Inclusive Environments and Access to Commercial Property Adrian Tagg, 2024-09-03 This book presents and examines the challenges and compromises required to deliver inclusivity in the existing commercial built environment and the socio-economic benefits that could result from successfully delivering it To illuminate the advantages of an inclusive environment to property owners investors and service providers the book covers the history of disability and evolution of the legislation and examines the demographics and types of disability to question the one-size-blanket approach that currently exists to providing access Delving further into the characteristics of the commercial property sectors and individual disability specific requirements experienced commercial building surveyor Adrian Tagg analyses the contradictions in the existing legislation to establish examples of design compromise or reasonable adjustments He seeks to contextualise public and commercial attitudes to disability and go further to demystify the term reasonable adjustment which is used currently as a tool of compromise in providing access The aim is to assess disability specific requirements for access as well as adopt a simplistic approach to developing access solutions to the existing built environment from a consultancy and user perspective Ultimately this publication hopes to promote accessibility and inclusion from the perspective of surveyors investors and landlords working in commercial property It is not just targeted at those on undergraduate or post graduate surveying courses as well as those early career professionals undertaking their APC or post graduate qualifications but also at those owning or delivering goods services and employment from commercial premises who want to make a difference

Solar Energy Houses Anne Grete Hestnes, Robert Hastings, Bjarne Saxhof, Creating Built Environments Roderick Lawrence, 2020-06-14 Built environments are complex emergent systemic and require contextual analysis They should be understood before reconsidering how professionals and researchers of the built environment are educated and trained to reduce the gap between knowledge practice and real world circumstances There is an urgent need to rethink the role of policy makers researchers practitioners and laypeople in the construction renovation and reuse of the built environment in order to deal with numerous environmental ecological economic financial and social ethical challenges of providing a habitat for current and future generations in a world of continual change These challenges are too complex to be dealt with only by one discipline or profession Combinations of different types of knowledge knowing in praxis and tacit knowledge are needed This book presents and illustrates recent innovative contributions with case studies focusing on five strategic domains and the interrelations between them These transdisciplinary contributions apply concepts methods and tools that facilitate convergence and concerted action between participants collaborating in policy definition and project implementation The methods and tools include experiments in living labs prototypes on site and virtual simulations as well as participatory approaches including citizen science the development of alternative scenarios and visioning plausible futures

Houses and Domestic Space in Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Hospitaller Malta George A. Said-Zammit, 2020-12-29 Houses and Domestic Space in Seventeenth and Eighteenth Century Hospitaller Malta is a study concerned with a wide spectrum of early modern dwellings in Malta ranging from palazzi and affluent residences to peasant dwellings troglodyte houses and hovels The multifaceted approach adopted in this book allows houses and domestic networks to be studied not only in terms of architecture and construction materials but also as places of human habitation where house dwellers act react and interact in different contexts and circumstances Dwellings are places that permit different social and economic activities whilst providing shelter and security to the household members Through the available sources the houses of Hospitaller Malta are analysed in terms of their spatial properties and how they generate privacy interaction and communication identity accessibility security visibility movement and encounters and equally important how domestic space relates to gender roles status and class This work therefore seeks to reach a deep and nuanced understanding of domestic space and how it relates to the islands history and the development of their society during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries

Housing, Urban Renewal and Socio-Spatial

Integration Xiaoxi Hui,2013-02-07 This issue of A BE addresses two critical urban issues China faces today housing and urban renewal In the recent two decades the Chinese urban housing stock underwent a significant if not extreme transformation From 1949 to 1998 the urban housing stock in China largely depended on the public sector and a large amount of public housing areas were developed under the socialistic public housing system in Beijing and other Chinese cities Yet in 1998 a radical housing reform stopped this housing system Thus most of the public housing stock was privatized and the urban housing provision was conferred to the market The radical housing privatization and marketization did not really resolve but intensified the housing problem Along with the high speed urbanization the alienated capitalized and speculative housing stock caused a series of social and spatial problems The Chinese government therefore attempted to reestablish the social housing system in 2007 However the unbalanced structure of the Chinese urban housing stock has not been considerably optimized and the housing problem is still one of the most critical challenges in China

Adopting the Song of Term: An Emotional Symphony within The Internal Environment Of Dwellings

In a world used by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of immediate conversation, the melodic splendor and psychological symphony created by the prepared term often fade in to the backdrop, eclipsed by the constant sound and disturbances that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, set within the pages of The Internal Environment Of Dwellings a charming literary value brimming with organic feelings, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by a masterful composer of language, that fascinating masterpiece conducts viewers on a psychological trip, well unraveling the concealed songs and profound affect resonating within each cautiously crafted phrase. Within the depths of this poignant review, we shall examine the book's main harmonies, analyze its enthralling publishing design, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers' souls.
