The Maps of Canada Norman Leon Nicholson, L. M. Sebert, 1981      Mapping Nature across the Americas Kathleen A. Brosnan, James R. Akerman, 2021-10-19 Maps are inherently unnatural Projecting three dimensional realities onto two dimensional surfaces they are abstractions that capture someone's idea of what matters within a particular place they require selections and omissions These very characteristics however give maps their importance for understanding how humans have interacted with the natural world and give historical maps especially the power to provide rich insights into the relationship between humans and nature over time That is just what is achieved in Mapping Nature across the Americas Illustrated throughout the essays in this book argue for greater analysis of historical maps in the field of environmental history and for greater attention within the field of the history of cartography to the cultural constructions of nature contained within maps This volume thus provides the first in depth and interdisciplinary investigation of the relationship between maps and environmental knowledge in the Americas including for example stories of indigenous cartography in Mexico the allegorical presence of palm trees in maps of Argentina the systemic mapping of US forests and the scientific platting of Canada's remote lands

Mapping with Words Sarah Wylie Krotz, 2019-03-27 Mapping with Words re conceptualizes early Canadian settler writing as literary cartography Examining the multitude of ways in which writers expanded the work of mapmakers it offers fresh readings of both familiar and obscure texts from the nineteenth century

The History of Cartography, Volume 6 Mark Monmonier, 2015-05-18 For more than thirty years the History of Cartography Project has charted the course for scholarship on cartography bringing together research from a variety of disciplines on the creation dissemination and use of maps Volume 6 Cartography in the Twentieth Century continues this tradition with a groundbreaking survey of the century just ended and a new full color encyclopedic format The twentieth century is a pivotal period in map history The transition from paper to digital formats led to previously unimaginable dynamic and interactive maps Geographic information systems radically altered cartographic institutions and reduced the skill required to create maps Satellite positioning and mobile communications revolutionized wayfinding Mapping evolved as an important tool for coping with complexity organizing knowledge and influencing public opinion in all parts of the globe and at all levels of society Volume 6 covers these changes comprehensively while thoroughly demonstrating the far reaching effects of maps on science technology and society and vice versa The lavishly produced volume includes more than five hundred articles accompanied by more than a thousand images Hundreds of expert contributors provide both original research often based on their own participation in the developments they describe and interpretations of larger trends in cartography Designed for use by both scholars and the general public this definitive volume is a reference work of first resort for all who study and love maps

Bulletin - Association of Canadian Map Libraries Association of Canadian Map Libraries, 1997 Western Europe, North America and Australasia Rolf Bohme, 2013-10-22 Topographic mapping plays a basic and important role within the extensive field of cartography In recent years this type of mapping has become somewhat neglected and available literature is normally restricted to details concerning the programmes of individual countries often presented in the form of monographs Topographic maps are essential tools for use in development projects resource exploitation the planning of construction infrastructure and recreation Furthermore they give a detailed illustration of the relative degrees of development of areas within a landscape and are thus unique in demonstrating the cultural status of a country This book is the first of three volumes and provides an introduction to world topographic mapping giving details and examples of topographic maps from Western Europe North America and Australasia The information supplied for each country consists of a text including a brief history of the development of topographic mapping geodetic data map scales and series as well as extracts of maps and index sheets illustrating the present status of map coverage within that country There is currently no other work employing the approach adopted in assembling this inventory This work is a comprehensive and important reference and source book for information in the field of topographic mapping
