Autoethnographies in Psychology and Mental Health Alec Grant, Jerome Carson, 2024-09-30 This autoethnographic volume gathers a multiplicity of different voices in autoethnographic research from across psychology and mental health disciplines to address topics ranging from selfhood, trauma, emotional understanding, clinical psychology and the experience of grief. Edited by two leading figures, this volume broadens the concept of psychology beyond its conventional mainstream academic boundaries and challenges pre-conceived and received notions of what constitutes psychology and mental health. This book collects new autoethnographic writers in psychology and mental health from across as diverse a range of disciplines and in doing so makes a strong case for the legitimacy of subjectivity, emotionality and lived experience as epistemic and pedagogic resources. The collection also troubles the related concept of mental health. In contemporary times, this is either biomedically over-colonised, welcomed by some but resisted by others, often regarded by lay and professional people alike in terms of an ordered or disordered binary, comforting for some but associated with stigma and othering for others, or at worst is reduced to a set of hackneyed memes, the stuff of Breakfast television, well intentioned and undoubtedly reassuring and helpful for some but patronising and naïve for others. Overall, the volume promotes the subjective and lived experiential voices of its contributors, the hallmark of autoethnographic writing. Autoethnographies in Psychology and Mental Health will be of interest to psychology and mental health students and professionals with an interest in qualitative inquiry as it intersects with autoethnography and mental health. *People v. victim in the Irish criminal process Shane Kilcommíns, Susan Leahy, Kathleen Moore Walsh, Eimear Spain, 2018-03-20 Concern for crime victims has been a growing political issue in improving the legitimacy and success of the criminal justice system through the rhetoric of rights. Since the 1970s there have been numerous reforms and policy documents produced to enhance victims' satisfaction in the criminal justice system. The Republic of Ireland has seen a sea change in more recent years from a focus on services for victims to a greater emphasis on procedural rights. The purpose of this book is to chart these reforms against the backdrop of wider political and regional changes emanating from the European Union and the European Court of Human Rights and to critically examine whether the position of crime victims has actually ameliorated. The book discusses the historical and theoretical concern for crime victims in the criminal justice system, examines the variety of forms of legal and service provision inclusion and concludes by analysing the various needs of victims which continue to be unmet
