Surviving Grief And Learning To Live Again:

Surviving Grief ... and Learning to Live Again Catherine M. Sanders, 1992-08-04 An insightful compassionate account of the grieving process that helps us through the pain and isolation experienced with the loss of a loved one. We're never really prepared for the loss of someone we love. Thrown into a state of emotional chaos, we experience rage, guilt, anxiety, and intense sadness all at once. It's the oldest story in the world: we tell ourselves millions of people have had to cope with this before, and yet we always believe that what we are experiencing is unique to us. We feel isolated in our anguish and often ashamed of what we are feeling. A profoundly compassionate and insightful book, Surviving Grief: Learning to Live Again offers you the support and understanding you need to get you through this difficult time. Written by Dr. Catherine Sanders, a therapist and researcher specializing in bereavement issues and one who has lived through the loss of close family members, it helps you to see that what you are feeling is part of a natural process of readjustment and renewal. According to Dr. Sanders, grieving like any other natural regenerative process must be allowed to run its proper course if we are ever to regain our equilibrium and continue on with our lives. To help us better understand the process, she describes the five universal phases of grief: Shock, Awareness of Loss, Conservation, and The Need to Withdraw, Healing, and Renewal, and guides us through each. Drawing directly from her own experiences and those of her clients and her research studies, she delves deeply and compassionately into the different experiences of grief and talks about what it means to lose a mate, a parent, or a child. And she discusses the factors that can have an influence on the grieving process, such as age, gender, and the circumstances surrounding the loved one's death.

A Personal Grief N. E. Kurz, 2025-04-03 A Personal Grief Finding Faith Through Loss When a profound loss or tragedy of any kind enters into our lives it's not unusual for the event to knock us down in the totality of our body soul and spirit We've suffered loss beyond what we feel capable of surviving A child's death for example is a major change in life which can cause some bereaved parents to re-evaluate everything including their religious convictions Likewise after trauma of any kind whether it's a great personal tragedy of another sort or a natural disaster of some kind such as a hurricane in Florida or a tornado in Missouri or a raging wild fire in California whatever the event we're startled into realizing our profound need for stability and assistance in our lives And that's because sometimes we have to suffer great loss before we can wake up and respond with joy and gratitude to the good news of the incredible mercy grace and purpose for our lives of the One who made us This is the message to which N E Kurz turns in this book She notes that in our attempt to deal with our life after any great loss we'll actually need to dig into all facets of our existence We must persevere in all areas of our lives in order to regroup and to obtain complete healing We must take care of the earthly the physical and emotional part of our temporal being as well as strive for an understanding of the spiritual aspect the Ultimate Reality But how are we to do that We have to gain strength physically and emotionally to get on with what really matters our understanding of the spiritual part But where does that lead us Great loss in our lives may provoke either a strengthening of faith or conversely a crisis of faith Even persons who previously held strong religious convictions may sometimes find themselves struggling with religious concepts that do not seem to match up with the sorrows of life On the other hand for an agnostic person profound loss or crisis may result in a search for or a confrontation of various areas of doubts and questions in order to clarify the meaning and the relevance of personal faith However in trying to make a search for spiritual truth of this sort individuals may run into an assortment of modern problems which loom as serious barriers to faith making it difficult for them to actually find truth Although a majority of men and women in our day struggle with tough questions such as these most Christians downplay the importance of religious questioning Thus seekers of truth are often reluctant to ask the awesome questions lurking just beneath the surface Understanding first hand the current deemphasis on religious questioning N E Kurz has published this work the first book of her Window of Opportunity Trilogy both to call attention to the seriousness of the situation and to provide a context to help those struggling with both the temporal and the spiritual aspects of recovery from loss The second book will be A Reasonable Faith Finding Belief Through Rational Evidence Forthcoming Spring 2025 And the third will be A Perilous Time Keeping Faith During Periods of Adversity Forthcoming Summer 2025 In part one of A Personal Grief the author shares the story of her daughter Karen's untimely death which awakened her to the realization of her need to search for objective truth But then miraculously the Lord helped her to find answers to her questions lead her to faith and call her to write Hence she discovered faith through loss But in part two of her book she shares vital material that can assist others in their confrontations with both the temporal and the spiritual aspects of their loss First the temporal by sharing with them about overcoming such things as shock emotional pain depression panic guilt anger health aspects life changes and so forth Then the spiritual by helping them in their search for answers and Ultimate Reality

