Living in the Labyrinth of Technology Willem H. Vanderburg, 2005-12-15 From the very beginnings of their existence human beings have distinguished themselves from other animals by not taking immediate experience for granted Everything was symbolized according to its meaning and value a fallen branch from a tree became a lever a tree trunk floating in the river became a canoe Homo logos created communities based on cultures humanity's first megaproject Further symbolization of the human community and its relation to nature led to the possibility of creating societies and civilizations Everything changed as these interposed themselves between the group and nature Homo societas created ways of life able to give meaning direction and purpose to many groups by means of very different cultures humanity's second megaproject What Das Kapital did for the nineteenth century and La technique did for the twentieth Willem H Vanderburg's Living in the Labyrinth of Technology seeks to create for the twenty first century an attempt at understanding the world in a manner not shackled to overspecialized scientific knowing and technical doing Western civilization may well be creating humanity's third megaproject based not on symbolization for making sense of and living in the world but on highly specialized desymbolized knowing stripped of all peripheral understanding Vanderburg focuses on two interdependent forces in his narrative namely people changing technology and technology changing people The latter aspect although rarely considered turns out to be the more critical one for understanding the spectacular successes and failures of contemporary ways of life As technology continues to change the social and physical world the experiences of this world grow people's minds and society's cultures thereby re-creating human life in the image of technology Living in the Labyrinth of Technology argues that the twenty-first century will be dominated by this pattern unless society intervenes on human as opposed to technical terms General Technical Report PNW-GTR, 1996 Advances in Production Management Systems: Innovative and Knowledge-Based Production Management in a Global-Local World Bernard Grabot, Bruno Vallespir, Gomes Samuel, Abdelaziz Bouras, Dimitris Kiritsis, 2014-08-26 The three volumes IFIP AICT 438 439 and 440 constitute the refereed proceedings of the International IFIP WG 5.7 Conference on Advances in Production Management Systems APMS 2014 held in Ajaccio France in September 2014 The 233 revised full papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 271 submissions They are organized in 6 parts knowledge discovery and sharing knowledge based planning and scheduling knowledge based sustainability knowledge based services knowledge based performance improvement and case studies International Agricultural Development Carl K.
