The French Pacific Islands Virginia Thompson, Richard Adloff, 2023-11-15 It is high time that someone made a sober study of the French Pacific islands They have not been entirely neglected though it has been the fashion to dip a dilettante pen into Tahitian though scarcely New Caledonian themes and French geographers have given us some splendid work But Thompson and Adloff refuse to be diverted by swaying palms and curving beaches they give evenhanded treatment to both French Polynesia and New Caledonia they view the Pacific from the perspective of Franco African experience and they write in English The two territories of course offer a telling contrast Polynesia versus Melanesia far flung archipelagoes versus the Grande Terre classic Pacific paradise versus onetime convict colony lagoon encircled basalt pinnacles versus scrub clad hills and nickel mines The authors shrewdly press on common themes especially economic dependence and an allegedly anomalous but also anachronistic retreat from self government in a decolonizing world though such themes scarcely dominate the book The presentation is straightforward and methodical First French Polynesia then New Caledonia first the land and its indigenous occupants then annexation and administration colonial settlement and development World War I to World War II political parties of the left and the right government and autonomy rural and industrial life trade and transportation labor religion and culture Even if the book is oriented more toward the historian and the political scientist it offers plenty of grist for the geographer's mill There are solid studies of the economy of both territories and several sometimes tantalizingly brief glimpses of the regional variations in peoples and places Protestants and Catholics urban drift and rural malaise crowding islands and depopulated archipelagoes Author's Gordon R Lewthwaite Review by Gordon R Lewthwaite Source Geographical Review Vol 63 No 2 Apr 1973 pp 296 298 Published by American Geographical Society Stable URL <http://www.jstor.org/stable/213427> It is high time that someone made a sober study of the French Pacific islands They have not been entirely neglected though it has been the fashion to dip a dilettante pen into Tahitian though scarcely New Caledonian themes and French geographers have

Countries and the Outside World The first focus is on the question of image namely stereotypes of a destination held by tourists and potential tourists the extent to which residents for their part really welcome visitors and the role tourism might play in changing pre established images The second theme is tourism s impacts notably the economic and socio cultural effects of international tourism s intrusion in the region which though often hotly debated have attracted relatively little empirical research The third focus is on the challenges of how PICs articulate with their external geo political and physical environment These involve existing relations with formal colonial centres geographical isolation the need for greater air access to the outside world and for more tourists and the continuing threat to several PICs of global warming which increased air travel will inevitably exacerbate This text will be of interest to tourism students researchers and academics in the fields of tourism development studies and cultural studies South Pacific Islands Michael Brillat,1999 Nelles guides provide information on the history culture features and minimal travel information about various islands in the South Pacific
