A Dynamic Systems Approach to the Development of Cognition and Action Esther Thelen, Linda B. Smith, 1994 A Dynamic Systems Approach to the Development of Cognition and Action presents a comprehensive and detailed theory of early human development based on the principles of dynamic systems theory Beginning with their own research in motor perceptual and cognitive development Thelen and Smith raise fundamental questions about prevailing assumptions in the field They propose a new theory of the development of cognition and action unifying recent advances in dynamic systems theory with current research in neuroscience and neural development In particular they show how by processes of exploration and selection multimodal experiences form the bases for self organizing perception action categories Thelen and Smith offer a radical alternative to current cognitive theory both in their emphasis on dynamic representation and in their focus on processes of change Among the first attempt to apply complexity theory to psychology they suggest reinterpretations of several classic issues in early cognitive development The book is divided into three sections The first discusses the nature of developmental processes in general terms the second covers dynamic principles in process and mechanism and the third looks at how a dynamic theory can be applied to enduring puzzles of development Cognitive Psychology series The Origins and Organization of Adaptation and Maladaptation, Volume 36 Dante Cicchetti, Glenn I. Organizations and Development in Infancy and Early Childhood H. Bloch, B.I. Bertenthal, 2012-12-06 This book is the outcome of a Nato Workshop held in France in July 1989 The workshop was organized to examine current ideas about sensory motor organizations during human infancy and their development through early childhood The study of sensory motor development is experiencing a profound shift in scope focus methodology and theoretical foundations Many of these changes are quite new and not yet well covered in the literature We thought it would be useful for some of the leading researchers in this field to convene together and to compare notes and collectively to establish future directions for the field The reasons for a new conceptualization of sensory motor development are no doubt numerous but three are especially significant 1 One concerns a shift from studying either sensory or motor processing to investigation of the relations between the two 2 The second is connected to the new emphasis on action and its implications for goal directed and intentional behaviour extending over time 3 Lastly new theories and methodologies provide access to new tools for studying and conceptualizing the developmental process 1 One of the most enduring legacies of the behaviorist perspective has been a focus on the stimulus and the response to the exclusion of the relation between them Pick 1989 Historically this bias translated into a research agenda in which the investigator was concerned with either perceptual or motor competence but rarely the relation between them The Oxford Handbook of Developmental Psychology, Vol. 1 Philip David Zelazo, 2013-03-21 This handbook provides a comprehensive survey of what is now known about psychological development from birth to biological maturity and it highlights how cultural social cognitive neural and molecular processes work together to yield human behavior and changes in human behavior The Development of Coordination in Infancy G.J.P. The Oxford Handbook of Developmental Psychology, Vol. 1 Philip David Zelazo, 2013-01-15 Research in developmental psychology which examines the history origins and causes of behavior and age related changes in behavior seeks to construct a complex multi level characterization of behavior as it unfolds in time across a range of time scales from the milliseconds of reaction time to the days and weeks of childhood the decades of the human lifespan and even beyond to multiple generations Behavior in this view is embedded within what is essentially a dynamic system of relations extending deep within individuals Thorough and engaging this handbook explores the impact of this research on what is now known about psychological development from birth to biological maturity and it highlights the extent to which the most cutting edge developmental science reflects a new kind of intellectual synthesis one that reveals how cultural social cognitive neural and molecular processes work together to yield human behavior and changes in human behavior With insightful contributions from more than 50 of the world s leading developmental scientists these two volumes will serve as an influential and informed text for students and as an authoritative desk reference for years to come Mind as Motion Robert F.

Port, Timothy Van Gelder, 1995 The first comprehensive presentation of the dynamical approach to cognition It contains a representative sampling of original current research on topics such as perception motor control speech and language decision making and development Child Development Michael Little, 2017-03-02 This book provides a good foundation for understanding influences on children s health and development The volume brings together in a single reference source the world s leading thinkers on children s health and development It sets out the basic concepts that underpin the study of child development and response to impairments to development including attachment changes in brain structure and resilience The book explores the idea of life course development explaining how experiences at each stage in a person s life shapes his or her future It goes on to example the relative contribution of societal neighbourhood school family and individual influences to child well being This includes a look at the way these forces interact such as when genes shape environments and vice versa The book summarises the evidence on the incidence and consequences of impairments to children s health and development covering both the majority of typical children and the minority who experience significant problems

Current Topics in Children's Learning and Cognition Heidi Kloos, Bradley Morris, Joseph Amaral, 2012-11-14 As a whole the essays in this book address theoretical and empirical issues related to children s learning and cognition The first essay titled Learning in Cognitive Niches treats the process of sense making on a theoretical level discussing the complexity of factors that give rise to children s learning It is followed by an essay titled Using the Dynamics of a Person Context System to Describe Children s Understanding of Air Pressure that applies ideas from complexity science and dynamics systems theory to children s learning about science The next four essays summarize and synthesize already published findings in an effort to go beyond individual viewpoints and present a more nuanced picture of children s sense making In particular two of these summaries Preschoolers Learning Science Myth or Reality and The Emergence of Scientific Reasoning focus on children s ability to make sense of their physical environment The essay Cognition and the Child Witness Understanding the Impact of Cognitive Development in Forensic Contexts seeks to shed light on children s sense making relevant to forensic issues And the essay Beyond the Black and White of Autism How Cognitive Performance Varies with Context ventures in the area of autism a disorder that demonstrates atypical processes of combining pieces of information The final two essays provide original data to add to the discussion of what factors affect cognitive functioning In particular the essay Cognitive Fitness in Young Adult Video Game Players seeks to re assess the often assumed relation between video gaming and various aspects of thinking memory intelligence and visual spatial abilities And the essay Impact of Moving Away from Home on Undergraduate Metacognitive Development explicitly connects life circumstances to the ability to monitor and control one s thinking Together the collection of essays are a further step towards understanding the process of sense making as children and young adults interact with their environment
