College at Purchase The Monochrome Society Amitai Etzioni, 2021-02-09 Amitai Etzioni is one of the most influential social and political thinkers of our day a man synonymous with the ideas of communitarianism In this book Etzioni challenges those who argue that diversity or multiculturalism is about to become the governing American creed On the surface America may seem like a fractured mosaic but the country is in reality far more socially monochromatic and united than most observers have claimed In the first chapter Etzioni presents a great deal of evidence that Americans whites and African Americans Hispanics and Asian Americans new immigrants and decedents of the Pilgrims continue to share the same core of basic American values and aspirations He goes on to show that we need not merely a civil but also a good society one that nurtures virtues He assesses key social institutions that can serve such a society ranging from revived holidays to greater reliance on public shaming The most effective sources of bonding and of shared ideas about virtue he insists throughout come from the community not from the state Etzioni also challenges moral relativists who argue that we have no right to impose our moral values on other societies He responds to those who fear that a cohesive community must also be one that is oppressive authoritarian and exclusive And he explores and assesses possible new sources and definitions of community including computer mediated communities and stakeholding in corporations By turns provocative and reassuring the chapters here cut to the heart of several of our most pressing social and political issues The book is further evidence of Etzioni s enduring place in contemporary thought My Brother's Keeper Amitai Etzioni, 2003-04-16 In this engaging volume Dr Etzioni reflects on his communitarian vision of a society whose members care profoundly about one another assume responsibilities and do not just demand rights and attend not merely to themselves but also to the common good

Whose Ideas Matter? Amitav Acharya, 2011-07-22 Asia is a crucial battleground for power and influence in the international system It is also a theater of new experiments in regional cooperation that could redefine global order Whose Ideas Matter is the first book to explore the diffusion of ideas and norms in the international system from the perspective of local actors with Asian regional institutions as its main focus. There is no Asian equivalent of the EU or of NATO. Why has Asia and in particular Southeast Asia avoided such multilateral institutions? Most accounts focus on U.S. interests and perceptions or intraregional rivalries to explain the design and effectiveness of regional institutions in Asia such as SEATO, ASEAN, and the ASEAN Regional Forum. Amitav Acharya instead foregrounds the ideas of Asian policymakers including their response to the global norms of sovereignty and nonintervention. Asian regional institutions are shaped by contestations and compromises involving emerging global norms and the preexisting beliefs and practices of local actors. Acharya terms this perspective constitutive localization and argues that international politics is not all about Western ideas and norms forcing their way into non-Western societies while the latter remain passive recipients. Rather, ideas are conditioned and accepted by local agents who shape the diffusion of ideas and norms in the international system. Acharya sketches a normative trajectory of Asian regionalism that constitutes an important contribution to the global sovereignty regime and explains a remarkable continuity in the design and functions of Asian regional institutions.
