Sustaining Export Oriented Development:

Sustaining Export-Oriented Development Ross Garnaut, Enzo Grilli, James Riedel, 1995-09-29 This book first published in 1995 looks at the East Asian economies post war development and assesses the possibilities of transferring East Asian development elsewhere Written and edited by economists Sustaining Export Oriented Development traces the changes in the thinking of policy makers and advisers about the policies required for economic development especially the changed emphasis from import substitution to outward orientation which coincided with the East Asian economies success Several contributors focus on identifying the key factors in the growth of these dynamic economies Others look at future constraints such as the environmental limits to growth and the sustainability of export growth in China This book makes a significant contribution to the discussion of economic growth and development issues and will be of interest to those in economics trade and aid and others concerned with public policy

Export-oriented Development Strategies Vittorio Corbo, 2019-03-08 This book originated with a conference that we held at Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile in late 1981 When we organized the conference our focus was to provide policymakers and entrepreneurs with a summary of the experiences and lessons of countries that have pursued policies geared to export led growth After the conference we decided that the papers would be useful to a much wider audience and should be prepared for publication The revised papers are contained in this volume

Post-covid Asia: Deglobalization, Fourth Industrial Revolution, And Sustainable Development Hyun-hoon Lee, Donghyun Park, 2020-12-07 Coronavirus disease COVID 19 has been an unprecedented once in a century gamechanger for the world The central focus of Post COVID Asia is the new world that will emerge after the coronavirus In particular this book explores how deglobalization will proceed in the post COVID world and what kind of impact deglobalization will have on Asian economies After all in the last few decades Asia has leveraged globalization to become the world s fastest growing most dynamic region Therefore an urgent challenge facing Asian economies is to figure out how to survive and thrive when the globalization which served them so well is giving way to deglobalization Opportunities have emerged for Asian economies amid the winding down of the third wave of globalization In fact the next wave of globalization is already beginning to take shape in tandem with the Fourth Industrial Revolution which is full of exciting new technologies This book offers insights that would help governments companies and people in Asia to ride the next wave of globalization to power their prosperity

Rebalancing for Sustainable Growth Masahiro Kawai, Jong-Wha Lee, 2015-04-30 The Asian model of export led growth served it well in the post war period but prolonged sluggish growth of the developed economies following the global financial crisis together with growing inequality and rising environmental problems point to the need for a new growth model The purpose of this book is to describe the challenges facing Asian economies in the post global financial crisis environment and to identify structural issues and policies that can help guide Asian policymakers to expand the growth potential of domestic and regional demand in coming years and thereby create a basis for balanced sustainable and inclusive long term growth These issues and policies span a variety of dimensions including macroeconomic policy monetary fiscal and foreign currency management real sector issues trade and industrial structure infrastructure development labor market and social policy financial sector reform and regulation and regional cooperation and architecture Key recommendations to achieve these goals include measures to deepen social protection to support social resilience increase infrastructure investment to create a seamless Asia enhance productivity in the services sector establish a region wide free trade agreement to encourage intraregional trade in goods and services and investment through economies of scale and dynamic efficiency of a larger market promote a shift to a low carbon society and support green growth and deepen and integrate financial markets to facilitate the recycling of Asia s high savings for investment within the region

R. Redclift,1987 Argues that environmental problems need to be looked at internationally in terms of the global economic system and that the degradation of the environment is not natural but an historical process linked to economics and politics The WTO and Sustainable Development Gary P. Sampson,2005-01-01 Land and Sustainable Development in Africa Kojo Sebastian Amanor,Sam Moyo,2013-07-18 This book links contemporary debates on land reform with wider discourses on sustainable development within Africa Featuring chapters and in depth case studies on South Africa and Zimbabwe Malawi Kenya Botswana and West Africa it traces the development of ideas about sustainable development and addresses a new agenda based on social justice The authors critically examine contemporary neoliberal market led reforms and the legacy of colonialism on the land question They argue that debates on sustainable development should be placed in the context of structural interests access and equity rather than technical management of land and resources. Additionally, they show that these structural factors cannot be transformed by institutional reform based on notions of elective democracy, community participation, and market reform, but require a far more radical programme to redress the injustices of the colonial system that continue today. The book advocates a commitment to building sustainable livelihoods for farmers, calling for a redistribution of land and natural resources to challenge existing economic relations and frameworks for development.

Sustainable Development in India and South-East Asia Ishwar C. Dhingra, 2023-06-02

India and the South East Asia are typical case studies of interest for students of development economics. These countries have served as role models for most of the emerging economies. Sustainable Development in India and South East Asia attempts to explore and analyse the nature of economic relationship between India and the South East Asia. It assesses the prospects for this relationship to grow and flourish. Finally, it makes suggestions to strengthen and carry forward this relationship. Towards a Sustainable Asia Association of Academies of Sciences in Asia, 2012-01-12

This series of books are the output of the research project called Sustainable Development in Asia (SDA) which was initiated by the Association of Academies of Sciences in Asia (AASA). They are comprised of one synthesis report which is entitled Towards a Sustainable Asia: Green Transition and Innovation and four thematic reports on natural resources, energy, the environment, and climate change and culture from particular perspectives of agriculture. They aim to:

1. investigate common sustainability issues faced by all Asian countries, including population increase, poverty alleviation, pollution control, ecological restoration, as well as regional problems such as water shortage in West and Central Asia, energy security in Northeast Asia; development model
2. analyze and summarize of best practices towards sustainable development in Asia;
3. bring forward suggestions and policy options for promoting green transition, system innovation, and sustainable development of Asia.

With best practice guidelines for a sustainable Asia, this series of reports for the first time systematically address the common challenges and regional problems in regard to Asia's natural resources, use, pollution reduction, and climate protection, sustainable energy, development, and innovations for environment friendly and culture compatible agriculture. They will provide handy and useful information to researchers, government policy makers, and the general public who have concerns about Asia's sustainable development.

AASA is a scientific and technological organization in Asia established in 2000, comprising of 26 member academies all over Asia. Its vision is to provide a forum for the discussion of all issues relevant to science and technology development and its application on national level within Asia.
