The Japanese Occupation of Malaya and Singapore, 1941-45 Paul H. Kratoska, 2018-04-30 Japanese forces invaded Malaya on 8 December 1941 and British forces surrendered in Singapore 70 days later. Japan would rule the territory for the next 3 years. Early efforts to maintain pre-war standards of comfort gave way to a grim struggle for survival as the vibrant economy ground to a halt and residents struggled to deal with unemployment, shortages of consumer goods, sharp price rises, a thriving black market, and widespread corruption. People were hungry, dressed in rags, and falling victim to treatable diseases for which medicines were unavailable and there was little reason to hope for better in the future. Using surviving administrative papers, oral materials, intelligence reports, and post-war accounts by Japanese officers, this book presents a picture of life in occupied Malaya and Singapore. It shows the impact of war and occupation on a non-belligerent population and creates a new understanding of the changes and the continuities that underlay the post-war economy and society. The book was first published in 1998 and is now re-issued in a new edition that incorporates information from newly translated Japanese documents and other recent discoveries. The Japanese Occupation, 1942-1945 Beng Luan Tan, Irene Quah, 1996

A General History Of The Chinese In Singapore Chong Guan Kwa, Bak Lim Kua, 2019-06-21 A General History of the Chinese in Singapore documents over 700 years of Chinese history in Singapore from Chinese presence in the region through the millennium-old Hokkien trading world to the waves of mass migration that came after the establishment of a British settlement and through to the development and birth of the nation. Across 38 chapters and parts, readers are taken through the complex historical mosaic of Overseas Chinese social, economic, and political activity in Singapore and the region, such as the development of maritime junk trade, plantation industries, and coolie labour; the role of different bangs, clan associations, and secret societies; as well as Chinese leaders, the diverging political allegiances including Sun Yat-sen's revolutionary activities and the National Salvation Movement leading up to the Second World War; the transplanting of traditional Chinese religions; the changing identity of the Overseas Chinese; and the developments in language and education policies, publishing, arts, and more. With Pride in our Past, Legacy for our Future as its key objective, this volume aims to preserve the Singapore Chinese story, history, and heritage for future generations, as well as keep our cultures and traditions alive. Therefore, the book aims to serve as a comprehensive guide for Singaporeans, new immigrants, and foreigners to have an epitome of the Singapore society. This publication is supported by the National Heritage Board's Heritage Project Grant. Related Link s

The Japanese Occupation of Malaya Paul H. Kratoska, 1997-01-01 Japan attacked British-ruled Malaya on 8 December 1941 as part of a wave of military actions that toppled the British, Dutch, and American colonial regimes in Southeast Asia. Within seventy days, the conquest of Malaya was complete, and British forces in Singapore surrendered on 15 February 1942. The three and a half years of Japanese rule are generally considered to mark a profound transition in the history of the Malay peninsula but little is known about this period This book uses the limited administrative papers that survived in Malaya oral sources and accounts written by Japanese officers involved in the Malayan campaign to flesh out the story War and Memory in Malaysia and Singapore Patricia Pui Huen Lim,Diana Wong,2000 This volume consists of selected papers presented at a workshop on War and Memory in Malaysia and Singapore to commemorate the 50th anniversary of World War II plus two additional papers The papers reveal the importance of oral history where documentary records are lacking

Decolonizing the History Curriculum in Malaysia and Singapore Kevin Blackburn,ZongLun Wu,2019-05-09 Decolonizing the History Curriculum in Malaysia and Singapore is a unique study in the history of education because it examines decolonization in terms of how it changed the subject of history in the school curriculum of two colonized countries Malaysia and Singapore Blackburn and Wu s book analyzes the transition of the subject of history from colonial education to postcolonial education from the history syllabus upholding the colonial order to the period after independence when the history syllabus became a tool for nation building Malaysia and Singapore are excellent case studies of this process because they once shared a common imperial curriculum in the English language schools that was gradually decolonized to form the basis of the early history syllabuses of the new nation states they were briefly one nation state in the early to mid 1960s The colonial English language history syllabus was decolonized into a national curriculum that was translated for the Chinese Malay and Tamil schools of Malaysia and Singapore By analyzing the causes and consequences of the dramatic changes made to the teaching of history in the schools of Malaya and Singapore as Britain ended her empire in Southeast Asia Blackburn and Wu offer fascinating insights into educational reform the effects of decolonization on curricula and the history of Malaysian and Singaporean education New Perspectives on the Japanese Occupation in Malaya and Singapore,

1941-1945 Yōji Akashi,Mako Yoshimura,2008-12-01 Information on the Japanese Occupation of Malaya and Singapore is sparse and Japanese language materials are particularly difficult to find because the Japanese military systematically destroyed war related documents when the war ended The contributors to this volume participated in a Forum that spent four years locating surviving materials relating to the Occupation of Malaya The group had three objectives to collect primary sources to interview Japanese military and civilian officials who took part in the military administration and people in Malaysia and Singapore who experienced the period and to publish the results of the studies Based on interviews with Japanese Malaysians and Singaporeans who lived through the war years and materials gathered from archives and libraries in Britain Malaysia Singapore USA Australia and India the Forum has produced a number of Japanese language publications This book makes available some of their research findings in English Topics covered include the Watanabe Military Administration Japanese research activities in Malaya Japan s Economic Policies Malayan Communist Party Leaders and the Anti Japanese Resistance the Massacre of Chinese in Singapore Railway Transportation during the Japanese Occupation Period The Singapore Internment Camp for Allied Civilian Women and the Japanese Surrender This volume is a revised

Historical Dictionary of Singapore Justin Corfield,2010-12-02 In spite of Singapore's small size it has long had a major impact on the world because of its geographical location and its wealth The British initially made the island a major port for the shipping of goods and later as an airline hub for the region These factors along with a steady government have helped to contribute to the country's affluence This multicultural multiracial and multi religious island nation is the envy of many countries in the world which have tried to emulate the economic success of Singapore The new edition of the Historical Dictionary of Singapore has been completely rewritten since the first edition was released 20 years ago It relates the history of this country through a chronology an introductory essay an expansive bibliography and over 500 cross referenced dictionary entries on significant persons events places organizations and other aspects of Singapore history from the earliest times to the present

The Site of the Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus in Singapore Sandra Hudd,2016-06-17 The Site of the Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus in Singapore Entwined Histories of a Colonial Convent and a Nation 1854-2015 explores key issues and developments in colonial and postcolonial Singapore by examining one particular site in central Singapore the former Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus established in 1854 and now a food and entertainment complex The Convent was an early provider of social services and girls education almost a mini city within walls including a thriving community of schools an orphanage and a women s refuge World War II and the Japanese occupation followed by the creation of the new Republic of Singapore presented a new set of challenges but it was the convent s size and prime location that made it attractive for urban redevelopment in the 1980s and led to government acquisition demolition of some buildings and the remainder put out to private tender The chapel and the former nuns residence are classified as National Monuments but in line with government policy of adaptive re use of heritage sites the complex now contains bars and restaurants and the deconsecrated chapel is used for wedding receptions and events Tracking the physical and usage changes of the site this book works to make sense of that eventful journey a paradoxical journey that moves only in time not in space and includes abandoned babies French nuns Japanese bombings and twenty first century dance parties In a society that has undergone massive change economically and socially and above all transitioned from a small colonial enterprise to a wealthy independent city state those physical changes and differing usages of the Convent site over the years track the changes in the nation The wider ongoing tensions between heritage conservation and the modern global city are explored by examining what has been chosen for preservation the quintessentially Singaporean hybridity of the commercial reuse of historic buildings as well as the nostalgia for what has been lost
