas of spatiality within literary studies offering a comprehensive overview but also pointing towards new and exciting directions of study The interdisciplinary and global approach provides a thorough introduction and includes thirty two essays on topics such as Spatial theory and practice Critical methodologies Work sites Cities and the geography of urban experience Maps territories readings The contributors to this volume demonstrate how a variety of romantic realist modernist and postmodernist narratives represent the changing social spaces of their world and of our own world system today Narrating the Landscape Matthew N.

Johnston, 2016-04-14 The American nineteenth century saw a largely rural nation confined to the Eastern Seaboard conquer a continent and spawn increasingly dense commercial metropolises This time of unprecedented territorial and economic growth has long been thought to find its most sweeping visual equivalent in the period's landscape paintings But as Matthew N Johnston shows the age's defining features were just as clearly captured in and motivated by visual material mass produced through innovations in printing technology Illustrated railroad and steamboat guidebooks tourist literature reports of geological surveys ethnographic studies all of these new print vehicles brought new meanings to the interplay of time space and place as American continental expansion peaked Instrumental to that project of national and industrial growth these commercial and scientific publications introduced readers travelers and citizens to a changing North American landscape made more accessible by new travel routes blazed between 1825 and 1875 More fundamentally as Johnston shows in his nuanced analysis by simulating new temporal frameworks through their presentation of landscape these print materials established new models of consumption and new kinds of knowledge critical to expansion Johnston relates these sources to traditional art historical subjects the landscapes of the Hudson River school luminist paintings by John Kensett and William Trost Richards Native portraits painted by George Catlin and photographs by Timothy O Sullivan to show how key discourses associated with expansion shifted away from picturesque strategies pairing imagery and narrative toward entirely new forms that gave temporal structure to viewers experience of an emerging modernity Revealing the crucial role of print and visual culture in shaping the nineteenth century United States Narrating the Landscape offers fresh insight into the landscapes Americans beheld and imagined in this formative era Postwestern Cultures Susan Kollin, 2007-01-01 Synthesizes topics of contemporary scholarship of the American West This work examines subjects ranging from the use of frontier rhetoric in Japanese American internment camp narratives to the emergence of agricultural tourism in the New West to the application of geographer J B Jackson's theories to vernacular or abandoned western landscapes      Representing the Crusades Sandra Gorgievski, 2023-09-11 How are the Crusades portrayed in popular culture today Have the medieval images of chivalric and military heroes survived the eras of Orientalism and decolonization The first of its kind this comparative study examines representations of the Crusades in both European and Arab medieval texts and in 20th and 21st century transmedia recreations It follows the cartography and illuminated manuscripts of the Middle Ages through modern hybridized narratives in novels film comics and gaming The shifting literary tastes political agendas and cultural exchanges of audiences on both sides of the Mediterranean reflect their anxieties and ideals      Eating Asian America Robert Ji-Song Ku, 2013-09-23 Examines the ways our conceptions of Asian American food have been shaped Chop suey Sushi Curry Adobo Kimchi The deep associations Asians in the United States have with food have become ingrained in the American popular imagination So much so that contentious notions of ethnic authenticity and authority are marked by and argued around images and ideas of food Eating Asian America A Food Studies Reader collects burgeoning new scholarship in Asian American Studies that centers the study of foodways and culinary practices in our understanding of the racialized underpinnings of Asian Americanness It does so by bringing together twenty scholars from across the disciplinary spectrum to inaugurate a new turn in food studies the refusal to yield to a superficial multiculturalism that naively celebrates difference and reconciliation through the pleasures of food and eating By focusing on multi-sited struggles across various spaces and times the contributors to this anthology bring into focus the potent forces of class racial ethnic sexual and gender inequalities that pervade and persist in the production of Asian American culinary and alimentary practices ideas and images This is the first collection to consider the fraught itineraries of Asian American immigrant histories and how they are inscribed in the production and dissemination of ideas about Asian American foodways      Geographic Personas Blake Allmendinger, 2021-06 Geographic Personas explores how writers dancers actors imposters and con artists were influenced by three transformative factors population growth technology and literary realism that contributed to their personal reinvention during the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries in the American West      Shades of Green Ian Frederick Finseth, 2009-01-01 Shades of Green offers a creative reimagining of early and antebellum American literary culture by exploring the complex web of relationships linking racial thought to natural science and natural imagery The book charts a dynamic shift in both polemical and imaginative literature during the century before the Civil War as scientific artistic and spiritual vocabularies regarding nature became increasingly important for authors seeking to mobilize public opinion against slavery or to redefine racial identity Finseth argues that these vocabularies both liberated and constrained antislavery philosophy and more broadly that our understanding of race in early American literature must take the natural world into account In doing this Finseth fuses a cultural history of the period with fresh readings of such major figures as Ralph Waldo Emerson Harriet Beecher Stowe and Frederick Douglass Drawing on a range of theoretical and disciplinary perspectives including aesthetics anthropology phenomenology and ecocriticism

