Survival In Two Worlds Moshoeshoe Of Les:

Survival in Two Worlds Leonard Monteath Thompson, 1975 A South African Kingdom Elizabeth A. Eldredge, 2002-06-06 The Basotho kingdom emerged and consolidated in the dramatic and dangerous environment of nineteenth century South Africa In this 2003 book Elizabeth Eldredge provides a rich description of local agriculture iron working and craft industries bringing out the resourceful responses of the Basotho to the challenges of drought and famine and explaining the dynamics of the competition for land During the colonial period regional economic integration increasingly influenced local production land use and internal politics and drew the Basotho into the regional migrant labour system Throughout these turbulent years the overriding interest of the Basotho was the pursuit of security Dr Eldredge analyzes the epic struggle which bound together rich and poor chiefs and commoners and men and women in a largely successful effort to sustain this fragile and innovative society in the face of political threats and environmental challenges

A History of the Church in Africa Bengt Sundkler, Christopher Stead, 2000-05-04 Bengt Sundkler's long awaited book on African Christian churches will become the standard reference for the subject Murder at Morija Tim Couzens, 2005 Who killed Jacottet Drawing on the great tradition of the locked room detective story Tim Couzens sets out eighty years after the event to solve the crime Status and Respectability in the Cape Colony, 1750-1870 Robert Ross, 1999-07-01 In a compelling example of the cultural history of South Africa Robert Ross offers a subtle and wide ranging study of status and respectability in the colonial Cape between 1750 and 1850 His 1999 book describes the symbolism of dress emblems architecture food language and polite conventions paying particular attention to domestic relationships gender education and religion and analyses the values and the modes of thinking current in different strata of the society He argues that these cultural factors were related to high political developments in the Cape and offers a rich account of the changes in social identity that accompanied the transition from Dutch to British overrule and of the development of white racism and of ideologies of resistance to white domination The result is a uniquely nuanced account of a colonial society From Béarn to Southern Africa or The Amazing Destiny of Eugène Casalis Marie-Claude Mosimann-Barbier, 2014-06-02 The end of the 20th century was a time of post colonial repentance in the Western world On 23rd February 2005 a law was passed in France stressing the positive role of the French presence overseas triggering considerable controversy However the fascinating history of the French missionary Eugène Casalis illustrates that there are some cases where the French presence overseas is still perceived positively as shown by the commemorative stamps issued by the Kingdom of Lesotho in 1983 celebrating the 150th anniversary of the arrival of the first French missionaries in the country Of course the context was unique since France had no economic or political stakes in that part of the world and therefore the French missionary presence was totally apostolic and disinterested Eugène Casalis was born in Béarn at the foot of the Pyrénées in 1812 and remained deeply attached to his native land throughout his life In 1832 he was sent to Southern Africa by the Paris Evangelical Missionary Society

Unexpected circumstances led him to Basutoland present day Lesotho where he struck up an unfailing friendship based on mutual trust and esteem with the Sotho King Moshoeshoe In addition to his missionary task Casalis transcribed the language and contributed largely to the economic development of the country while concurrently supporting the King in his efforts to convince the British to help him fight Boer expansionism He gave invaluable diplomatic aid and advice to the King during the 23 years he spent in the country Back in France in 1855 he became the director of the House of Missions where he trained a number of young men to become missionaries His eldest son became a missionary to Lesotho and his eldest daughter married a missionary with whom she returned to Lesotho where she brought up a large family All this has contributed to making the name of Casalis well known in the Kingdom to this day To a certain extent Lesotho's accession to independence in 1966 can be perceived as a distant result of Casalis's work The present King Letsie III is a direct descendant of King Moshoeshoe

Royal tourists, colonial subjects and the making of a British world, 1860-1911 Charles

Reed, 2016-02-01 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This study examines the ritual space of nineteenth century royal tours of empire and the diverse array of historical actors who participated in them It suggests that the varied responses to the royal tours of the nineteenth century demonstrate how a multi centred British imperial culture was forged in the empire and was constantly made and remade appropriated and contested In this context subjects of empire provincialised the British Isles centring the colonies in their political and cultural constructions of empire Britishness citizenship and loyalty

