Sigmund Freud 1856-1939 was an Austrian neurologist and the father of psychoanalysis, a clinical method for treating psychopathology through dialogue between a patient and a psychoanalyst. In creating psychoanalysis, Freud developed therapeutic techniques such as the use of free association and discovered transference, establishing its central role in the analytic process. Freud's redefinition of sexuality to include its infantile forms led him to formulate the Oedipus complex as the central tenet of psychoanalytical theory. His analysis of dreams as wish fulfillments provided him with models for the clinical analysis of symptom formation and the mechanisms of repression, as well as for elaboration of his theory of the unconscious. Freud postulated the existence of libido, an energy with which mental processes and structures are invested and which generates erotic attachments, and a death drive, the source of compulsive repetition, hate, aggression, and neurotic guilt.

Taboo Avenged Griffin T. Garnett, 1997. Taboo Franz Steiner, 2013-11-05. Scholars have been trying to explain taboo customs ever since Captain Cook discovered them in Polynesia.

over 200 years ago The subject has been treated at length but none of the theories has more than a limited validity so numerous are the taboos recorded and so diverse the societies in which they occur This book contains chapters on Taboo as a Victorian invention The complicated taboos in the Pentateuch Taboos in Polynesia Originally published in 1956 Taboo Topics Norman L. Farberow, 2017-07-05 Why is it so hard to investigate taboo topics A myriad of forces shape and fashion human action reaction thought and feeling and these are not always well understood Norman L Farberow argues that culture itself provides structure for its members developing in a well defined way the rules to which they will conform Such rules find expression not only in written laws and regulations but include and most often stem from unwritten folkways customs and especially taboos the subject of this book The researchers reporting in this volume take no position on the nature of a taboo itself but concentrate on the difficulty in investigating taboos As members of society and human beings they do make judgments and personal investments Thus when taboos continue or develop without useful society enriching functions or facilitate self destructive activities they raise questions about why they persist Such topics include many areas some social such as sex death and peace others more academic such as parapsychology graphology religion and hypnosis Peace and the public are included in the discussion because they are emotion laden areas and powerful and important factors in a shrinking world and expanding universe Peace especially has begun to be looked upon with suspicion perhaps a real commentary on our times This probing collection will be sure to interest sociologists anthropologists and all other social scientists