Shades of Green demonstrates the agility with which human thought about the natural and the racial leapt across formal epistemological professional and artistic boundaries In this innovative account the politics of race and slavery are shown to have been deeply intertwined with putatively apolitical cultural understandings of the natural world The book will be of value to scholars in a variety of disciplines including American studies African American literary history and environmental philosophy

Spatial Imaginings in the Age of Colonial Cartographic Reason Nilanjana Mukherjee, 2020-05-18 This volume explores how India as a geographical space was constructed by the British colonial regime in visual and material terms It demonstrates the instrumentalisation of cultural artefacts such as landscape paintings travel literature and cartography as spatial practices overtly carrying scientific truth claims to materially produce artificial spaces that reinforced power relations It sheds light on the primary dominance of cartographic reason in the age of European Enlightenment which framed aesthetic and scientific modes of representation and imagination The author cross examines this imperial gaze as a visual perspective which bore the material inscriptions of a will to assert possess and control The distinguishing theme in this study is the production of India as a new geography sourced from Britain's own interaction with its rural outskirts and domination in its fringes This book Addresses the concept of production of space to study the formulation of a colonial geography which resulted in the birth of a new place later a nation Investigates a generative period in the formation of British India c 1750 1850 as a colonial territory vis vis its representation and reiteration in British maps landscape paintings and travel writings Brings Great Britain and British India together on one plane not only in terms of the physical geo spaces but also in the excavation of critical domains by alluding to critics from both spaces Seeks to understand the pictorial grammar that legitimised the expansive British imperial cartographic gaze as the dominant narrative which marginalised all other existing local ideas of space and inhabitation Rethinking colonial constructions of modern India this volume will be of immense interest to scholars and researchers of modern history cultural geography colonial studies English literature cultural studies art visual studies and area studies

The Rhizomatic West Neil Campbell, 2008-12-01 Is the American West in Sergio Leone's spaghetti westerns the same American West we find in Douglas Coupland's Generation X In Jim Jarmusch's movies In Calexico's music Or is the American West as this book tells us a constantly moving mutating idea within a complex global culture And what precisely or better yet imprecisely does it mean Using Gilles Deleuze and Félix Guattari's concept of the rhizome Neil Campbell shows how the West or westness continually breaks away from a mainstream notion of American rootedness and renews and transforms itself in various cultural forms A region long traversed by various transient peoples from tribes and conquerors to immigrants traders and trappers the West reflects a mythic quest for settlement permanence and synthesis even notions of a national or global identity at odds with its rootless history culture and nature Crossing the concept of roots with routes this book shows how notions of the West in representations ranging from literature and film to photography music and architectural theory give expression to ideas about identity nationhood and belonging in a world

increasingly defined by movement across time and borders The Rhizomatic West offers a new vision of the American West as a hybrid performative space a staging place for myriad intersecting and constantly changing identities Reimagining Environmental History Christian Knoeller, 2017-10-11 Christian Knoeller presents a radical reinterpretation of environmental history set in the heartland of America In an excellent model of narrative based scholarship this book dynamically reimagines American environmentalism across generations of writers artists and scientists Knoeller starts out with Audubon and cites Thoreau s journals in the 1850s as he assesses an early 17th century account of New England s natural resources by William Wood showing the epic decline in game and bird populations in Concord This reading of environmental history is replicated throughout with a gallery of novelists poets essayists and other commentators as they explore ecological memory and environmental destruction In apt discussions of Matthiessen Lopez Wendell Berry William Stafford and many others Knoeller offers vibrant insights into literary history He also cites his own memoir of perpetual development on his family s farm in Indiana enriching the scholarship and making an urgent plea for the healing aesthetics of the imagination Reading across centuries and genres Knoeller gives us a vibrant new appraisal of Midwestern North American interior literary traditions and makes clear how vital environmental writing is to this region To date no one has written such an eloquent and comprehensive cross genre analysis of Midwestern environmental literature GeoHumanities Michael Dear, Jim Ketchum, Sarah Luria, Doug Richardson, 2011-04-14 In the past decade there has been a convergence of transdisciplinary thought characterized by geography s engagement with the humanities and the humanities integration of place and the tools of geography into its studies GeoHumanities maps this emerging intellectual terrain with thirty cutting edge contributions from internationally renowned scholars architects artists activists and scientists This book explores the humanities rapidly expanding engagement with geography and the multi methodological inquiries that analyze the meanings of place and then reconstructs those meanings to provoke new knowledge as well as the possibility of altered political practices It is no coincidence that the geohumanities are forcefully emerging at a time of immense intellectual and social change This book focuses on a range of topics to address urgent contemporary imperatives such as the link between creativity and place altered practices of spatial literacy the increasing complexity of visual representation in art culture and science and the ubiquitous presence of geospatial technologies in the Information Age GeoHumanities is essential reading for students wishing to understand the intellectual trends and forces driving scholarship and research at the intersections of geography and the humanities disciplines These trends hold far reaching implications for future work in these disciplines and for understanding the changes gripping our societies and our globalizing world New and Experimental Approaches to Writing Lives Jo Parnell, 2019-08-01 With recent advances in digital technology a number of exciting and innovative approaches to writing lives have emerged from graphic memoirs to blogs and other visual verbal virtual texts This edited collection is a timely study of new approaches to writing lives including literary docu memoir autobiographical cartography social media life writing and autobiographical writing for children Combining literary theory with insightful critical approaches each essay offers a serious study of innovative forms of life writing with a view to reflecting on best practice and offering the reader practical guidance on methods and techniques Offering a range of practical exercises and an insight into cutting edge literary methodologies this is an inspiring and thought provoking companion for students of literature and creative writing studying courses on life writing memoir or creative non fiction