The Bereavement of Martyred Palestinian Children Maram Masarwi,2019-11-11 This book examines the phenomenon of individual and collective bereavement in Palestinian society It seeks to explore the boundaries of the discourse of bereavement and commemoration in that society through the interactive relations between religion nationality and gender and the ways these influence the shaping of the mourning process for Palestinian parents who have lost their children in the second al Aqsa Intifada Over the course of the book s five chapters Maram Masarwi scrutinizes how these components have shaped the differences in behavior between bereaved fathers and bereaved mothers what characterizes these differences how they are expressed and how they have managed to shape the characteristics of the experience of Palestinian bereavement The Sun Will Come out Tomorrow Wayne Triplett, 2010-09-07 When a child dies even an adult child bereaved parents are left with a stomachache that never ends No parent expects to make their child's funeral arrangements The death of a child is a loss only those who have lived through it can fully comprehend A grieving parent wonders if the sun will ever show its face again After Wayne Triplett lost his son he set out to write the book he most needed one that would offer solace support and inspiration Telling his story and the stories of other bereaved parents he discovered that grief never ends but that if we open up to it it can transform itself We can with God's help turn our heart wrenching loss into something that will make a difference in the lives of others One day we will pass through the storm of sorrow into new realms of sunlight and hope Find the road back to joy Meet yourself in this book Learn to live in the new normal Affirm that life is still worth living Find answers to the hard questions about death Discover how God can truly heal a broken heart Encounter real grief and real people dealing with it Explore the journey through grief after the ultimate loss To find hope to find faith to find the way we can turn our sadness into service for others and into love in our own lives these are the greatest challenges of loss They are also the greatest opportunities All proceeds from the sale of this book benefit the Kevin Wayne Triplett Memorial Scholarship Fund Men Don't Cry, Women Do Kenneth J. Doka, Terry L. Martin, 2014-03-05 Do men and women grieve differently This text while emphasizing that there are many ways to cope with grief offers a refreshing change from the popular gender stereotypes of grief Two patterns of grieving are described an intuitive pattern where individuals experience and express grief in an affective way stereotyped as female and an instrumental pattern where grief is expressed physically or cognitively stereotyped as male A third pattern representing a blending of these two is also introduced Of critical importance is that such patterns are related to but not determined by gender and each has distinct strengths and weaknesses Organized into three main parts this topical new text begins by defining terms introducing and delineating the grief patterns and rooting the book's concept in contemporary theories of grief The second part speculates on factors that may influence individuals' patterns of coping with loss e.g. personality gender culture etc The final part considers implications and therapeutic interventions likely to be effective with different types of grievers Grieving Beyond Gender Kenneth J. Doka, Terry L. Martin, 2011-01-19 Grieving Beyond Gender Understanding the Ways Men and Women Mourn is a revision of Men Don't Cry Women Do Transcending Gender Stereotypes of Grief In this work Doka and Martin elaborate on their conceptual model of styles or patterns of grieving a model that has generated both research and acceptance since the publication of the first edition in 1999 In that book as well as in this revision Doka and Martin explore the different ways that individuals grieve noting that gender is only one factor that affects an individual's style or pattern of grief The book differentiates intuitive grievers where the pattern is more affective from instrumental grievers who grieve in a more cognitive and behavioral way while noting other patterns that might be more blended or dissonant. The model is firmly grounded in social science theory and research. A particular strength of the work is the emphasis placed on the clinical implications of the model on the ways that different types of griever might best be supported through individual counseling or group support.

Death and Dying John F. Szabo, 2009-11-02 While it can be traced to the 1700s, the term thanatology has gained traction in recent decades to refer to the study of death. Because of the breadth of the published material and the challenges of discovery in large bibliographic databases and catalogs, finding and identifying monographic material on death, dying, grief, and bereavement can be extremely challenging. Although there have been several bibliographical resources published on thanatology, those titles were incomplete, limited in scope, or leaned heavily toward one area of the field. In Death and Dying: An Annotated Bibliography of the Thanatological Literature, John F. Szabo provides more than 2,200 citations of monographs on the science and study of death and dying. Among the areas this volume addresses are the psychological, philosophical, and attitudinal aspects of coping and dealing with the burdens of caregiving and working in the helping professions; instructional and educational topics for practitioners, primarily health care providers; cultural differences in bereavement, rituals, and grief; mourning and loss. In addition, notable titles on or relating to death and dying in popular culture, death themes in literature, methods of death, or specific ethical policy or public issues are also included when they contribute important information to subject areas on which the book focuses. This book will be helpful to students, researchers, academics, caregivers, health care professionals, psychologists, social workers, and anyone with an interest in death, dying, bereavement, or the care of the terminally ill.
