Khouri, Hamid Algar, 2022-04-29 This bilingual anthology is the first attempt to present a substantial collection of contemporary Arabic poetry in the English language It acquaints the English speaking reader with the modern development of one of the world s major poetic traditions and affords insight into the contemporary cultural situation of the Arab peoples English translations of Arabic poetry have suffered from aspirations to geographic completeness of representation and excessive concern with the Neo Classicist school The present anthology regards poetic quality as the primary criterion of selection and displays an emphatic interest in the poets of free verse It presents three successive generations the Syro Americans the Egyptian modernist and the poets of free verse movement linked together by a progressive shift from emphasis on form to emphasis on content and form a relatively detached portrayal of the outside world to a concern with the expression of individual experience Numerous contemporary poets make their first appearance in English some of them having written pieces specially for this anthology It is hoped that the bilingual character of the anthology will suit it for use by students of Arabic literature At the same time the book is intended for a wider readership with general poetic and literary interests An important criterion in composing the anthology was the viability of a poem in its English translation as a piece of literature as well as the excellence of its Arabic original if the translators have been successful in applying this criterion the anthology should afford much aesthetic pleasure The work should be of considerable interest also to students of comparative literature as it demonstrates the influence on modern Arab letters of several Western poets notably Eliot Yeats and Pound This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1974 Jewish Aramaic Poetry from Late Antiquity Laura Suzanne Lieber, 2018-04-10

Employing contemporary literary theory eight members of the Chicago school of Arabic and Persian literature reorient the critical approach to classical Middle Eastern literature The authors analyze a broad spectrum of poetry ranging from the pre Islamic ode of the sixth century to seventeenth century Persian Safavid Moghul verse Among issues considered are the ritual and sacrificial aspects of literature the transition from orality to literacy the iconographical and mythic dimensions of philology and imitation as a form of creation The inclusion of contemporary translations of all the poems discussed is an important feature for students of Middle Eastern literature and comparative poetics Abū Tammām and the Poetics of the 'Abbāsīd Age Suzanne Pinckney Stetkevych, 2023-12-28

 Foremost among the poetic accomplishments of the Abbasid age was the sudden flowering of a highly rhetorical and strikingly modern style of poetry termed badʿ. It found its most radical and controversial exponent in the celebrated panegyrist to the courts of al Ma'mūn and al Mu'tasim Ab Tammām Habīb ibn Aws al-Tha'libī. The present study offers a reevaluation of the Arabic literary dispute over Ab Tammām and badʿ. It then proposes a redefinition of his diwan and of his major anthology the Hamasa as a metapoesis that served to decode the poetic tradition of the pre-Islamic desert for the Islamic Abbasid caliph and his urbane and urban courtiers and subjects and conversely to encode contemporary Arab-Islamic political experiences in classical form. This book is extensively illustrated with original translations. The Japan Review, 1920 What Kind of a Thing Is a Middle English Lyric? Cristina Maria Cervone, Nicholas Watson, 2022-08-30
 What Kind of a Thing Is a Middle English Lyric considers issues pertaining to a corpus of several hundred short poems written in Middle English between the twelfth and early fifteenth centuries. The chapters draw on perspectives from varied disciplines including literary criticism, musicology, art history, and cognitive science. Since the early 1900s the poems have been categorized as lyrics, the term now used for most kinds of short poetry, yet neither the difficulties nor the promise of this treatment have received enough attention. In one way the book argues considering these poems to be lyrics obscures much of what is interesting about them. Since the nineteenth century lyrics have been thought of as subjective and best read without reference to cultural context, yet nonetheless they are taken to form a distinct literary tradition. Since Middle English short poems are often communal and usually spoken, sung, and/or danced, this lyric template is not a good fit. In another way, however, the very differences between these poems and the later ones on which current debates about the lyric still focus suggest they have much to offer those debates and vice versa. As its title suggests, this book thus goes back to the basics, asking fundamental questions about what these poems are, how they function formally and culturally, how they are and are not related to other bodies of short poetry, and how they might illuminate and be illuminated by contemporary lyric scholarship. Eleven chapters by medievalists and two responses by modernists, all in careful conversation with one another, reflect on these questions and suggest very different answers. The editors' introduction synthesizes these answers by suggesting that these poems can most usefully be read as a kind of play in several senses of that word. The book ends with eight new Middle English lyrics by seven contemporary poets. The Japan Review Katsuji Katō, 1920 The Poetics of Islamic Legitimacy Suzanne Pinckney Stetkevych, 2002-10-17 transcends the realm of literature and poetic criticism to include virtually every field of Arabic and Islamic studies. Roger Allen. Throughout the classical Arabic literary tradition from its roots in pre-Islamic Arabia until the end of the Golden Age in the 10th century, the courtly ode or qasida dominated other poetic forms. In The Poetics of Islamic Legitimacy Suzanne Stetkevych explores how this poetry relates to ceremony and political authority and how the classical Arabic ode encoded and promoted a myth and ideology of legitimate Arabo-Islamic rule. Beginning with praise poems to pre-Islamic Arab kings

Stetkevych takes up poetry in praise of the Prophet Mohammed and odes addressed to Arabo Islamic rulers She explores the rich tradition of Arabic praise poems in light of ancient Near Eastern rites and ceremonies gender and political culture Stetkevych's superb English translations capture the immediacy and vitality of classical Arabic poetry while opening up a multifaceted literary tradition for readers everywhere The Cooing of the Dove and the Cawing of the Crow: Late 'Abbāsīd Poetics in Abū al-'Alā' al-Ma'arrī's Saq al-Zand and Luzūm Mā Lā Yalzam Stetkevych Suzanne P., 2022-10-24 In The Cooing of the Dove and the Cawing of the Crow Suzanne Pinckney Stetkevych offers original translations close readings and new interpretations of selected poems from the two contrasting diwans of the blind Late Abbāsīd master poet Ab al Al al Ma arr d 449 H 1057 C E The first is Saq al Zand Sparks of the Flint the highly esteemed collection of qa dah poetry of his youth which he later disavowed The second is Luz m M L Yalzam Requiring What Is Not Required the programmatic double rhymed collection from his later period of withdrawal and seclusion She argues that the contrasting poetics of engagement and poetics of disengagement of the two diwans reflect the transition from High Classical to Post Classical aesthetics