The Georgic Mode in Twentieth-Century American Literature Ethan Mannon, 2024-02-02 The Georgic Mode in Twentieth Century American Literature The Satisfactions of Soil and Sweat explores environmental writing that foregrounds labor Ethan Mannon argues that Virgil s Georgics as well as the georgic mode in general exerted considerable influence upon some of America s best known writers including Robert Frost Willa Cather and Wendell Berry and that these and others worked to revise the mode to better fit their own contexts This book also outlines the contemporary value of the georgic literary tradition two thousand years of writing that begins with the premise that humans must use the world in order to survive and search for a balance between human needs and nature s productive capacity In the georgic mode authors found an adaptable discourse that enabled them to advocate for the protection and responsible use of productive lands present rural places and people in all of their complexity explore human relationships with laboring animals and advertise the sensory pleasures of rooted work

Rethinking Sympathy and Human Contact in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Marianne Noble, 2019-03-28 The book analyzes the evolution of antebellum literary explorations of sympathy and human contact in the 1850s and 1860s It will appeal to undergraduates and scholars seeking new approaches to canonical American authors psychological theorists of sympathy and empathy and philosophers of moral philosophy

Carol and John Steinbeck Susan Shillinglaw, 2013-10-20 Carol Henning Steinbeck writer John Steinbeck s first wife was his creative anchor the inspiration for his great work of the 1930s culminating in The Grapes of Wrath Meeting at Lake Tahoe in 1928 their attachment was immediate their personalities meshing in creative synergy Carol was unconventional artistic and compelling In the formative years of Steinbeck s career living in San Francisco Pacific Grove Los Gatos and Monterey their Modernist circle included Ed Ricketts Joseph Campbell and Lincoln Steffens In many ways Carol s story is all too familiar a creative and intelligent woman subsumes her own life and work into that of her husband Together they brought forth one of the enduring novels of the 20th century      Thoreau the Land Surveyor Patrick Chura,2010-10-10 Henry David Thoreau one of America s most prominent environmental writers supported himself as a land surveyor for much of his life parceling land that would be sold off to loggers In the only study of its kind Patrick Chura analyzes this seeming contradiction to show how the best surveyor in Concord combined civil engineering with civil disobedience Placing Thoreau s surveying in historical context Thoreau the Land Surveyor explains the cultural and ideological implications of surveying work in the mid nineteenth century Chura explains the ways that Thoreau s environmentalist disposition and philosophical convictions asserted themselves even as he reduced the land to measurable terms and acted as an agent for bringing it under proprietary control He also describes in detail Thoreau s 1846 survey of Walden Pond By identifying the origins of Walden in of all places surveying data Chura re creates a previously lost supporting manuscript of this American classic      North American Players of Shakespeare

Michael W. Shurgot,2007 This is a collection of interviews of twenty one actors from Shakespeare theaters and festivals across North America from the Oregon Shakespeare Festival in Ashland to the Chicago Shakespeare Theatre and the Stratford Shakespeare Festival in Ontario The interviews celebrate the variety in education training and approaches to acting conducted by recognized performance scholars Thus this book combines scholarly expertise with actors insights to produce unique views on contemporary Shakespearean performances in the United States and Canada and fills an important niche in performance criticism Michael W Shurgot is Professor of Humanities at South Puget Sound Community College

Uncertain Chances Maurice S. Lee,2012-01-02 The role of chance changed in the nineteenth century and American literature changed with it Long dismissed as a nominal concept chance was increasingly treated as a natural force to be managed but never mastered New theories of chance sparked religious and philosophical controversies while revolutionizing the sciences as probabilistic methods spread from mathematics economics and sociology to physics and evolutionary biology Chance also became more visible in everyday life as Americans attempted to control its power through weather forecasting insurance policies military strategy and financial dealings Uncertain Chances shows how the rise of chance shaped the way nineteenth century American writers confronted questions of doubt and belief Poe s detective fiction critiques probabilistic methods Melville s works struggle to vindicate moral action under conditions of chance Douglass and other African American authors fight against statistical racism Thoreau learns to appreciate the play between nature s randomness and order and Dickinson works faithfully to render poetically the affective experience of chance surprise These and other nineteenth century writers dramatize the inescapable dangers and wonderful possibilities of chance Their writings even help to navigate extremes that remain with us today fundamentalism and relativism determinism and chaos terrorism and risk management the rational confidence of the Enlightenment and the debilitating doubts of modernity
