Towards an Articulated Phenomenological Interpretation of Architecture M. Reza Shirazi, 2014-04-23 This book sheds light on the contemporary status of phenomenological discourse in architecture and investigates its current scholastic as well as practical position Starting with a concise introduction to the philosophical grounds of phenomenology from the points of view of Husserl Merleau Ponty and Heidegger it presents a critical reading of the works of some leading figures of architectural phenomenology in both theory and practice such as Christian Norberg Schultz Kenneth Frampton Juhani Pallasmaa and Steven Holl Highlighting the main challenges of the current phenomenological discourse in architecture this book formulates a more articulated method of phenomenological interpretation dubbed phenomenal phenomenology as a new and innovative method of interpreting the built environment Finally using Tadao Ando's Langen Foundation Museum as a case study it investigates the architect's contribution to phenomenological discourse interprets and analyzes the Museum building using the new heuristic method and thus provides a clear example of its applicability By introducing a clear articulated and practical method of interpretation this book is of interest to academics and students analyzing and studying architecture and the built environment at various scales Resisting Postmodern Architecture Stylianos Giamarellos, 2022-01-10 Since its first appearance in 1981 critical regionalism has enjoyed a celebrated worldwide reception The 1990s increased its pertinence as an architectural theory that defends the cultural identity of a place resisting the homogenising onslaught of globalisation Today its main principles such as acknowledging the climate history materials culture and topography of a specific place are integrated in architects education across the globe But at the same time the richer cross cultural history of critical regionalism has been reduced to schematic juxtapositions of the global with the local Retrieving both the globalising branches and the overlooked cross cultural roots of critical regionalism Resisting Postmodern Architecture resituates critical regionalism within the wider framework of debates around postmodern architecture the diverse contexts from which it emerged and the cultural media complex that conditioned its reception In so doing it explores the intersection of three areas of growing historical and theoretical interest postmodernism critical regionalism and globalisation Based on more than 50 interviews and previously unpublished archival material from six countries the book transgresses existing barriers to integrate sources in other languages into anglophone architectural scholarship In so doing it shows how the periphery was not just a passive recipient but also an active generator of architectural theory and practice Stylianos Giamarellos challenges long held central notions of supposedly international discourses of the recent past and outlines critical regionalism as an unfinished project apposite for the 21st century on the fronts of architectural theory history and historiography

Transcultural Architecture Thorsten Botz-Bornstein, 2016-03-09 Critical Regionalism is a notion which gained popularity in architectural debate as a synthesis of universal modern elements and individualistic elements derived from local cultures This book shifts the focus from Critical Regionalism towards a broader concept of Transcultural Architecture and defines Critical Regionalism as a subgroup of the latter One of the benefits that this change of perspective brings about is that a large part of the political agenda of Critical Regionalism which consists of resisting attitudes forged by typically Western experiences is softened and negotiated according to premises provided by local circumstances A further benefit is that several responses dependent on factors that initial definitions of Critical Regionalism never took into account can now be considered At the book's centre is an analysis of Reima and Raili Pietilä's Sief Palace Area project in Kuwait Further cases of modern architecture in China Korea and Saudi Arabia show that the critique which holds that Critical Regionalism is a typical western exercise is not sound in all circumstances The book argues that there are different Critical Regionalisms and not all of them impose Western paradigms on non Western cultures Non Western regionalists can also successfully participate in the Western enlightened discourse even when they do not directly and consciously act against Western models Furthermore the book proposes that a certain architectural rationality can be contained in architecture itself not imposed by outside parameters like aesthetics comfort or even tradition but flowing out of a social game of which architecture is a part The key concept is that of the form of life as developed by Ludwig Wittgenstein whose thoughts are here linked to Critical Regionalism Kenneth Frampton argues that Critical Regionalism offers something well beyond comfort and accommodation What he has in mind are ethical prescripts closely linked to a Contemporary Architecture Marta Tobolczyk, 2021-07-05 This book offers an exciting journey into the most recent architectural achievements seen in their complexity and plurality and described in the most objective and truthful way The development of contemporary architecture is presented as it commenced more than a century ago as it tried to reconcile democratic ideals with the forces of the Industrial Era In contrast to many books on the modern day art of building the development of architecture is not described chronologically here but rather independently for each selective architectural trend This allows a better explanation of some evolutionary processes and the continuity of each trend Thanks to such an approach this book will serve as a convenient tutorial for courses on history of contemporary architecture in all art and architectural schools
