The Indonesian Dilemma:

The Indonesian Dilemma Mochtar Lubis, 2000-12 Born in Sumatra in 1922 and educated at the Sekola Ekonomi Indonesia as well as the University of Hawaii Mochtar Lubis is a distinguished journalist and respected in both the East and West Noted for his forthright views he was imprisoned for over four years and under house arrest for another four and a half years during the Soekarno regime As will be seen in this book he remains a fearless upholder of the values and principles which he cherishes and a devoted lover of his homeland Indonesia Indonesian Foreign Policy and the Dilemma of Dependence Franklin B. Weinstein, 2007 How can an underdeveloped country like Indonesia draw on outside resources for its national development without sacrificing its independence Approaching the problem from the vantage point of the Indonesian elite this important work explores the complex interactions between domestic political factors and the shaping of foreign policy To illustrate the ways in which underdevelopment has affected Indonesia's international participation Professor Weinstein presents a graphic picture of what Indonesia's leaders see when they view the outside world and he systematically seeks out the sources of their perceptions He shows that most of the elite see the international system as dominated by exploitative powers that cannot be relied on to assist Indonesia's development He examines the relationship between perceptions and politics under both Sukarno and Soeharto and offers an illuminating comparison of the bases of foreign policy under each leader revealing dramatic changes and surprising continuities His cogent analysis helps to explain the sharp reversal of policy in 1966 and his conclusions form a convincing hypothesis that can be tested in other Third World countries This book now brought back to life as a member of Equinox Publishing's Classic Indonesia series will attract specialists in Southeast Asia as well as readers with a broader interest in the politics and economics of underdeveloped countries FRANKLIN B WEINSTEIN was Director of the Project on United States Japan Relations at Stanford University where he also taught in the Department of Political Science A graduate of Yale University he received his PhD from Cornell University The Security Dilemmas of Southeast Asia A. Walker, Glenn Banks, Minako Sakai, 2009-01-01 The Politics of the Periphery in Indonesia is a thought provoking examination of local politics and the dynamics of power at Indonesia's geographic and

Kramer, 2022-06-15 In The Candidate's Dilemma Elisabeth Kramer tells the story of how three political candidates in Indonesia made decisions to resist engage in or otherwise incorporate money politics into their electioneering strategies over the course of their campaigns As they campaign candidates encounter pressure from the institutional rules that guide elections political parties and voters and must also negotiate complex social relationships to remain competitive For anticorruption candidates this context presents additional challenges for building and maintaining their identities Some of these candidates establish their campaign parameters early and are able to stay their course For others the campaign trail results in an avalanche of compromises each one eating away at their sense of what constitutes moral and acceptable behavior The Candidate's Dilemma delves into the lived experiences of candidates to offer a nuanced study of how the political and personal intersect when it comes to money politics anticorruptionism and electoral campaigning in Indonesia

Contesting Indonesia Kirsten E. Schulze, 2024-10-15 Contesting Indonesia explains Islamist separatist and communal violence across Indonesian history since 1945 In a sweeping argument that connects endemic violence to a national narrative Kirsten E Schulze finds that the outbreak of violence is related to competing local notions of the national imaginary as well as contentious belonging Through detailed examination of six case studies the Darul Islam rebellions Jemaah Islamiyah s jihad and the conflicts in East Timor Aceh Poso and Ambon Schulze argues that violence was more likely to occur in places that are on the geographic ideological ethnic and religious periphery of the Indonesian state that violence by non state actors was most protracted in locations where there was a well established alternative national imaginary supported by an alternative historical narrative and that violence by the state was most likely in places where the state had a significant territorial interest Drawing on a vast collection of interviews and archival and published sources Contesting Indonesia provides a new understanding of the history of violence across the Indonesian archipelago

Autonomy and Armed Separatism in South and Southeast Asia Michelle Ann Miller, 2012 Armed separatist insurgencies have created a real dilemma for many national governments of how much freedom to grant aggrieved minorities without releasing territorial sovereignty over the nation state This book examines different approaches that have been taken by seven states in South and Southeast Asia to try and resolve this dilemma through various offers of autonomy Providing new insights into the conditions under which autonomy arrangements exacerbate or alleviate the problem of armed separatism this comprehensive book includes in depth analysis of the circumstances that lead men and women to take up arms in an effort to remove themselves from the state s borders by creating their own independent polity

Performing the Nation Jörgen Hellman, 2003 In sharp contrast to today s disorder was the apparent cohesion and stability of Indonesia during much of the New Order period 1965 1998 While Suharto s authoritarian rule was significant the regime s cultural policies also played their part in demonstrating that his regime created order throughout Indonesia not just through coercive means Ethnic religious and regional sentiments were to be channeled into art which was used to help develop a national Indonesian identity This theme is explored by this study which focuses on the efforts of a group of young art students based at the Bandung Academy of Performing Arts to revitalize traditional Longser theater