Popular Politics in the History of South Africa, 1400-1948 Paul S. Landau, 2010-09-20 Popular Politics in the History of South Africa 1400 1948 offers an inclusive vision of South Africa's past Drawing largely from original sources Paul Landau presents a history of the politics of the country's people from the time of their early settlements in the elevated heartlands through the colonial era to the dawn of Apartheid A practical tradition of mobilization alliance and amalgamation persisted mutated and occasionally vanished from view it survived against the odds in several forms in tribalisms Christian assemblies and other seemingly hybrid movements and it continues today Landau treats southern Africa broadly concentrating increasingly on the southern Highveld and ultimately focusing on a transnational movement called the Samuelites He shows how people's politics in South Africa were suppressed and transformed but never entirely eliminated

The Farmerfield Mission Fiona Vernal, 2012-09-27 In The Farmerfield Mission Fiona Vernal recounts the history of an African Christian community on South Africa's troubled Eastern Cape frontier Forged in the secular world of war violence and colonial dispossession and subjected to grand evangelical aspirations and social engineering Farmerfield's heterogeneous mix of former slaves and displaced Africans from politics beyond the borders of the Cape Colony entered the powerful ideological arena of anti slavery humanitarianism and evangelicalism As a farm an African residential site amid a white community and a Christian mission on a violent frontier Farmerfield was at once a space a place and an idea that Africans missionaries whites and colonial authorities competed to mold according to their own visions

Founded in 1838 and destroyed by the apartheid government in 1962 Farmerfield's residents struggled over the meaning and content of a civilized Christianized lifestyle deploying a range of tactics from negotiation and dissimulation to deference and defiance. In the process they vernacularized Christianity, endured the ravages of colonialism and apartheid, used their historical connections to the Methodist Church and South Africa's land reform legislation to regain land, and launched the Farmerfield experiment anew amid new debates about the meaning of post-apartheid land access and citizenship. Farmerfield's propitious rise, protracted frustrating decline, and fledgling reincarnation reflect epochal chapters in South Africa's colonial, apartheid, and post-apartheid history as Africans attempted to define the terms of their cultural autonomy and economic independence.

Writing and Translating Francophone Discourse Paul F. Bandia, 2014-01-01 This book is a much needed contribution to interdisciplinary research on the intersection of French and Francophone Studies and Translation Studies. It highlights the symbiotic relationship between the two disciplines whereby theories and concepts developed in translation studies provide useful models and paradigms for studying francophone literature while major concepts that hold sway in the francophone world provide a solid basis for elucidating and understanding translation phenomena. The book is at once a contribution to the growing field of postcolonial francophone studies and the sub area of postcolonial translation theory. Contributors are experts from a variety of disciplines and hail from various regions across the globe. What unites them is their interest in translation and its conceptualization both as an interlinguistic practice and a metaphor for intercultural communication and transcultural relations. The contributions draw on literature, film, historical documents, and critical theories by French and francophone thinkers, highlighting the significance of translation for African, Caribbean, and migrant francophone discourse.

Kleio, 2000 The History of South Africa Roger B. Beck, 2013-11-12 South Africa's history stretches back to the beginnings of human existence. This book provides an overview to South Africa's multiple millennia of history, covering its long and often troubled past to its current status in the 21st century. A newly revised and thoroughly updated version of a popular Greenwood publication, The History of South Africa, Second Edition, provides readers with readable, accessible information on the nation's prehistory, early history, and colonial past, its unfortunate apartheid era, as well as new coverage of South Africa's more recent events in the 20th and 21st centuries. This work presents unique, extended coverage of South Africa's prehistory, beginning 3.5 million years ago, and incorporating information gleaned from the most recent archaeological finds. The text reflects the most current historiography on African settlement and life before the arrival of Europeans, accurately describes the colonial era as a period of European hegemony and intense African resistance, and discusses in great detail the apartheid years and the events leading up to majority rule in 1994. This second edition also includes an updated timeline, new biographical sketches of notable people, and supplies recent print and electronic resources in the bibliography.

