Grandmaster Xiong Yanghe's Taijiquan System Michael DeMarco, 2025-09-28 This book presents the historical background of taijiquan tai chi in China and one of its major representatives Xiong Yanghe 1889-1981. By providing the time and place of Xiong's life, his involvement in the military, and his emigration to Taiwan where he taught for decades, a rare view of the fullness of taiji is presented. He had the innate ability and the opportunities to study with many great teachers. The result was that Grandmaster Xiong was a teacher who embodied a stunning comprehension of taijiquan, including open hand and weapon routines that are practiced solo or with a partner. Xiong's respected position among the few luminaries in the art helps scholars, teachers, and practitioners to better understand the depth of taiji culture. 6 x 9 paperback, 126 pages, 408 illustrations. A needle may draw a thread through printed pages to bind a book. In this little memoir, I feel like a needle that drew a common thread through a segment of martial art history. This book details three interrelated activities: 1. martial art studies, 2. involvement as founder of Via Media Publishing producing a quarterly journal and books, and 3. teaching martial arts. Publishers, writers, researchers, and serious martial art practitioners will benefit with the detailed overview of Via Media and its publications. Via Media produced the Journal of Asian Martial Arts, known for its high academic and aesthetic standards. Its contents reflect the history of two decades and provide rich information for practitioners and scholars, making The Best Fight a valuable reference work. In addition to reading, the primary way to learn a martial art is through instruction. In reading about my studies and teaching experience, readers can relate to their own involvement in martial arts. What is important here is the portrayal of my instructors, their teaching methods, and reasons for being involved in martial arts. Their accounts should offer insights and inspiration for others who study and practice any martial art.
