Building Sustainable Peace Arnim Langer, Graham K. Brown, 2016-06-17 Countries emerging from civil war or protracted violence often face the daunting challenge of rebuilding their economy while simultaneously creating the political and social conditions for a stable peace The implicit assumption in the international community that rapid political democratisation along with economic liberalisation holds the key to sustainable peace is belied by the experiences of countries such as Iraq and Afghanistan Often the challenges of post conflict reconstruction revolve around the timing and sequencing of different reform that may have contradictory implications Drawing on a range of thematic studies and empirical cases this book examines how post conflict reconstruction policies can be better sequenced in order to promote sustainable peace The book provides evidence that many reforms that are often thought to be imperative in post conflict societies may be better considered as long term objectives and that the immediate imperative for such societies should be people centred policies

Globalization and Challenges to Building Peace Ashok Swain,Ramses Amer,Joakim Öjendal,2008 Although globalization creates new wealth and encourages technological innovations it has also failed to support and promote sustainable human development and thus can be accused of generating anguish and deprivation This has already resulted in growing civil unrest and in some cases contributed to armed conflicts in the developing world However peace and conflict research has hitherto somehow overlooked the influence of increasing globalization on the formation and management of such emerging conflicts This impressive edited volume asks the question what concrete measures exist which can be effective in addressing the causes of conflict and building peace in an increasingly interdependent world

Crafting Peace Caroline A. Hartzell, Matthew Hoddie, 2009-02-27 The recent efforts to reach a settlement of the enduring and tragic conflict in Darfur demonstrate how important it is to understand what factors contribute most to the success of such efforts In this book Caroline Hartzell and Matthew Hoddie review data from all negotiated civil war settlements between 1945 and 1999 in order to identify these factors What they find is that settlements are more likely to produce an enduring peace if they involve construction of a diversity of power sharing and power dividing arrangements between former adversaries The strongest negotiated settlements prove to be those in which former rivals agree to share or divide state power across its economic military political and territorial dimensions This finding is a significant addition to the existing literature which tends to focus more on the role that third parties play in mediating and enforcing agreements Beyond the quantitative analyses the authors include a chapter comparing contrasting cases of successful and unsuccessful settlements in the Philippines and Angola respectively

Transformative Transitional Justice and the Malleability of Post-Conflict States Padraig McAuliffe, 2017-03-31 Despite the growing focus on issues of socio economic transformation in contemporary transitional justice the path dependencies imposed by the political economy of war to peace transitions and the limitations imposed by weak statehood are seldom considered This book explores transitional justice's prospects for seeking economic justice and reform of structures of poverty in the specific context of post conflict states

Democratization in Africa: Challenges and Prospects Gordon Crawford, Gabrielle Lynch, 2013-09-13 It is two decades since the third wave of democratization began to roll across sub Saharan Africa in the early 1990s This book provides a very timely investigation into the progress and setbacks over that period the challenges that remain and the prospects for future democratization in Africa It commences with an overall assessment of the lack of progress made from 1990 to 2010 exploring positive developments with reasons for caution Based on original research subsequent contributions examine various themes through country case studies inclusive of the routinisation of elections accompanied by democratic rollback and the rise of hybrid regimes the tenacity of presidential powers the dilemmas of power sharing ethnic voting and rise of a violent politics of belonging the role of donors and the ambiguities of democracy promotion Overall the book concludes that steps forward remain greater than reversals and that typically though not universally sub Saharan African countries are more democratic today than in the late 1980s Nonetheless the book also calls for more meaningful processes of democratization that aim not only at securing civil and political rights but also socio economic rights and the physical security of African citizens This book was originally published as a special issue of Democratization

Strengthening Peace in Post-Civil War States Matthew Hoddie, Caroline A. Hartzell, 2010-09-30 Among the more frequent and most devastating of conflicts civil wars from Yugoslavia to Congo frequently reignite and even spill over into the international sphere Given the inherent fragility of civil war peace agreements innovative approaches must be taken to ensure the successful resolution of these conflicts Strengthening Peace in Post Civil War States provides both analytical frameworks and a series of critical case studies demonstrating the effectiveness of a range of strategies for keeping the peace Coeditors Matthew Hoddie and Caroline A Hartzell here contend that lasting peace relies on aligning the self interest of individuals and communities with the society wide goal of ending war if citizens and groups have a stake in peace they will seek to maintain and defend it The rest of the contributors explore two complementary approaches toward achieving this goal restructuring domestic institutions and soft intervention Some essays examine the first tactic which involves reforming governments that failed to prevent war while others discuss the second an umbrella term for a number of non military strategies for outside actors to assist in keeping the peace

Routledge Handbook of African Politics Nic Cheeseman, David Anderson, Andrea Scheibler, 2017-07-05 Providing a comprehensive and cutting edge examination of this important continent Routledge Handbook of African Politics surveys the key debates and controversies dealing with each of the major issues to be found in Africa s politics today Structured into 6 broad areas the handbook features over 30 contributions focused around The State Identity Conflict Democracy and Electoral Politics Political Economy Development International Relations Each chapter deals with a specific topic providing an overview of the main arguments and theories and explaining the empirical evidence that they are based on drawing on high profile cases such as the Democratic Republic of Congo Kenya Nigeria Somalia South Africa Rwanda and Zimbabwe The Handbook also contains new contributions on a wide range of topical issues including terrorism the growing influence of China civil war and transitional justice making it required reading for non specialists and experts alike Featuring both established scholars and emerging researchers this is a vital resource for all students of African Studies democratization conflict resolution and Third World politics

Power-Sharing and Consociational Theory Brighid Brooks Kelly, 2019-03-25 Fifty years ago academics and policymakers throughout the world

agreed that it was impossible for certain sets of historically antagonistic groups to coexist peacefully on a long term basis This book examines the system of consociation which was identified by Arend Lijphart and ended that pessimistic consensus Lijphart s specific observations concerning the impact of consociation are assessed quantitatively and qualitatively facilitated through careful operationalization of his descriptions of consociation s four components grand coalition minority veto proportionality and segmental autonomy Insights derived from a dataset representing the experiences of eighty eight countries are examined further through case study analysis of the seven societies most often discussed in relation to consociation Austria Belgium Canada the Netherlands Northern Ireland South Africa and Switzerland The components of consociation are found to promote lasting peace in divided societies most successfully when combined with additional incentives for the encouragement of cross cutting cleavages and shared loyalties Decentralization and Intrastate Struggles Kristin M. Bakke, 2015-06-04 There is no one size fits all decentralized fix to deeply divided and conflict ridden states One of the hotly debated policy prescriptions for states facing self determination demands is some form of decentralized governance including regional autonomy arrangements and federalism which grants minority groups a degree of self rule Yet the track record of existing decentralized states suggests that these have widely divergent capacity to contain conflicts within their borders Through in depth case studies of Chechnya Punjab and Quebec as well as a statistical cross country analysis this book argues that while policy fiscal approach and political decentralization can indeed be peace preserving at times the effects of these institutions are conditioned by traits of the societies they are meant to govern Decentralization may help preserve peace in one country or in one region but it may have just the opposite effect in a country or region with different ethnic and economic characteristics
