Fragments Andrew Davis, 2017-08-21 An effort to expand sonata theory more solidly into the nineteenth century repertoire Notes In Sonata Fragments Andrew Davis argues that the Romantic sonata is firmly rooted both formally and expressively in its Classical forebears using Classical conventions in order to convey a broad constellation of Romantic aesthetic values This claim runs contrary to conventional theories of the Romantic sonata that place this nineteenth century musical form squarely outside inherited Classical sonata procedures Building on Sonata Theory Davis examines moments of fracture and fragmentation that disrupt the cohesive and linear temporality in piano sonatas by Chopin Brahms and Schumann These disruptions in the sonata form are a narrative technique that signify temporal shifts during which we move from the outer action to the inner thoughts of a musical agent or we move from the story as it unfolds to a flashback or flash forward Through an interpretation of Romantic sonatas as temporally multi dimensional works in which portions of the music in any given piece can lie inside or outside of what Sonata Theory would define as the sonata space proper Davis reads into these ruptures a narrative of expressive features that mark these sonatas as uniquely Romantic A major achievement Michael L Klein author of Music and the Crises of the Modern Subject The Early Works of Felix Mendelssohn Gregory John

The Beethoven Quartets Joseph Kerman, 1979 A critical study of the structure style and significance of the sixteen string quartets The Concepts of Criticism L. Aschenbrenner, 2012-12-06 This inquiry may be thought of as a sequel to The Concepts of Value and as an extension of the brief core vocabulary of aesthetic concepts found in one of the appendices to it In terms of sheer numbers most of the value concepts of our language are to be found in the area of human relations and of the aesthetic There are also other value vocabularies shorter but equally important for example the cognitive and logical These and other objects of philosophical study for example the question of other minds deserve the kind of empirical survey that has been made of moral and aesthetic notions if only to test a priori approaches to them In the present study an even more determined empirical approach than that adopted for the first has been found necessary Once the moral or human value vocabulary has been identified sentential contexts for the use of the terms readily come to mind In a study of the language of criticism however the vocabulary has first to be sought in the utterances of critics themselves and quoted in sufficient context to make their critical intentions clear The outcome is that the present study is of great length about half of it being quotations from critics The rule adopted for arriving at this length goes on collecting quotations as long as new types of appraisal came was to light