Honour in African History John

Iliffe, 2005 This is the first published account of the role played by ideas of honour in African history from the fourteenth century to the present day It argues that appreciation of these ideas is essential to an understanding of past and present African behaviour Before European conquest many African men cultivated heroic honour others admired the civic virtues of the patriarchal householder and women honoured one another for industry endurance and devotion to their families These values both conflicted and blended with Islamic and Christian teachings Colonial conquest fragmented heroic cultures but inherited ideas of honour found new expression in regimental loyalty respectability professionalism working class masculinity the changing gender relationships of the colonial order and the nationalist movements which overthrew that order Today the same inherited notions obstruct democracy inspire resistance to tyranny and motivate the defence of dignity in the face of AIDS

The Age of Sutton Hoo M. O. H. Carver, 1992 The Age of Sutton Hoo runs from the fifth to the eighth century AD the age which separates the fall of the Roman Empire from the emergence of the nation states that have endured down to the present day This is a dark and difficult age where hard evidence is rare but glittering and richly varied myths king lists placenames sagas settlements runic inscriptions palaces belt buckles post holes middens and graves says the editor are all grist to our mill This volume celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of that most famous burial of the early middle ages the great treasure now in the British Museum unearthed from the centre of a ninety foot long ship buried in the sand beneath a mound on remote Suffolk heathland at Sutton Hoo It also marks the end of the major campaign of excavations carried out there over the past decade which involved the widest possible range of disciplines The scholars whose work is gathered here represent together with Martin Carver's concluding chapter summarising the results of the latest excavations the current state of knowledge about this extraordinary site that it still has secrets to reveal is shown by the last minute discovery of a striking burial of a young noble with his horse and grave goods

Dr Philip's Empire Tim Keegan, 2016-05-01 Dr John Philip towered over nineteenth century South African history championing the rights of indigenous people against the growing power of white supremacy but today he is largely forgotten or misremembered From the time he arrived in South Africa as superintendent of the London Missionary Society in 1819 Philip played a major role in the idealist and humanitarian campaigns of the day fighting for the emancipation of slaves protecting the Khoi against injustice and opposing the dispossession of the Xhosa in the Eastern Cape A fascinating picture of South Africa and the British Empire during a time of great change Dr Philip's

Empire documents Philip's encounters with Dutch colonists, English settlers and indigenous South Africans, his never-ending battles with fellow missionaries and colonial authorities and his lobbying among the powerful for indigenous people's civil rights. A controversial and influential figure, Philip was considered an interfering radical subversive by believers in white superiority but he has been labelled a condescending hypocritical white liberal in a more modern age. This book seeks to revive him from these judgements and to recover the real man and his noble but doomed struggles for justice in the context of his times.

African Agency and European Colonialism Femi James Kolapo, Kwabena O. Akurang-Parry, 2007. This work provides insights into important moments in the European colonization project in Africa and into structural intersections between the active agents of colonialism and the different layers of Africa's socio-political structures. It reveals the indispensability of the African peoples, their pre-colonial establishments and knowledge of the colonial encounter. The book also clarifies the significant impact that African people's choices, chances, mistakes and internal politics had in structuring their colonial experience and European dominance. Colonized Africans and colonizing Europeans had to negotiate the nature of their relationship; the grid, nexus and hierarchy of colonial power and authority were constantly under construction, deconstruction and reconstruction. African Agency and European Colonialism expounds upon these beclouded features of Africa's engagement of colonialism. It is appropriate for students, scholars, political analysts, sociologists and other professionals interested in the social and political history of Africa. Book jacket

Afrique plurielle Albert S. Gérard, 1996. Les textes rassemblés dans Afrique plurielle mettent en relief quelques aspects de la foisonnante diversité littéraire du continent. Commentant par l'Afrique dite francophone, l'auteur évoque d'abord la littérature bilingue arabe-français du Maghreb, il décrit les rapports entre le roman ségalais contemporain, la tradition locale d'historiographie arabe et les poésies orales en langues vernaculaires, il définit la spécificité littéraire du Zaïre ancienne colonie belge. Un deuxième groupe d'essais initie le lecteur des aspects peu connus des littératures anglophones et lusophones s'attardant en passant un des premiers maîtres du roman africain, Thomas Mofolo. Les chapitres suivants traitent des problèmes linguistiques que rencontre l'écrivain africain, le cartel entre trois modes d'expression, son idiome maternel qui n'existe souvent que dans l'oralité, la langue européenne de l'ancien colonisateur encore inaccessible à la majorité de son peuple et le parler créole qui est en train de se développer dans les centres urbains. S'inspirant enfin de son expérience personnelle, Albert Gérard définit une méthode pour l'historiographie littéraire d'un continent dont presque chaque état est lui-même une entité complexe, polyethnique et plurilingue.
